

Cossack Raids Across the German Border

KILLED UNDER AUTO ON THE BOULEVARD

Victim of Accident—His Companion in the Hospital—Auto Smashes Buggy on Central St.
—Mr. Motley's Car in Collision

James O'Neill, aged 21, of Peterboro, N. H., was killed in an automobile accident which occurred on the Pawtucket boulevard early this morning. His companion, James Sweeney, 23 years of age and also from Peterboro, escaped with a few bruises and a general shaking up.

The accident occurred at a point where the carriage road and the boulevard meet, opposite the pumping station and it was there the two men were found pinned beneath the car.

Some time later an automobile party bound for Nashua, N. H., found the car with the men under it and quickly lifted the damaged auto. The two men were sent to the Lowell General hospital, but when they arrived there it was found that O'Neill had passed away.

Another automobile accident occurred at the corner of Moody and Allen streets yesterday afternoon when a touring car owned by George S. Motley of the Lowell Gas Light Co. and a Rambler car owned by Henry Achin of 384 Fletcher street, collided. The forward part of Mr. Achin's machine was badly damaged, while the heavy touring car received only a few scratches.

One of the machines was being driven down Moody street while the other was speeding along Allen street toward the bridge. Fortunately no one was injured. Several accidents have occurred at this spot recently.

RUSSIA DOMINATES MILITARY SITUATION

Berlin Admits Russians Beyond River Warthe—Germans are Retreating—The Terror-Stricken Inhabitants of Silesia, Invaded by Russians, Fleeing From Their Homes—Germans Concentrating Around Ypres—Allies Reported Holding Their Own—Berlin Reports Advance

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Russia dominates the military situation today. The speed with which she has cleared the invaders from Russian Poland was totally unexpected and must necessarily have a great effect on the campaigns in the other war theatres.

Already the terror-stricken inhabitants of prosperous Silesia are reported fleeing from their homes, despite the fact that General Von Hindenburg's strong army is between them and the advancing Russians. But something besides the presence of German arms may enable them to remain, for some time in security for a significant message from Petrograd announces that Russia may defer the invasion of Germany until her historic mission toward the Bosphorus is accomplished.

This mission includes the complete subjugation of Austria-Hungary as well as the invasion of Turkey and if this is the plan of the Grand Duke Nicholas, the Russians may be content to hold their present positions along the German border while making an aggressive war toward the south and east.

Persistent reports continue to reach London that the Germans are sending heavy reinforcements to their western lines. News of a contrary nature, to the effect that the Germans are preparing to retreat through Belgium also is rife, but the experts seem to place more credence on the reports of reinforcements and the coming week is looked forward to as one of the most crucial of the war. The Cossack raids continue across the German border and Berlin now admits that the Russians are well beyond the river Warthe. The Russian advance has been made over bad roads at the unprecedented rate of 14 miles daily and the German retreat has now passed Cernostokowa without stopping. The Russian line is well back of the Warthe between Cernostokowa and Kallus. Another Petrograd report states that Cernostokowa is still held as the last German position in Russia but that this is regarded as untenable.

The latest Paris official communication states that the invaders are concentrating their activity about Ypres without as yet achieving any result. The allies are reported as holding their own everywhere on the Aisne, while to the northwest of Soissons they have reached a new position on the Vregny plateau.

An official announcement given out in Berlin declares that advances have been made in the Argonne but that there is nothing new along the remainder of the battlefield. Holland determined to preserve the neutrality of the river Scheldt has announced that the Flushing forts will fire on any vessel not recognized as a mailboat or other regular harbor craft.

Private reports reaching Berlin, Switzerland, from Constantinople, indicate that Turkey has entered the war with an empty treasury. She already has exhausted the German loan and used up the money derived from the tax on imports.

GAMBLERS ARRAIGNED BEFORE JUDGE ENRIGHT

Much Interest Manifested Over Their Appearance in Police Court This Morning—Raid Was Carried Out in Most Effective Manner by State Police

They were a sorry looking lot of gamblers who appeared in police court this morning to answer to the charge of gambling, having been caught in a raid organized by the state police in cooperation with a Dracut officer and effected with many sensational features Saturday night. As some of the state officers were in the game the real gamblers were trapped in such a manner that there was no escape. Those who were known had to acknowledge their identity, but most of the others gave fictitious names, and were so booked at police station.

The report that the gamblers would be tried attracted a large crowd of spectators to police court and there was much speculation when the list was called and the offenders lined up before the court.

Story of the Raid
"Come seven, come eleven" and along came seven or eleven police officers and the game came to a sad and sudden ending. Five members of the state police, and three representatives of the Watch and Ward society, directed by Special Officer Cullinane of Collinsville, descended upon a cottage at Willow Dale late Saturday night, and rudely disturbed 20 occupants thereof who were engaged in a game of dice commonly known as "crap-shooting". The raid was given a dramatic effect by reason of the fact that the officers drew their revolvers and ordered all to "throw up their hands," which it is said all did with alacrity. State Officer Edward J. Sherlock and Agent Joseph E. Johnson of the Watch and Ward society went in advance of the raiding party and gained admittance to the cottage or hangout as players and thus obtained necessary evidence. After Officer Cullinane had stationed men in front and in the rear of the cottage the entrance was made upon the surprised inmates. The "house" had $132 on the board at the time and one of the directors of the game made an attempt to gather this

Crimson Eleven Outclassed Tigers at Stadium — Mahan Kicked Two Goals

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 9.—Harvard completely outplayed the Princeton eleven on the Stadium Saturday and piled up 20 points, while the Tigers failed to register a counter. The Crimson eleven gave a remarkable exhibition and outclassed their opponents in every department of the game.

The gridiron was dry and fast although the heavy turf had been worn away by practice and play until the field along its edges was brown instead of the traditional green.

The crowds were unusually slow in arriving at the stadium. During the final 30 minutes before the kickoff the thousands poured out of the subway, trolley and motor cars and filed into the stadium.

The Harvard squad was first on the field, the backs practicing passing, catching and kicking the ball. The players were soon followed by the Harvard cheering squad, headed by the usual brass band and when the Princeton team and subs jogged into the arena and the rival cheering contingents began their regular inter-change of songs and yells it was evident that the stadium would be filled almost to the capacity.

Both teams were on the field promptly and after some practice both captains met to toss the coin.

A light wind blew up when play was about to start.

Harvard won the toss and elected to defend the west goal.

FIRST PERIOD

Driggs kicked off to Logan on Harvard's 20 yard line. The ball was run back 15 yards. After a rush with slight gain Harvard kicked to Princeton's 30 yard line. Princeton immediately kicked to Harvard's 45 yard line. Harvard retaliated by kicking on the first down to Princeton's 20 yard line. After one rush Princeton kicked and Logan fumbled in the middle of the field. Princeton recovered the ball. On the first rush Driggs was thrown for a loss of a yard. Glyck could not gain through center. Driggs punted to Logan on Harvard's 15 yard line. There was no runback. Bradlee made two yards through center. Mahan kicked to Harvard's 35 yard line. Ames falling on the ball. On the first down the pass was poor and Harvard got the ball on Princeton's 45 yard line. Franke made six yards through center. On the second rush he added another yard. There was a Harvard fumble but Mahan snatched up the ball and ran to the 30 yard line for a first down. Franke could not gain and Logan made one yard. Mahan plunged through two yards. Mahan dropped back to the 30 yard line for a goal from the field. He missed it by two yards. Princeton put the ball in play on the 20 yard line. Driggs punted out of bounds on Princeton's 39 yard line, where it was Harvard's ball. Franke dived through center for four yards. He made a yard more on another plunge through center. Mahan made a first down on Princeton's 20 yard line. Two plunges into the Princeton line by Mahan were followed by a goal from the field by the same player. It was a perfect kick.

On the kickoff Harvard took the ball but fumbled. On the first down Driggs fumbled and the ball went to Harvard. There were two more fumbles and an exchange of kicks. Harvard captured the ball on their 25 yard line. Bradlee made six yards through center. Franke could not gain. Mahan punted to Ames on Princeton's 30 yard line. After exchanging kicks it was Princeton's ball on their own 20 yard line. Driggs kicked to Mahan on Harvard's 40 yard line. He was thrown without gain. On the first down Harvard dashed around right end for 19 yards. This was the longest run through for the game. Mahan shot through for three yards. On a fake, Franke made six yards more. Score end of first period: Harvard 3, Princeton 0.

SECOND PERIOD

The second period started with the ball on Harvard's 33 yard line. Bradlee made three yards. Then Harvard tried a forward pass, which was intercepted. Mahan dropped back but missed a goal from the field from the 38 yard line, the ball being partially blocked. Princeton put the ball in play and kicked to Mahan, who caught it on the 30 yard line, running back to midfield. Bradlee made three yards on the first rush and two on the second through center. Another Harvard forward pass failed. Mahan immediately kicked out of bounds on Princeton's 30 yard line. Driggs kicked to Logan on Harvard's 35 yard line. The ball was run back to the middle of the field. Mahan kicked on the first down to Princeton's 37 yard line. Nobody touched the ball. The players lined up with the ball on the ground. Driggs kicked to Logan on Princeton's 35 yard line where there was a fair catch. Mahan could not gain in a plunge at center. Franke on a delayed pass carried the ball to Princeton's 22 yard line for a first down. Mahan struck the center for a five yard gain. Bradlee carried the ball to Princeton's 14 yard line. Franke made a first down on Princeton's 13 yard line. Franke dived through for two yards. Mahan added another. The ball was on Princeton's ten yard line, nearly in front of the goal posts. Dropping back to the 17 yard line, the red-haired Mahan dropped his second goal from the field with the ease of a Briskley.

SEVERE RHEUMATIC PAINS DISAPPEAR

sweater in his efforts. It was Harvard's ball on Princeton's 33 yard line for a first down. Bradlee rolled over the Princeton line for five yards. Hardwick made a first down on Princeton's 18 yard line. Franke struggled through to the 16 yard line. Bradlee added two more yards. On a fake goal from the field Logan made a first down on Princeton's three yard line. On the first play Franke made a yard. Bradlee carried it to the one yard line for the third down. On the third down Bradlee went through for the first touchdown. Princeton tried to check the play but the big Harvard halfback found a hole. Hardwick kicked an easy goal and Princeton once more lined up for a kickoff. Hardwick caught the ball on Harvard's five yard line and ran it back 15 yards. Hardwick made three yards around right end. Harvard punted out of bounds in the center of the field, where it was Princeton's ball. Princeton tried one of their open formations. It was a forward pass that failed.

Another open formation by Princeton directed a forward pass, which failed. Princeton then tried an on-side kick that Mahan pulled down on Harvard's 30 yard line and ran back six yards.

On the first down Bradlee fumbled twice but recovered and gained two yards. In trying Princeton's right end Mahan lost two yards and then kicked to Tibbet on Princeton's 24 yard line. He was thrown without gain. Driggs kicked to Logan on Harvard's 30 yard line. The ball was run back five yards. Coolidge made seven yards. Franke made a yard through center. Mahan punted to Princeton's ten yard line. Princeton ran the ball back 15 yards where the period ended.

Score end of second period: Harvard, 13; Princeton 0.

Summary of First Half

During the first half of the game Princeton was both outplayed and out-generaled by Harvard. Excepting for a moment when the Tigers recovered a fumble ball in Harvard's territory during the first period they never threatened the Crimson goal line.

Using the advantage of the wind at their back, the Cambridge team went into the lead with a field goal from the toe of Eddie Mahan and, capably added additional points through line plunges and field goal kicking. The Princetonians were completely bewildered by the concealed ball attacks which the Harvard backs repeatedly used at the outset of their charges. The careless handling of the play, which harmoniously opened many holes or boxed ends which permitted the runner a clear field into the secondary defense. The early portion of the half was marred by continual fumbling in which both teams were equally guilty of careless handling of the play.

Harvard pursued tactics somewhat similar to those of last year of attempting field goals when within striking distance of Princeton's line yet the team showed it had a scoring punch once it had gained a foothold. Harvard immediately taking the chances of holding the ball for play on the fourth down.

Both Franke and Mahan outplayed Driggs but this advantage was nullified by the speed with which the Princeton center came down on the line under kicks. The tackling was hard by both sides but that of the Harvard players cleaner than that of the Tigers.

During the 30 minutes of play Harvard made nine first downs to Princeton's none; punted nine times to Princeton's 12; tried four field goals, of which two scored, to Princeton's none; made two forward passes, both of which were grounded, to Princeton's two, with similar results. Neither team was penalized.

THIRD PERIOD

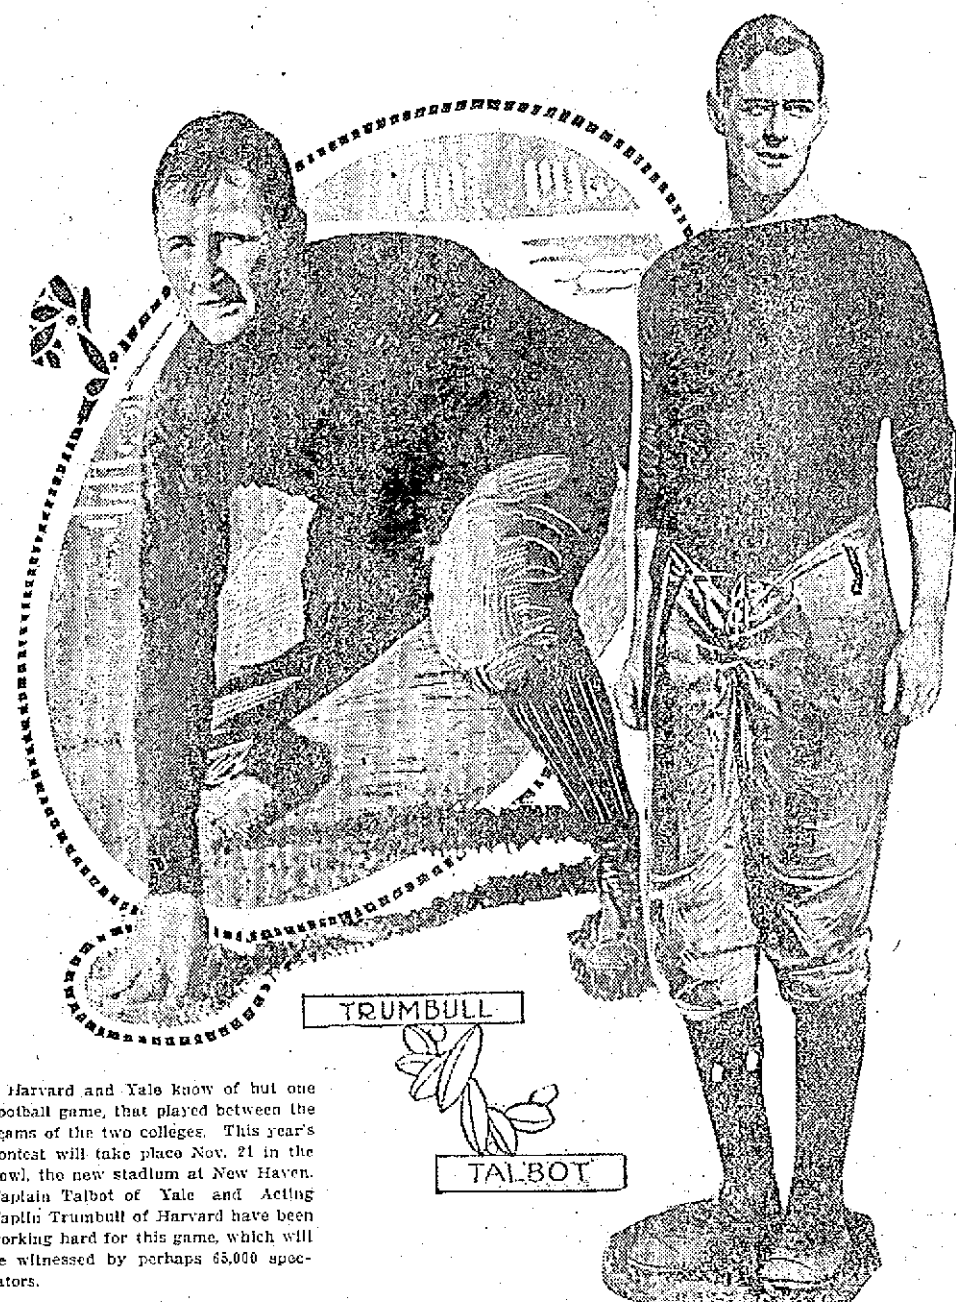

At the opening of the third period, Law went in for Driggs and E. Trenkman for Glyck. It was Harvard's kick-off. Smith took Harvard's place at Harvard's right end. Mahan kicked off to Law on Princeton's 40 yard line. Law ran it back 25 yards. Law punted on the first down to Logan, who muffed and it was Princeton's ball on Harvard's 36 yard line. Tibbet failed to gain around left end. Franke made four yards through center. On a lateral pass, Ames to Law, there was no gain. Law tried a goal from the field from the 40 yard line. The ball fell short. Logan caught it and ran it back to the 30 yard line. Mahan made three yards through center. He then kicked to Tibbet. Princeton's 33 yard line but Princeton recovered the ball. Law immediately kicked to Mahan on Harvard's 20 yard line. The ball was run back nine yards. Smith could not gain. Mahan immediately punted to Princeton's 25 yard line where it was Princeton's ball. Ames kicked to Tibbet on Princeton's 37 yard line. Nobody touched the ball. The players lined up with the ball on the ground. Driggs kicked to Logan on Princeton's 35 yard line where there was a fair catch. Mahan could not gain in a plunge at center. Franke on a delayed pass carried the ball to Princeton's 22 yard line for a first down. Mahan struck the center for a five yard gain. Bradlee carried the ball to Princeton's 14 yard line. Dropping back to the 17 yard line, the red-haired Mahan dropped his second goal from the field with the ease of a Briskley.

Driggs kicked off to Franke on Harvard's 10 yard line. The ball was run back to the 29 yard line. On the first down Harvard skirted Princeton's right end for 15 yards. Franke could not gain through center. Bradlee made 12 yards through center. He lost his

FOURTH PERIOD

On a fake attempt for a goal from the field, Bradlee carried the ball to Princeton's three yard line for a first down. Franke gained a scant yard. On the third down Franke carried the ball to within a foot of Princeton's goal line. Hardwick went in for Mahan. On the first rush in the fourth period Hardwick carried the ball over. Hardwick kicked the goal. Score: Harvard 20, Princeton 0. At this point both teams were greatly altered by subs.

Law kicked off to Princeton. The ball was run back 15 yards. On the first rush King, who had replaced Franke, made eight yards. Harvard was offside and lost five yards on Harvard's first penalty of the game. Harvard punted to Princeton's 20 yard line, where Ames fell on the ball. Law immediately kicked and there was no runback.

King made four yards on the first rush but lost two on the second. Hardwick kicked over Princeton's goal line. It was Princeton's ball on their 20 yard line. Driggs replaced Law. Harvard smothered Ames' quarterback run. Driggs kicked to Watson who had replaced Logan. There was a Harvard fumble but it was recovered. Whitney took Harvard's place. King went through to Princeton's 45 yard line for a first down. Whitney squirmed through for five yards but the ball was carried back, as Whitney was crawling.

King made five yards. King added four more. There were so many changes in both lineups that the spectators could not distinguish the Harvard players. Whitney took the ball to the 39 yard line. Here Harvard gained a first down. King made four yards through tackle. King immediately added three more.

In an effort for a long end run Smith was thrown by Ballin for a loss of nine yards. Whitney tried a goal from the field but it was short. Ames caught the ball on the five yard line and rushed it back 20 yards. On the first rush Driggs made four yards. Tibbet then made Princeton's first down on their 35 yard line. It was Princeton's first effort at rushing. Tibbet then ran into his own interference and lost a yard. He then fumbled a pretty forward pass to Ames and Princeton scored another first down in midfield. Tibbet threw a long forward pass which King intercepted on Harvard's 25 yard line.

King made a couple of yards through center and then gathered in three more through the same place. A yard punted through center was followed by a punt to Princeton's 30 yard line.

There was a mixup and the ball was carried back to the 25-yard line. Whitney immediately kicked to Ames on Princeton's 40-yard line. The ball was run back four yards.

On a fake formation Ames made eight yards. Ames threw a forward pass which Tibbet muffed. It was claimed the pass was interfered with and it was Princeton's ball in midfield. Ames tried Harvard's end for no gain.

TRIBUTE TO GEN. AMES

NATIONAL TRIBUNE LAUDS HIM AS THE HERO OF FORT FISHER

Major Gen. Adelbert Ames

The men who, after Gen. Terry were to win the greatest glory from the capture of Fort Fisher were Major General Adelbert Ames, commanding the division which made the assault, and the three brigade commanders, N. M. Curtis, Galusha Pennypacker and Louis Bell.

General Adelbert Ames was born at Rockland, Me., and graduated from West Point in 1861, when he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the 2d U. S. Art. He went into the first Bull Run as a first lieutenant and was wounded, receiving the brevet of major for gallant conduct. Ames commanded a battery on the Peninsula campaign, and added so much to his military credit that the governor of Maine selected him for colonel of a new regiment, the 20th Me., which was mustered into service Aug. 29, 1862. With it he took part in the battle of Antietam. At Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville, Col. Ames was on the staff of Gen. Meade, and was promoted to brigadier general of volunteers May 20, 1863. He commanded a brigade of the Eleventh corps at Gettysburg with such distinction that he was brevetted a colonel in the regular army. In August, 1863, Ames was transferred to the department of the south and commanded a division which was brought to Petersburg for the operations of 1864. Later his division became part of the Twenty-fourth corps, and was part of the force sent for the first attack on Fort Fisher. He reluctantly obeyed Butler's order to retire after having advanced close to the fort. Therefore, Ames, with his command, was sent back under Terry to renew the attempt to take the fort. For his part in the victory Gen. Ames was brevetted a brigadier general in the regular army and a major general of volunteers. At the close of the war he became lieutenant colonel of the 24th U. S. and in 1868 was assigned to duty as provisional governor of Mississippi. In 1869 this position was changed by his election to the United States senate, in which he sat for four years and then ran for governor of Mississippi and was elected. He held this office for three years amid constantly thickening troubles. For the southerners were gathering their forces to overthrow "Carpet Bag Rule." Ames resigned his governorship in 1876 and returned to his home in Lowell, Mass., where he has since resided in self-imposed, but exceedingly strict retirement, only coming to the front at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war, when he offered his services and was assigned to duty as a brigadier general of volunteers. Gen. Ames married Blanche, the only daughter of Gen. Butler, who was noted for her beauty.

Recommendation for Many Gen. Terry's report was full of praise for Admiral Perrier, his officers, men, for Gen. Ames, who was constantly at the front under fire, directing his troops with coolness and good judgment. Gen. Curtis and Col. Pennypacker, Bell and Abbott, brigade commanders, had led their men with the utmost gallantry. Curtis and Pennypacker were given medals of honor. Brig. Gen. Palmer was highly praised for his work on the defensive line. Gen. Blackburn was commended for his vigorous pursuit, and Gen. C. B. Comstock of the Engineers had placed Gen. Terry "under the deepest obligations." Gen. Ames praised all his brigade and regimental commanders very highly, giving special praise to Col. J. W. Moore of the 20th Pa., who was killed in assaulting the second traverse. Privates Alric Chanin, James Springs, 142d N. Y.; D. C. Holchies and O. R. Kinsland, 12th N. Y., were commended for gallant work in pushing out toward the rebel line and securing valuable information. Privates James Cadman, William Cane, George Hoyt, S. B. Porteous, D. H. Morgan, Edward Petrie, E. H. Cooper, Silas Baker, George Merrill, William J. McDuff, Z. C. Neahr, and Bruce Anderson, all of the 142d N. Y., were commended for volunteering to go on ahead and cut down the palisading.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plan. common household arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve, and entirely destroy every single grain and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have.

You will find all itching and digging of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be shiny, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft, and look and feel a hundred times better.

British Americans Send Relief to Widows and Orphans of Fallen Soldiers
An enthusiastic meeting of the executive committee of the British-American Social Club was held Saturday evening, with every member of the committee in attendance. Reports of the various sub-committees showed that great success is being met with in soliciting aid for the soldiers and it is planned to hold a concert on Dec. 16. The proceeds will be forwarded to the widows and orphans of British fighters who fell in the present war. Two large cases of clothing were shipped to England Saturday by the day evening, with every member of the committee in attendance. Reports

UNDERSCORED MAP SHOWING PLAINLY WHERE BATTLES RAGE IN FLANDERS

The places underscored in this map are mentioned in the Belgian official statement as points where the Belgians have made advances or where Germans have made attacks in their new drive with heavy re-enforcements for the French channel ports. The Germans are apparently endeavoring to break through the allies' lines both to the north and south of Ypres. To the north they made attacks in the direction of the Bixchoote bridge. They failed in this attempt and were forced to evacuate the village of Bixchoote. To the south they continued the attack with great violence between Hollebeke and Messines. The allies managed to hold their positions at these points and progressed toward Hollebeke and Wytschete. The Belgians advanced detachments, which progressed as far as Lambaertzyde toward the Yser, between St. George Capelle and Tervate. They could advance only with difficulty, owing to the poor roads in the inundated country. The Germans still occupy St. George Capelle and farms located on the left bank of the Yser in that neighborhood. Stuyvekenskerke has been reconquered by marines.

RICH AND POOR ALIKE

STAND IN FOOD LINE IN BRUSSELS—AMERICAN COMMISSION PUTTING OUT SUPPLIES

LONDON, Nov. 8.—Provisions sent to Brussels by the American commission for the relief of Belgium already are supplying 10,000 meals daily in Brussels and plans are now complete for extending on a similar work throughout that part of Belgium occupied by the Germans.

Herbert Clark Hoover, chairman of the American commission received the following telegram from Capt. T. P. Lucey, the commission's representative at Rotterdam:

"Langhorne, Wyman and Bell have returned from Brussels, where those people who are able to pay are being charged 5 cents for the meal. The meal costs 15 cents, and Bell says that rich and poor stand in line for these meals as it is the only way they can get food."

"They state that very complete plans have been entered into by the central committee for receiving and distributing supplies throughout all Belgium. The country has been divided into provinces, each province handling its own distribution and being represented by two members on the central committee. A sub-committee in turn will sell food to the communes, which will retail or distribute free to those in need."

Some uneasiness is felt here by Belgians as the result of quotations from the American press to the effect that supplies would be seized by the military authorities. They are afraid that this will stop the shipment of supplies. I have assured them that the supplies would come regardless of these unfounded suppositions.

The commission will have a delegate in each province, who will see that the shipment of food supplies arrives intact, and who must be informed of any infraction by the German troops of the guarantees given by Field Marshal Baron von Der Goltz, military governor of the occupied portion of Belgium. If this delegate, protected by the American flag, learns of any such infraction he will certify it and immediately call attention to it, when the plenipotentiaries of Spain and America will make proper representations to the German authorities.

Joseph Bolegne, Belgian deputy and member of the National town council, and A. Journez, deputy and member of the Liège town council, in a signed statement sent to the commission says: "The German armies since the beginning of the invasion have lived on our soil by requisitioning victuals of all nature. Our production of grain normally is hardly sufficient for a fifth of the consumption. The maritime route being closed for the import of grain, our country would be furnished in a very short time. Solidly for Liège and its environs 1500 bags of grain are necessary a day. At the moment of writing we have hardly grain enough for a few days."

FRUITS IN ENGLAND

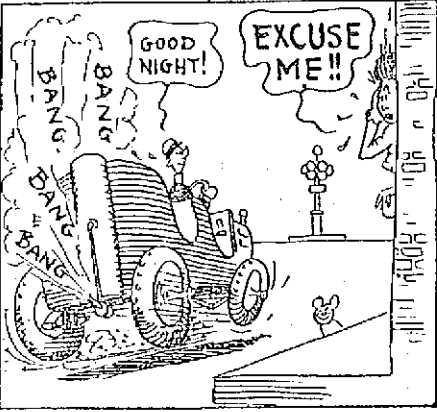

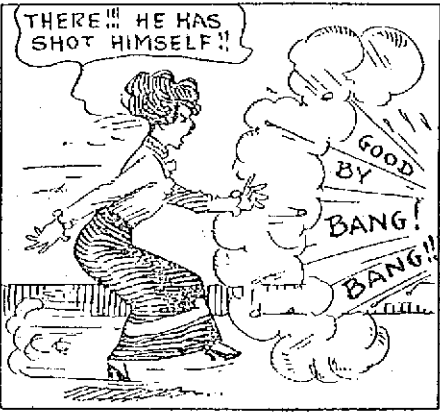

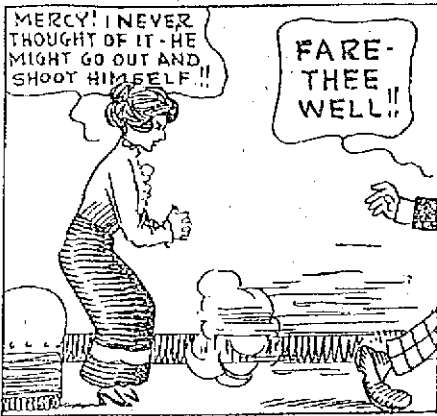

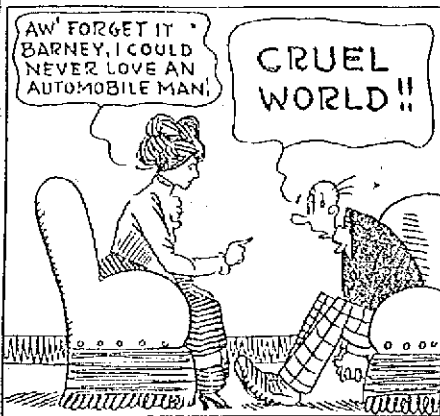

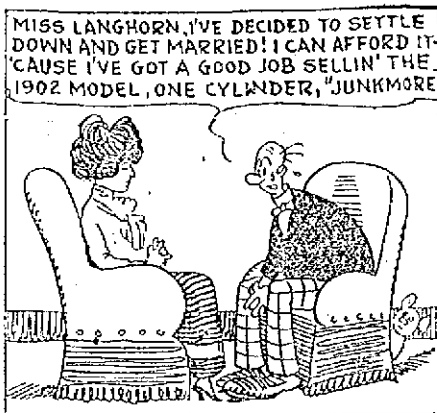

By far the greatest achievement of Cardinal Wolsey was combining strawberries and cream. A world benefactor, his fallings may well be forgotten and forgiven.

How long have Britishers been, at least, partial fruitarians? Apples, pears, gooseberries and plums appear to have been grown in England for a very long time, but cultivated raspberries did not arrive until the sixteenth century.

Rhubarb was introduced from Russia in 1573, but did not become popular until the nineteenth century. It is recorded that a Devonford gardener in 1810 sent a few stalks to the London market, but was unable to find a customer.

Cherries were brought over by the Romans, but ceased to be cultivated until one of Henry VIII's gardeners re-introduced them.

EXCUSE ME

THAT DEFECTIVE CHILDREN BECOME NORMAL AFTER VISITS TO THE DENTIST IS TRUE.

The men who study juvenile delinquency and the causes of crime in general, have recently discovered that bad boys become good as soon as the holes in their teeth are filled. Truant officers and principals of schools assert that defective children become normal after a few visits to the dentist.

These latter statements have been received with incredulity by at least a part of the public and with scoffing from a few editors who ought to know better. But no one who has read the medical journals in the last few months and has seen what the greatest doctors in the world say about the influence of bad teeth upon health, intelligence and morality will scoff or even doubt.

The matter is so simple that any child can understand it. A hole in the tooth is due to decay. The animal matter of which the tooth is composed is decaying. The decaying mass is fertile soil for the breeding of disease germs which with their full grown strength enter the system, attacking it at its weakest point and break down the health. Again persons with bad teeth cannot chew their food properly and it is not therefore properly digested. Malnutrition results, the blood is poisoned by disease germs and the organs cannot work in their usual healthy order. Stagnation or clogging is the result and physical degeneracy soon follows. This soon leads to mental and moral degeneracy.

If your children are backward about learning, get excited easily and become cross, bless them and their future health and happiness with a trip to the dentist. Their little teeth doubtless need attention.

I guarantee not to hurt them and they need not be afraid as the great pain destroyer "Nap-a-Mint" makes all dental operations done in these offices absolutely painless.

FOR CITY MAN FARMER BANGOR WANTS TEAM

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE ADVISES HIM TO TRY IT OUT AS A FARM HAND

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8.—The department of agriculture receives many letters from city people who have read glowing accounts of the wealth that may be made on the farm. A large percentage of these people have already bought farm land. Some of them appear to believe that the reason all farmers are not rich is because of extravagance, wastefulness, ignorance, and a lack of business ability. To these letters the department's specialists reply much as follows:

"As a matter of fact, farmers as a class are intelligent, industrious, and economical, and many of them are men of good business judgment. Furthermore, those who have made a thorough study of the business side of farming know that it is not an easy matter to make money on the farm. Only the most practical and experienced farmers are making any considerable profit out of their business. Most of the money that has been made on the farm in recent years has been made, not by farming, but by the rise of price on farm products. In the nature of things this rise can not continue indefinitely, and some one will own this land when the price becomes practically stationary or perhaps starts to decline."

"While it is true that occasionally a city broker makes good on the farm, this is the exception and not the rule. It is always a risk to invest in a business without first making a thorough study of that business. Many city people who have saved up a few hundred dollars and who have had little or no farm experience, but who are imbued with a very vision of the joys and profits in farming, buy poor land at high prices and thereby lose the savings they have been years in accumulating. One city family paid $10,000 cash and assumed a $25,000 mortgage on a farm worth only about $11,000. Another paid $20,000 cash and signed a mortgage for $5,000 on a farm that was later appraised at $3,000. A city family that had saved $2,000 used this money to make a first payment on cheap farm land, and when their eyes were opened found they still owed considerably more than the farm was worth. For seven years they have worked almost night and day to meet the interest, without being able to reduce the principal. These instances could be multiplied almost indefinitely."

"In purchasing a farm great care should be taken to get a good farm at a fair price. To pay or agree to pay more than the farm is worth is to invite failure. From a business standpoint no farm that does not pay interest on the total investment, depreciation on equipment, and wages for all labor performed on that farm is successful."

"Even when great care is taken in making the investment only in exceptional cases should the city man find fault with the farm. Generally the best advice that can be given to the city bred man who desires to become a farmer is that before purchasing a farm he work as a farm hand for two or three years. This will give him an opportunity to learn at first hand many things about the business, as well as the practical side of farming. In no other way, as a rule, can he get good farm training and experience at less trouble and expense or without danger from financial disaster."

MAINE CITY HOPES TO BE IN NEW ENGLAND LEAGUE NEXT YEAR—SAYS HAVERTHILL IS A DEMON

"I heard directly from a Bangor newspaperman the other day that in his opinion Bangor would not be ready for New England baseball this year, although he thought that it might a year later."

Whoever the newspaper man may be—and it was nobody on the News—he may be credited with an absurd statement. If ever there was a city just about crazy for some real baseball and ready to support it to the very limit, that city is Bangor, Maine. We probably won't get it, to be sure, because the magnates of the New England league have a sublime faculty for picking lemons. Apparently they would rather have the league starve in Haverhill or Pittsfield than grow fat and prosper in Bangor and St. John.

Mr. Owen then comments upon the fact that St. John may be admitted to the league very sensibly.

"It seems to me that if St. John is taken in, Bangor surely ought to be for that would cut the distance in two. But a clean jump from Portland to New Brunswick is pretty nearly big league traveling. If Bangor is not available as my informant from that city has stated, the most available city it seems to be is Woonsocket which with its Sunday baseball and nearness to Worcester ought to be a pretty good proposition."

Mr. Owen, his "informant" to the contrary may set his mind to rest about Bangor being "available." It could and would support a team in splendid style—no question whatever about that.—Bangor News.

COTTON FUTURES ACT
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8.—The secretary of the treasury and secretary of agriculture announce that beginning at 11 a. m. Thursday, Nov. 12, 1914, public hearings will be held in room 18 of the New National Museum building in the city of Washington on the rules and regulations to be promulgated by their respective departments in accordance with the terms of the United States cotton futures act.

Tentative drafts of the regulations of both secretaries have been printed and will be widely distributed prior to the hearings. As these regulations become a part of the law, the departments desire to give every opportunity to all interested parties to discuss them fully before they are promulgated, that no unnecessary machinery may be created or needless limitations imposed upon the trade. The secretaries also wish to learn the opinion of the trade as to the best methods of enforcing the act.

While the act does not come into force until Feb. 15th and the cotton exchanges may make any form of contracting change in the interim, the secretaries desire to set at rest, as promptly as possible, all questions as to the method of procedure after that date.

The official cotton standards to be promulgated by the secretary of agriculture will hereafter form the basis of future trading, and a set of the proposed standards will be exhibited at the hearings.

Cotton producers and representatives of their organizations, cotton merchants and factors, the officers and members of cotton exchanges and representatives of spot markets, bankers, spinners, and all others interested in the cotton industry are invited to be present and participate in these hearings. Opportunity to speak will be afforded to as many as possible, and written suggestions, criticisms or questions from those who are unable to attend will be welcomed and carefully considered.

The correspondence received by the secretary of agriculture indicates that there is widespread misapprehension as to the exact extent of his powers and duties under this act, and it is especially desired that these hearings clear up as many of these points as possible so that there may be a minimum of misunderstanding or friction when the act and regulations actually go into effect.

THREE COUSINS ARRESTED

Antonio, Biglo and Loretto Antonillo Become Involved in Dispute With a Crowd in Newton

NEWTON, Nov. 8.—Three men became involved in a dispute with a crowd of their fellow countrymen in Newton last night, and before it ended fists, knives and clubs were used by several hundred excited persons. A hurry call for the police brought the three men, Antonio, Biglo and Loretto Antonillo, who are cousins and live together at 103 Gardner street.

Antonio Antonillo, according to the police, pulled a knife when approached by Officer Goode. The latter produced a revolver and his man surrendered. He was charged with assault with a dangerous weapon and was released in $200 bail. The other two, charged with assault and battery, were bailed in $50 each.

All three bore marks of the fracas. Antonio Antonillo was slashed across the nose, Loretto had a cut on the back of his head and Biglo was badly shaken up by a kick in the side. The three men were walking along Adams street and met the other group at the corner of Middle street.

The police will summon Mrs. Roundtree into court on this charge.

The police also found a "trap" supposed to be used for storing liquors. Heretofore they have been unable to find any hiding place, although they felt sure one existed. The hiding place found was near a fireplace and large enough to hold a supply that would last for a long time.

NEWBURYPORT, Nov. 8.—Saturday evening the police raided the home of William Roundtree on Pike street and say they secured evidence on which to base a liquor charge. The police also found a "trap" supposed to be used for storing liquors. Heretofore they have been unable to find any hiding place, although they felt sure one existed. The hiding place found was near a fireplace and large enough to hold a supply that would last for a long time.

FATE OF BRITISH CRUISER MONMOUTH IN DOUBT AFTER FIGHT OFF CHILEAN COAST

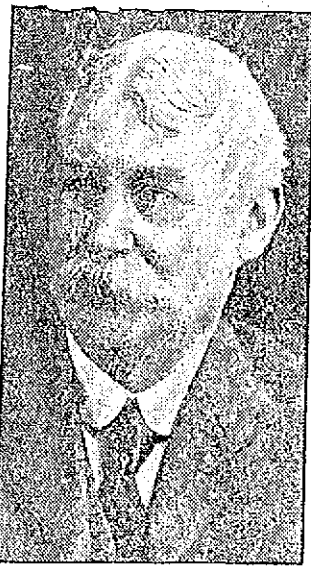

BRITISH CRUISER MONMOUTH

With the sinking of the English cruiser Good Hope, with Rear Admiral Craddock and 900 men, admitted by the British admiralty, England feared also for the safety of the cruiser Monmouth. This warship was in the same fight with Germans off the Chilean coast, and her fate is in doubt. Whether she was also sunk in the engagement or managed to reach shore and was beached is unknown. The Monmouth is a sister ship of the Essex and Berwick, both of which cruisers are supposed to be patrolling the Atlantic coast. The admiralty report says: "Early in the action both the Good Hope and Monmouth took fire, but fought until dark, when a serious explosion occurred on the Good Hope and she foundered. The Monmouth hauled off at dark, making water badly, and appeared unable to steam away. She was accompanied by the Glasgow, which had meanwhile during the whole action fought the Leipzig and the Dresden. On the enemy again approaching the wounded Monmouth, the Glasgow, which also was under fire from one of the armored cruisers, drew off. The enemy then attacked the Monmouth again, but with what result is not known. The Glasgow is not extensively damaged and has very few casualties."

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—The 34th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor was opened here today to continue for two weeks. The city of Philadelphia appropriated $5,000 to assist in defraying the expenses of the convention and entertaining the delegates.

Jurisdictional fights which have featured some of the past conventions of the federation are likely to take up some of the time of the present gathering. The status of American employees in the Panama canal zone will also be discussed. The most important and controversial of the delegates is that in the United Garment Workers of America. One set of delegates applying to be seated is headed by the old general officers of the union and the other by a new set of officers elected at a convention held in Nashville last month.

NARROWLY ESCAPED DEATH

ROCKLAND, Me., Nov. 9.—Capt. Ansel Philbrook and a seaman aboard the granite-laden barge No. 63, narrowly escaped death in the heavy sea in the outer harbor yesterday when the barge in tow of the tug, Pallas, foundered. The two men were rescued just before the barge went down.

RIVERS AND HARBORS CONGRESS

WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Senator Randall today announced that he had called on the date for the annual meeting of the national rivers and harbors congress in Washington. President Wilson has been invited to make the opening address.

up, but was confronted by the muzzle of a business-like looking automatic revolver, whereupon he decided to throw his hands heavenward and let the money remain untouched. In addition to the money the officers gathered in 240 chips, two packs of cards and 23 dice. At the time of the raid the dice game was the only one in progress and the entire party was gathered about the dice table.

The players when the police first entered attempted to make their escape through the front door and as they outnumbered the raiding party felt that they might make a getaway, but they reckoned without the automatic revolvers and not one man escaped. Two automobiles were required to take the party to Lowell and these made three trips each. The men when booked gave their names as follows:

James Moran and Henry P. Doherty, charged with keeping and maintaining a gambling resort; Joseph Murphy, Alfred McShay, Joseph McCann, George Roy, Henry Whitaker, John Gilman, Darby Maloney, Joseph Leigh, William Potter, John R. Vardon, Edward Farley, George Galley, Richard Burke, Arthur McDonald, Edward H. Hill, John Dwyer and William Thompson.

All were hailed by Andrew F. Rosch and the bail commissioners did a land office business for a few minutes.

The state police officers in the raid were Fred Flynn, E. J. Sherlock, Michael J. Barrett and Edward Harrigan. The Watch and Ward society representatives were Jefferson H. Martin, assistant superintendent, Art. Joseph E. Johnson and Agent William Caval. State Officer Silas Smith who is assigned to this county was not in the arresting party and presumably was not requested to assist. The raid, it is said, was made without the knowledge of Chairman Fred Polard of the draught board of selectmen who has charge of the police work of the town.

HELVIDERE SOCIAL CLUB WILL HOLD DEDICATION TOMORROW EVENING

The Helvidere Social club held its first business meeting at its rooms in the Les Miracles building in East Merrimack street, with a large attendance of members. The club's new furniture had arrived and the quarters had a most cozy appearance.

President Peter D. McMenimen occupied the chair and William J. Dalton performed the secretarial duties. Thomas J. Beane is treasurer of the club. There was a discussion as to changing the name of the club by reason of the fact that there is another organization known as the Helvidere club. For the good of the order there were remarks by President McMenimen, John J. Dalton, John Y. Payne, James J. Spillane, Daniel Quinn, John Lacan, Philip Smith, Timothy J. Riley and others and the musical program consisted of songs by Mr. Dalton and William Merrill and recitation by Messrs. Beane and Payne. It was decided to formally open the club with a social tomorrow evening and John J. Dalton was appointed an entertainment committee of one.

STATE ELECTION RETURNS

SHOW THAT PROHIBITION, SOCIALIST-LABOR AND SOCIALIST FALL SHORT

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—Unofficial state election returns from more than four-fifths of the cities and towns of Massachusetts, tabulated last night, showed that the three minor parties—prohibition, socialist-labor and socialist—fell short of polling votes enough to give them standing as political parties.

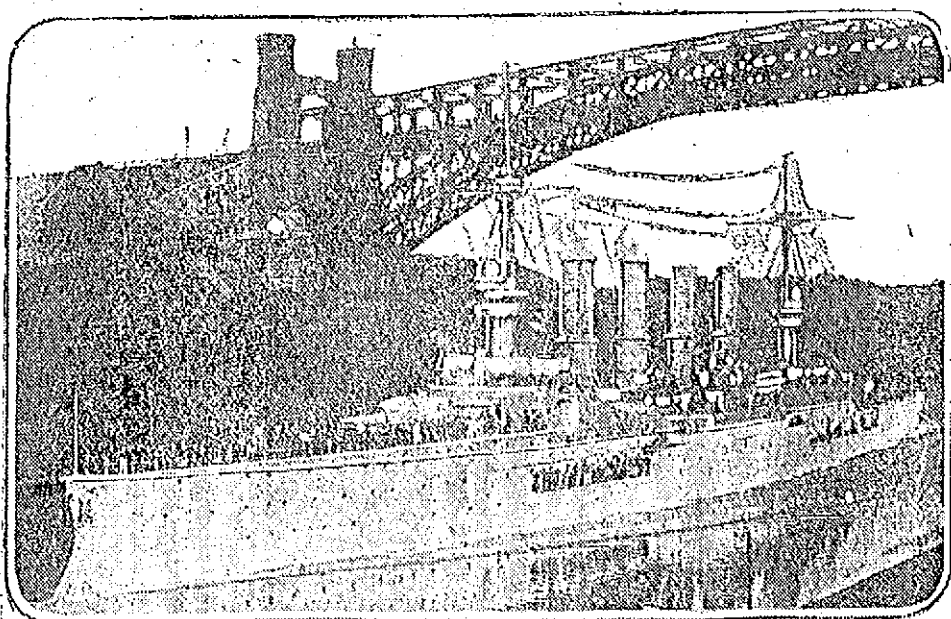

The prohibition party made the best comparative showing, increasing the vote for its gubernatorial candidate, Alfred H. Evans, by more than 2,000 over last year, when the vote for governor was 2015.

The socialist candidate for governor, Samuel C. Roberts, has received 7470 votes from cities and towns, already reported, as against a total of 5025 votes for the socialist candidates for governor last year.

The socialist-labor candidate, Arthur E. Reineck, received 1637 votes this year, according to present returns, as against a total of 1932 last year.

GERMAN CRUISER SCHARNHORST LED ATTACK ON BRITISH WARSHIPS OFF COAST OF CHILE

GERMAN CRUISER SCHARNHORST

The German armored cruiser Scharnhorst was one of the principal warships that took part in the first real naval engagement of the war off the Chilean coast. Its sweeping and accurate fire materially aided in the sinking of the English cruiser Good Hope and in the disabling of the Monmouth. The Scharnhorst is shown here in the Kiel canal. It was reported that she, with the other three German ships, Gneisenau, Leipzig and Dresden, had been captured by Japanese warships while coming after the battle.

LADY LOOKABOUT

I have just heard this true story from a young lady who owns an automobile and is her own chauffeur. She was returning from a call in a suburban town just at dusk, when "Bang" came the machine started to one side of the road. No, she was not mistaken for a deer and shot—she then thought it was a blow-out in the right front tire. She repaired to the nearest garage and called the town garage to fix up the tire so she could not leave. It was the first time she had ever gone out without a fifth tire. It was a cold evening and the farmers were asked her to sit by the blazing fire place until the job was finished. The repair man came in his machine. The young lady explained her trouble to him and, having asked him to send his man when he was ready to leave, went back to the house. She sat where she could see the worker. After a long time, when darkness had fallen, she saw the other automobile turn about and go back to the garage leaving her machine lighted for the trip home. She went out to her hospitable hostess and went out to her machine. She climbed it, jumped in, and through the nearest into "home" started. The machine gave a violent lurch and she fell to a sound was going all right. Three autos, which in the middle of the road, passed it. Just at that time, and it was not until the last one had passed, and the young lady could give her undivided attention to the driver. Immediately she decided that the same tire had gone bad again, and it began to look queer for some reason.

Every known fur is used as trimming. Not alone do we have all the familiar serge, suit and deep girdles suggestive of the Empire style, so that in style as well as in material, it is pre-eminently a season of variety. Undoubtedly the tendency is toward smartness. One of the models shown here shows plaited panels at the sides and that feature is both new and graceful. Another shows a tunic with plaited sides and both these models emphasize the tendency. With the tunics, short coats are correct. With plain skirts, long coats that give a tunic effect will be worn. One of the coats shown here includes the new feature of an extra back that gives a cape effect and the same cape idea reappears in the gown at the extreme right. This latter is made with a Velvet and all the imitations of velvet, both the cotton velveteen and the wool velours, are exceedingly fashionable. Braid is being extensively used and there are new woods with a satin finish. Every known fur is used as trimming. Not alone do we have all the familiar serge, suit and deep girdles suggestive of the Empire style, so that in style as well as in material, it is pre-eminently a season of variety. Undoubtedly the tendency is toward smartness. One of the models shown here shows plaited panels at the sides and that feature is both new and graceful. Another shows a tunic with plaited sides and both these models emphasize the tendency. With the tunics, short coats are correct. With plain skirts, long coats that give a tunic effect will be worn. Two More States For Suffrage

The national election places two more states on the list of those enjoying full suffrage for women. The eleven states which have granted the privilege of the ballot to their women are Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, Oregon, Colorado, Arizona, California, Washington, Kansas, Montana, and Nevada. To be sure, partial suffrage is granted to women in twelve other states, one of which is Massachusetts. In these states women are permitted to vote on questions of minor importance—questions presumably fitted to their enlightenment. Here in Massachusetts, man, has decreed that his womankind has just sufficient intelligence to ballot for school committee. Evidently they are of the opinion that it does not require much discernment to vote on this question. I regret that the question of female suffrage did not call for an expression of opinion from the women of the city. It must be that men do the marketing for their families, and so the women, poor things, do not know anything about markets. Personally, I know of at least one exception to this condition. Now follow me closely, for I am about to make a deduction worthy of Othello the Moor—almost. With the exception of the one instance, above quoted, ours is an ignorant vote-giving community. By the influence of men this ignorant vote is given an outlet, a means of expressing itself, by balloting for school committee. Therefore, the natural deduction is that the members of the school board are elected largely by an ignorant electorate. If that seems somewhat startling, that that explains much. I scorn the inference.

Gentlemen of the school board, are you going to stand for this? Now here is the remedy: Rise up, boys, strong, and refuse to be the only issue on which women vote, or else insist that they be given the right to vote on whether intemperate brewers shall be sold, or whether we shall have a public market and other like weighty questions, apparently of such moment that beside them the personnel of the school board pales into insignificance.

Football
Basketball may be the national game, but football certainly has its followers. (No joke intended.)
One dark evening a short time ago, passing the old fair grounds, I observed an "all sides" a sharp, sudden cry of "It's a goal!" a hurly and a rush of feet, then cries of "Goal!" "Goal!" "Off my face!" "Get off yourself!" "Jeez, will you?" and a heap of humanity hurled itself into the street. "Time" was called. Half an hour later, the members of the football team, tangled themselves and began a search for the ball. I passed on, but I hadn't gone far when again I heard those mystic words, "Goal!" and the crowd shook as the players in the darkness disappeared in the direction of the railroad tracks.

LADY LOOKABOUT.
Three little kitchen hints which I thought very good were given me by Cook today. She says to sharpen scissors take a bottle and cut with the scissors as if you had to cut the neck off the bottle. This is effective. To sharpen a meat grinder that has become dull, grind a piece of scouring brick through the chopper; this also polishes it. To remove labels from bottles, wet the label with water and hold it over a flame for a second or two. The steam quickly penetrates the label and softens the gum or paste.

Cook has consented to my giving you her favorite recipe for whole wheat bread which is always delicious. Select whole wheat flour, she says, free from outside bran. Pour one pint of boiling water into pint of rich milk. When lukewarm add one compressed yeast cake dissolved in two table-spoons of tepid water and one tea-spoonful of salt. Mix and stir in enough whole wheat flour to form a batter that will drop from the spoon. Beat the batter well, cover and stand in a warm place (75 Faint) for three hours. Then stir in more flour, enough to make a soft dough. Knead lightly until the greater part of the stickiness is lost. This variety of bread cannot be made dry like the ordinary white bread, so much he handled quickly and lightly on the board.

Melt into lumps, place in well-greased pans, cover and set aside in a warm place for one hour. Bake in a moderately hot oven 35 or 40 minutes.

Cook has tried grinding her tea-leaves like coffee and declares that the result is excellent, only about half the usual quantity being used. Of course, the tea strainer must be as fine as can be bought.

If a lump of sugar is put into the teapot when making tea it will prevent its spoiling the table cover if spilled. To keep the teapot sweet and clean, wipe it out dry after using and put a lump of loaf sugar inside, leaving the lid open.

If tea should boil by being put too near the fire while infusing, the bitter taste can be removed by a small quantity of cold water be put into the pot.

Cook says when using dripping for making a cake add a few drops of essence of lemon or the juice of a lemon and it will be found that this will not only remove the fatty flavor which cakes so often have when made with dripping, especially mutton, but will very greatly improve the flavor.

To clarify nut sweeten drippings which have become dark, melt them in the frying pan, adding a half-cup of milk. When carefully poured off the fat will be clear and clean, the milk causing all the impurities to fall to the bottom of the pan.

When using dripping instead of butter for making cakes it should be clarified. All the ingredients, such as raisins or currants, should be mixed with a little dry flour (taken from the quantity allotted to the cake) before being added to the eggs, flour, etc.

Cook says carelessness in putting the batter in the baking pan is responsible many times for poor cake. Care must be taken that the corners are filled and that the batter does not lie thicker in the middle of the pan. A list or bulge in the center of a baked cake is often the result of such precaution. Smooth the batter lightly with a spoon.

It is very necessary to have special baking pans for different varieties of cakes, such as the angel food pans shown by dealers. The moment the batter has been spread the cake should be put into the oven, as it will lose its lightness if allowed to stand. Some of the most delicious cakes are ruined while turning them from the pan. If the pan containing the cake is set on a cloth wrung out of warm water and left for a few minutes the cakes will turn out without any trouble.

Cook is a crank on good eggs. When boiled and unboiled eggs get mixed, she says, spin them, and the boiled ones will spin around quite fast, while those which have not been cooked will hardly spin round once.

In cooking a fresh egg give it at least half a minute longer to boil than one which has been laid for several days. To boil an egg for an invalid let it stand in a quart of steaming water in a covered dish away from the fire for eight minutes.

A larger number of eggs require more water and should stand in the water a minute or two longer. Drain off the water and put the eggs in a bowl.

FOR WOMAN AND HOME

SOCIAL GOSSIP
GLEANED FROM THE LATEST MODELS

Extremes are passe. It is no longer smart to wear exaggeratedly narrow skirts, to slit the skirt or to do any of those things that were brought into vogue a season or two ago. This autumn and winter are to see really beautiful costumes taking graceful, becoming lines and made of fabrics that are a delight in texture as well as in color.

Undoubtedly the basque makes the most important departure in indoor garments while the redingote and the cape are the distinctly new offerings for street wear but, as a matter of course, there will be variations without number and the practical suit with its coat of convenient length will take an important place.

It has been said that every fashionable skirt shows plaits or tucks or flounces and, to some extent, the statement is true. Almost every variation of the long tunic is seen and, with the basques, flounced and plaited skirts seem the real requirements. For the comfort of womanhood it is said that thus far there is no indication of the basques being tight-fitted or of compressing the figure at the waistline. The garment retains the semi-fitted idea and the straight line that have become so generally well liked, but of necessity there are close-fitted plain styles.

We have had open necks to the point of exaggeration. As might have been foretold, there has been reaction in that direction as well as in others, and while thus far there is no indication of the "choker" effect, variations of this idea of the high collar at the back with the more or less open front mark a great many of the newest and most interesting models designed for street wear. Within doors, we are likely to retain the comfort of the V-shaped openings which we have grown so attached to. Almost every fashion of the season may in a sense, be said to be a revival, for unquestionably designers are looking backward, but since revivals are never replicas, they are practically new and are undoubtedly replete with interest. The redingote is extremely graceful and becoming and the cape can be worn with consummate charm. The tunic has an unquestioned dignity. Altogether the general tendencies are admirable.

When we come to consider materials, we are met with such an array of beauty that it is a little difficult to know where to begin. The color should begin. Color is rich and handsome without being bizarre, blues, browns and conservative colors being favorites. Gabardine and serge are to retain all their favor for useful suits but there are new ones. There are stripes in wool velours, some in the same, some in contrasting colors that have all the qualities of real novelty and that are extremely beautiful when used with discretion. They combine perfectly with plain materials and some of the color effects are rich and handsome beyond dispute. Wool velours and dowlave have been made in lighter weights, too, and there are wonderful mixtures of colors that give quite the effect of brocade. Velvet is to be a pronounced favorite. It will be used for entire costumes and it will be used in combination with wool and with silk. Silk is to be much used for street costumes and for indoor gowns. For suits, there are wonderful, beautiful moires, bengalines and poplins with some entirely new effects that seem to combine them all, such as crepe moire bengaline, which is just what its name suggests. Taffeta is expected to hold its own for gowns but there will be a great deal of soft satin used and, in addition to charmeuse, there is a new fabric that has all the soft, beautiful quality and, at the same time, a somewhat brighter surface.

Never has lace had greater vogue. We are to wear lace flouncers, lace tunics, lace bodices and lace put to every known use. Chantilly, which is always especially beautiful in flouncers, is in the height of style both in black and in white but we shall see a great many milanes, a great deal of Alencon, and a revival of the Breton laces that are always so pretty and attractive. Flounced skirts with basque bodices make exceedingly smart and exceedingly attractive costumes and one of the notable fancies of the season is found in a skirt of lace flouncing over a satin foundation with a basque of velvet and sash of velvet ribbon covering its lower edge.

It is even rumored that cashmere will be worn again for indoor gowns and every lover of the beautiful will be glad if the rumor is to be verified. Cashmere is a beautiful fabric that takes graceful lines and folds and seems especially adapted to prevailing fashions. If the powers that be utilize it to the extent that seems promised, it will add another to the already long list of desirable materials.

The Polonaise model and the Mogen Age effect both are to be met. A very

In spite of the warm weather that has prevailed recently, the display of

The long tunic is extremely smart but it must flare. Whether it is circular, whether it has plaited panels, or whether it is gathered may be a matter of choice, but one way or another, it must be made to stand away from the figure at the lower edge. Most of the skirts worn beneath are straight and narrow but there is a tendency toward increasing width even there and some of the new models are showing skirts with an inverted plait at each side seam while now and again, one sees a circular flounce, somewhat scantily cut, beneath a flaring tunic. But always there must be the contrast between the tunic and the under skirt to get the smart effect. It is in the place of the flounce and the skirt without flounce that the flare about the feet is found and they unquestionably are gaining in favor but, even while making that statement, one is confronted with a number of new models designed for evening occasions, after-dinner wear and even for the street. They show the fancy skirt with closer effect; consequently, it seems safe to state that we are undergoing a transition stage and a great many styles will be worn.

An interesting, and perhaps somewhat extreme, example of the circular skirt is found in a Drexell model of navy blue serge trimmed with black silk bands and bands of astrakhan fur. The skirt is circular, one falling in ripple about the hips. It is edged with a wide band of astrakhan and there are five rows of broad arranged over it but these bands are so arranged as to leave wide spaces between the lowest and the astrakhan edge and a plain space above. The band is wide and the five bands are broad and over the center. The coat is short, terminating a few inches below the waist line. It supplies very generously over the hips and is finished with a band of the fur. There are long close-fitting sleeves trimmed with fur bands and three rows of broad and there is an astrakhan collar. Just a few months ago, we should have thought the costume extremely old-fashioned but today it represents the very latest cry.

Some of the so-called one-piece dresses are some of them new in the very long tunic style, only an inch or two of the under skirt showing but in the newest forms, they are quite simple gowns of the princess order but loosely cut, falling in straight lines over the waist and hips, with skirts that flare freely about the feet and with sashes arranged at the hip line with a suggestion of the Mogen Age style.

We are drawing from many sources. We see all sorts of combinations. Dressmakers do not hesitate to put the styles of different periods together in a way to make something distinctly their own and, not infrequently, we hear the various periods verily miscegenated. A very wonderful costume, for example, that is made of blue and gold brocade and is richly and elaborately trimmed with jet is exploited under the name of medieval, whereas it is very distinctly Empire in cut and style, and one not infrequently comes in contact with an error of a similar sort which, while not important, are in themselves misleading. For evening wear, no costume ever designed is more beautiful than the Empire and the costume referred to is especially beautiful in fact that it is indeed a pity that it should be miscegenated. The real medieval costume is cut on the simplest possible lines and guided over the hip line. For occasions of elaborate dress, it is often superb in material and richly embroidered while for every day needs it may be made of the simplest serge but essentially the lines are the same.

A beautiful costume exploited at an opening of today consists of a gown of soft creamy Liere lace, the skirt of which is finished with a deep flounce and which is made with long, close-fitting sleeves. Over this gown is a medieval tunic of rose-colored velvet, sleeveless and absolutely plain in cut but embroidered on all its edges with gold thread and held by a gold grille over the hips. The Mogen Age gown as related to every day occasions is often a very simple garment, made in the one-piece style referred to above. One of the prettiest costumes showing a suggestion of the idea combines the characteristic Empire-like bodice with a very full, gathered skirt and clever dressmakers are doing many things of a similar sort. This particular costume is made with a bodice of crystal beaded net while the skirt is of soft shell-pink satin and is banded with velvet ribbon. Historically the skirt and bodice are ages apart but considered as a costume without regard to its suggestion, it is very charming and attractive both in color and design.

THREE MODELS OF SMART FROCKS
FOR GIRLS SHOWING TYPICAL STYLES

Present fashions seem especially designed for the younger contingent. They are especially becoming to girl's figures and they are essentially youthful in effect. Here are three frocks essentially different and each one charming. In two instances, tunics are used, but they are tunics of distinctly different sorts, and the third dress with accordion plaited skirt and full basque is entirely unlike the other two. Any season that provides such variety is an interesting one.

Materials too are wonderfully beautiful. While we are wearing a great deal of silk, we are also wearing a great deal of wool, and wool fabrics are light and pliable. Velvets and satins are extensively used as trimmings. While enough vivid color is used to give picturesque effect to the season, quiet tones such as brown, beige, dark blue, putty color and the like are much in vogue. Some of the new silks are really fascinating in texture. All the poplin weaves are smart, crepes are shown both in dull and in satin finish, and such materials as line serge, gabardine and broadcloth are liked for simple frocks as well as for street costumes.

Coats of the autumn are always a subject of interest. This year perhaps especially so since they are radically new in line and eminently attractive. The costume to the left shows one of the new tunic effects over a plain two-piece skirt. The coat gives the low waist line, suggesting the Mogen Age idea, and can be made just as illustrated or shorter as indicated in the back view.

The girls' coat with the flaring ruffle is a particularly graceful and pretty one and also an eminently simple one since it is made in the Japanese style with sleeves and body in one. The fur cape and fur muff make exceedingly interesting as well as comfortable accessories while each one is easy of construction.

WHAT HORTENSE TOLD ME

Many girls find it rather difficult to make their own egg shampoo but if they will follow directions given below, by Hortense they will find it very simple.

Take the yolk of one egg, hot rain water, one pint, and one ounce of rosemary spirits. Beat the mixture thoroughly and rub it well into the roots of the hair. Rinse in several waters or use a bath sponge which greatly simplifies the work.

It is well to moisten the hair with warm water before the shampoo is applied. This makes the work easier and the egg will not stick to the hair.

When I returned from the mountains I was horribly sun burned and Hortense made a wonderful paste which has removed every trace of it.

Ground barley, three ounces, honey, one ounce, and white of an egg. Apply in mask fashion to cheeks or cotton, or simply spread it on thickly and cover with a piece of old linen.

You will find that this paste will also act as a general beautifier, softening, whitening and freshening the complexion. A few drops of tincture of myrror makes a pleasant mouth wash. Hortense also tells me.

A great many girls complain that their finger nails have no crescents. Hortense says that if fingers have been properly cared for, this failing is beyond understanding.

Very often the prettiness of biting the nails does away with the crescent. That is to say, the crescent stubbornly refuses to make its appearance. Try pushing down the cuticle with an orange stick after rubbing the nails with cold cream.

You will find that rubbing cold cream into the nails every night will greatly benefit them. Use a flesh brush to scrub them every morning. Avoid pumice polishes.

Hortense declares that the new fashions are responsible for the necks being neglected, and for the chronically brown neck one must use regularly the following lotion: Boracic acid, one drachm; distilled witch hazel, two ounces; rose water, two ounces.

Exercise the throat night and morning until it becomes moist with perspiration, rub with a soft cloth dipped in warm water and apply the lotion with antiseptic gauze. After a week of this treatment you will see a marked improvement in the color of your neck.

Hortense gave me two lotion recipes for an oily skin. They are both good and will cure the affliction in three months.

Tuberized borax, one ounce; pure glycerine, two ounces; camphor water (not spirits of camphor) two quarts. The skin should be bathed with this lotion two or three times a day.

Rose water, six ounces; elder-flower, two ounces; simple tincture of benzoin, half ounce; tannic acid, ten grains. Apply nightly after washing the face in hot water.

By working her way around the world by her ship, Miss Edith Gilbert won a $5,000 wager for Jack London, the novelist, who made the bet with a New York clubman that a woman could accomplish the task without much trouble. Miss Gilbert had four years to complete the trip and when she arrived home recently she still had four months to spare.

BABY SAVING SUNDAY
BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Many physicians occupied pulpits in churches here yesterday taking infant mortality and its prevention as their subject.

The day was designated as "Baby-saving Sunday" in connection with the arrangements for the fifth annual meeting of the American Association for the Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality, which will be held here this week. Dr. John Lovett Morse, Dr. Henry J. Bowditch and Dr. James S. Huntington were among the speakers. Dr. Morse said that 55 per cent of all the deaths occur among the babies of 14 babies.

50 FLED TO STREET IN THEIR NIGHT CLOTHES

Early Morning Fire in Warren House, Boston—Incendiary Fire at Watertown—Fire on U. S. Ship Duncan—Attempt to Burn Storehouse at East Braintree

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Awakened by smoke from a fire which started in the basement and soon spread to the floor above, more than 50 lodgers in the historic Warren House, 8 Alston street, West End, fled to the street this morning. Many of the occupants of surrounding dwellings and of the Hotel Commonwealth were also awakened by the fire and went to the street lightly clad.

There are some 65 rooms in the historic mansion, and practically every one of them sheltered a lodger. Mrs. A. M. Maynard, proprietor of the lodging house, was notified about the fire, which was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, occupying a room on the first floor.

Mrs. Maynard started arousing the lodgers. She knocked at every door on the first landing of the four-story brick structure, and was ascending the second flight of stairs when she was overcome by smoke and collapsed. She narrowly escaped rolling downstairs, lodgers on the second floor reaching her just in time. They carried her downstairs to the street, where she was speedily revived.

Meantime thick black smoke had filled the entire building. This and the shouting of the excited lodgers on the lower floors, who were fleeing down the stairs and out over the fire escapes in the rear and on the sides, awakened the occupants of the upper floors and they lost no time in getting out of the building.

Both wings of the building, as well as the rear, are equipped with fire escapes and over these the occupants of the two upper floors rushed to the street.

One of the lodgers on the top floor, a man named Tighe, was just back from a hospital, where he had undergone a serious operation. When awakened by the cry of "Fire," he bolted headfirst through a glass pane between his room and the general hall and landed in the hall in a heap. He was carried down one of the fire escapes and sent back to the hospital.

Several of the women lodgers, overcome partly by smoke and partly by excitement, fainted on the way down the front staircase and were carried out of the building.

When the fire was discovered a still alarm was sent in by telephone, bringing Chemical 1 to the scene. As the driver of the chemical drew up the hill and saw the extent of the fire he hurriedly sent in a call for more apparatus.

The fire started in the basement in a pile of rubbish and rapidly spread upward to the first floor. When the firemen arrived they found a stiff blaze in progress and it took some rapid work on their part to confine the fire to the first floor and basement.

Several fires of these were run into the building through a laundry situated in the front of the basement and after some fine work the firemen got the blaze under control, finally extinguishing it with a damage estimated by the police at $3000.

SUSPECT INCENDIARISM

Fire Which Destroyed Shed Owned by J. H. White Construction Company, Watertown, Causes $100 Loss

WATERTOWN, Nov. 8.—A shed on Arlington street, owned by the J. H. White Construction Company, was destroyed by fire last night. The building was used as a boiler room. The damage amounted to $100. As this is the second fire within 24 hours in this section of the town and but a short distance from Brighton, where two fires occurred last week, the authorities are of the belief that it is the work of an incendiary.

SCARE AT BOSTON

Fire at 4.15 a. m. Causes Occupants of Dwelling in Upper Part of Columbus Avenue to Prepare for Flight

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—A scare was caused early yesterday morning by a fire in the basement and first floor of the five-story brick building at 35 Columbus avenue, South End.

A policeman sent in an alarm from box 81 at 4.15 a. m. Ida Mitchell owns the building and occupies the upper floors as a dwelling. The first floor and basement are occupied by the boot and shoe repair shop of Anthony Sager. The fire started in the basement of the shoe shop and spread up through the walls and the ceiling to the first floor, filling the entire building with smoke.

The occupants of the upper floors were awakened by the cries of "Fire!" They dressed and prepared to leave the house.

The firemen made short work of the flames, but worked for a half hour tearing out the walls and ceiling and extinguishing the last embers within these spaces. The damage was estimated at about $200.

BLAZE ON DESTROYER

Slight Fire on United States Ship Duncan at Navy Yard, Caused by Worn Insulation

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—A deck officer on the U. S. torpedo destroyer Duncan, which is in drydock at the Charles town navy yard, saw a flash of flames and a thin column of smoke rising from the main deck at 4 o'clock yesterday morning and instantly the fire call was sounded.

A messenger who also saw the flames ran to the commandant's house and sent in an alarm from box 412 at 4.05 o'clock.

When the firemen arrived they were directed to the drydock and they found a brick blaze which had been caused by an electric feed wire from which the insulation had been worn. The blue-jackets had done valiant service before the firemen reached the scene, but with the help of the city firemen the flames were soon extinguished. Very little damage was done.

INCENDIARY FIRE

Blaze in the Storehouse of Sheppard & Sons at East Braintree—Third Attempt in That Vicinity

BRAINTREE, Nov. 8.—A bold attempt was made last night to burn the hay, wagon and storehouse of J. E. Sheppard & Sons, Allen street, East Braintree. Shortly after 6 o'clock, while Charles Torrey was walking by the place he saw a sheet of flame through a window of the storehouse. Mr. Torrey shouted for help and his boy ran to box 26.

Charles Daly, employed in the Sheppard place, heard Mr. Torrey's cries and ran into the warehouse. He found a halo of fire blazing and succeeded in extinguishing the fire before the firemen arrived.

Dist. Chief Frank O. Whitmarsh made an investigation and found that a large quantity of kerosene had been sprinkled over the hay.

This is the third incendiary fire in East Braintree during the last few weeks. A short time ago the blacksmith shop of W. J. Jordan was destroyed and a shed belonging to the New Haven railroad was discovered on fire and saved before damage was done.

Allies' Bombardment of Dardanelles Effective—Turks Fortify Aivali

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The correspondent of Reuters' Telegram company at Athens says: "Two British destroyers bombarded the telegraph stations at Suvosouk and Ayasouk. The Turkish sank a Greek steamer that was flying the British flag at Aivali."

"The Greek inhabitants of Smyrna are fleeing panic-stricken. A British destroyer went to Aivali to embark the British consul, but the Turks refused to permit this."

"It is stated that Forts Sedebah and Kumukah, in the Dardanelles, have been completely destroyed by the bombardments. The Turks, under the direction of German officers, are hastily fortifying Aivali."

SULLIVAN GIRL'S BODY FOUND IN MAINE WOODS

Kate Michaud's Confession Led to the Arrest of Dr. Dudley Saturday and Search That Revealed Remains of Houlton Girl Who Died Sept. 4—Father Collapsed at Sight of Body

PRESQUE ISLE, Me., Nov. 8.—The body of Mildred Sullivan has been found.

Alice Pelletier and Perley Pelletier, a brother, are locked up here, charged with being accessories before the fact in her murder.

Kate O. Michaud, the nurse, will be arrested at her home in Wallagrash on the same charge.

Briefly, these were the developments yesterday in the sensational mystery which has stirred Aroostook county since the disappearance, early in September, of the pretty 16-year-old Houlton schoolgirl.

For weeks the authorities have been working more or less in the dark because of their inability to prove that the Sullivan girl was dead. Then came a full confession by Kate Michaud, according to some officers, and events moved rapidly.

Dr. Lionel B. Dudley, already out on bail awaiting action by the grand jury on a charge of having performed an illegal operation on the missing girl, was arrested Saturday in Houlton for alleged murder, which, according to the warrant, occurred Sept. 4. He is now in Houlton jail, awaiting a preliminary hearing, and probably will be arraigned Tuesday or Wednesday.

On Saturday also, guided by information furnished by the Michaud woman, a posse searched a strip of woods in this town for the body.

Darkness caused a postponement of the work until yesterday, when nearly 100 men and boys began to comb the woodland in question, as the authorities felt sure that the body was just where Miss Michaud had located it in her confession.

Not Even Box to Cover Body

Late yesterday morning success rewarded the searchers, when a grave, hardly two feet deep and evidently hollowed out with a stick, was found in the woods, which are on the river road, and a mile and one-half outside of the village.

The body was clothed in a night robe and buried without even a box to contain it. The officers proceeded far enough to make sure that they had succeeded in their hunt and a guard was placed over the grave. Today the remains will be removed from the ground and the medical examiner, Dr. S. W. Boone of Presque Isle, and Dr. Jackson of Houlton will perform an autopsy, to be followed at once by an inquest.

Father Collapses at Sight

The posse which found the body was led by Fred McVittie, an uncle of the dead girl, and her father, George Sullivan, was with the party when the body was found. He collapsed when he recognized a ring on the left hand of his daughter.

It was the discovery of this ring that convinced the officers that they had succeeded and they ordered the men to dig up the earth and mounted the deputies as a guard over the grave.

The confession of Kate Michaud, came into the possession of County Atty. Bernard Archibald last Friday and he at once summoned Sheriff Elmer E. Bryson, with whom he outlined a campaign of action.

Hearty Hurler to Lonely Grave

According to the officers, Miss Michoud declared Mildred Sullivan died in the Pelletier home about 11 o'clock on the night of Sept. 4, and that an hour later the body was buried by Dr. Dudley. Alice Pelletier and herself, having been removed to the woods in the doctor's runabout.

It is assumed here that Perley Pelletier, who is but 17, is charged with aiding in the removal of the body from the Pelletier home, and he may also have helped when the dying girl was taken to his parents' home.

According to Miss Michaud the girl's clothing was buried in the range at the Pelletier house on the night that she died.

The stomach will be removed from the body and sent to Bowdoin college, where chemists will examine its contents for poison.

Alice Pelletier and her brother, when seen at the village lockup last night, when they were removed to the jail at Houlton, refused to make any comment on the finding of the body or the alleged confession made by the Michaud woman.

The turnkey at the jail in Houlton yesterday informed Dr. Dudley that Miss Sullivan's body had been found, but the physician replied:

"Well, they have nothing on me; I can easily prove my innocence."

Sheriff Bryson regards the finding of the body at this time as most fortunate.

"Had Kate Michaud not confessed until after snow had come, which is likely to happen any day now, we would never have been able to locate the grave," he said last night.

cumstances; but it is necessary to the public safety to get an accurate scientific record rather than a political levee.

Now is the time to begin the campaign for merchantable cotton of various kinds, for various purposes, and the chatter about restricting the acreage next year be stopped in the beginning. Instead, a plan should be promulgated to make use, in some way or other, of every pound of cotton that can be produced in this country, and the remainder be sold abroad.

One manufacturing concern in this city is making cotton bags, asble from its other lines, and according to reports is meeting with much success. This concern now has a large order on hand for cotton bags which will keep many hands busily employed throughout the winter months.

FORMER U. S. MARSHAL CHARGED WITH BIGAMY

Cameron Arrested in Lawrence—Said to Have Married Wife of "White Slaver" He Jailed for 12 Years—Deserted First Wife and 10 Children Charged

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—A United States deputy marshal, who, after having put a "white slaver" in jail for 12 years, abandoned his own wife and 10 children to marry the wife of the "slaver," who was "white slave victim," was star witness against her former husband—this was only a part of the extraordinary situation laid bare yesterday when a Boston police officer arrested Donald Cameron in Lawrence on a charge of bigamy.

Cameron, the former marshal, had charge of the livery at the Boston Opera House last year and was a general favorite. He is at the present moment a regular trooper of King George, who but for his unfortunate experience yesterday would at the present moment have been on his way to the Year or Alaska, in the hands of the Rensselaer Crossing station.

With his family of little ones at their home at 13 Highland avenue, Roxbury, in such destitution that the charity of police officers on the case alone saved them from actual starvation, Cameron was nabbed as he slipped into Lawrence to pay a farewell to the alleged wife No. 2, at 238 Lowell street, Lawrence, before starting for the front in France or Belgium.

This wife is "Madame Donald Cameron, First-class Dressmaker," according to a sign over her door. She was Mrs. Arthur H. Richards, wife of a Lawrence man and convicted "white slaver," according to her testimony before a United States court in this city, and she is generally known as Amelia or Melina Boudreau.

Cameron disappeared from his home in Boston Oct. 1. On the appeal of his wife and children here, Special Officer Frank V. Sullivan of the Roxbury Crossing station was assigned to the case, and trailed him to the home of the Boudreau woman in Lawrence. But Cameron with a reputation as a fighter, acquired in the Boer war, had gone to Canada to enlist.

Accompanied by Officers McDonald and Dwyer, these two tried to enter the Cameron, or Boudreau, home, and after a time were admitted. A search finally revealed Cameron under a bed so low that it had to be lifted off his gigantic frame—he is six feet two inches and weighs 210 pounds—before he could be got out.

her husband, three sons, Henry, Alphonse and Ernest; one daughter, Ida; and one brother, Andrew Mageau of Montreal. Deceased was a member of St. Louis' church and of St. Anne's sodality.

Crimson Eleven Outclassed Tigers at Stadium — Mahan Kicked Two Goals

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 9.—Harvard completely outplayed the Princeton eleven on the Stadium Saturday and piled up 20 points, while the Tigers failed to register a counter. The Crimson even gave a remarkable exhibition and outclassed their opponents in every department of the game.

The gridiron was dry and fast although the heavy turf had been worn away by practice and play until the field along its edges was brown instead of the traditional green.

The crowd, unusually slow in arriving at the stadium during the final 30 minutes before the kickoff, thousands poured out of the subway, trolley and motor cars and filed into the stadium.

The Harvard squad was first on the field, the backs practicing passing, catching and kicking the ball. The players were soon followed by the Harvard cheering squad, headed by the usual brass band and with the Princeton team and snags jogged into the arena and the rival cheering contingents began their regular inter-change of songs and yells it was evident that the stadium would be filled almost to the capacity.

Both teams were on the field promptly and after some practice both captains met to toss the coin.

A light wind blew up when play was about to start.

Harvard won the toss and elected to defend the west goal.

FIRST PERIOD

Driggs kicked off to Logan on Harvard's 20 yard line. The ball was run back 15 yards. After a rush with slight gain Harvard kicked to Princeton's 30 yard line. Princeton immediately kicked to Harvard's 45 yard line. Harvard retaliated by kicking on the first down to Princeton's 20 yard line. After one rush Princeton kicked and Logan fumbled in the middle of the field. Princeton recovered the ball. On the first rush Driggs was thrown for a loss of a yard. Glyk could not gain through center. Driggs punted to Logan on Harvard's 15 yard line. There was no runback. Bradlee made two yards through center. Mahan kicked to Harvard's 35 yard line. Ames falling on the ball. On the first down the pass was poor and Harvard got the ball on Princeton's 45 yard line. Franke made six yards through center. On the second rush he added another yard. There was a Harvard fumble but Mahan snapped up the ball and ran to the 30 yard line for a first down. Franke could not gain and Logan made one yard. Mahan plunged through two yards. Mahan dropped back to the 30 yard line for a goal from the field. He missed it by 15 yards. Princeton put the ball in play on the 20 yard line. Driggs punted out of bounds on Princeton's 32 yard line, where it was Harvard's ball. Franke dived through center for four yards. He made a yard more on another plunge through center. Mahan made a first down on Princeton's 20 yard line. Two plunges into the Princeton line by Mahan were followed by a goal from the field by the same player. It was a perfect kick.

On the kickoff Hardwick took the ball but fumbled. On the first down Driggs fumbled and the ball went to Harvard. There were two more fumbles and an exchange of kicks. Harvard captured the ball on the 20 yard line. Bradlee made six yards through center. Franke could not gain. Mahan punted to Ames on Princeton's 30 yard line. After exchanging kicks it was Princeton's ball on their own 20 yard line. Driggs kicked to Mahan on Harvard's 40 yard line. He was thrown without gain. On the first down Hardwick dashed around right end for 13 yards. This was the longest run so far of the game. Mahan shot through for three yards. On a fake, Franke made six yards more. Score end of first period: Harvard 3, Princeton 0.

SECOND PERIOD

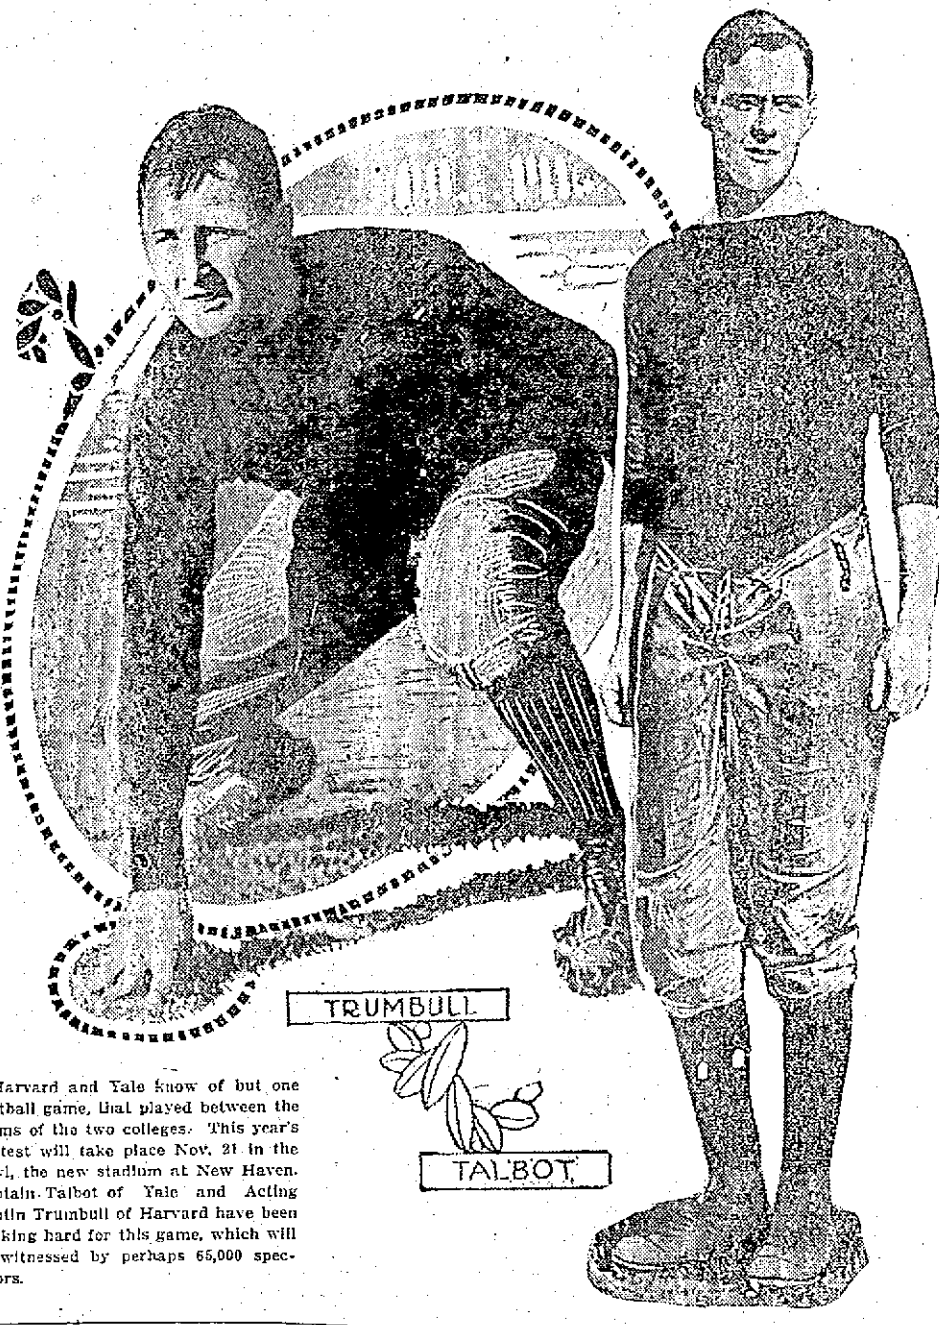

The second period started with the ball on Harvard's 33 yard line. Bradlee made three yards. Then Harvard tried a forward pass, which was intercepted. Mahan dropped back but missed a goal from the field from the 33 yard line. The ball being partially blocked, Princeton put the ball in play and kicked to Mahan, who caught it on the 30 yard line, running it back to midfield. Bradlee made three yards on the first rush and two on the second through center. Another Harvard forward pass failed. Mahan immediately kicked out of bounds on Princeton's 33 yard line. Driggs kicked to Logan on Harvard's 33 yard line. The ball was run back to the middle of the field. Mahan kicked on the first down to Princeton's seven yard line. Nobody touched the ball. The players lined up with the ball on the ground. Driggs kicked to Logan on Princeton's 33 yard line where there was a fair catch. Mahan could not gain in a plunge at center. Franke on a delayed pass carried the ball to Princeton's 22 yard line for a first down. Mahan stuck the center for a five yard gain. Bradlee carried the ball to Princeton's 14 yard line. Franke made a first down on Princeton's 13 yard line. Franke dived through for two yards. Mahan added another. The ball was on Princeton's ten yard line, nearly in front of the goal posts. Dropping back to the 17 yard line, the red-haired Mahan dropped his second goal from the field with the ease of a Brickerly.

Driggs kicked off to Franke on Harvard's 10 yard line. The ball was run back to the 29 yard line. On the first down Harvard kicked to Logan's right end for 13 yards. Franke could not gain through center. Bradlee made 12 yards through center. He lost his

Rheumatism depends on an acid in the blood, which affects the muscles and joints, producing inflammation, stiffness and pain. This acid gets into the blood through some defect in the digestive process. Sarsaparilla, the old-time blood tonic, is very successful in the treatment of rheumatism. It acts directly, with purifying effect, on the blood, and improves the digestion. Don't suffer. Get Hood's today.

TALBOT AND TRUMBULL HAVE BEEN WORKING HARD FOR THE YALE-HARVARD GAME NOV. 21

Harvard and Yale know of but one football game, that played between the teams of the two colleges. This year's contest will take place Nov. 21 in the bowl, the new stadium at New Haven. Captain Talbot of Yale and Acting Captain Trumbull of Harvard have been working hard for this game, which will be witnessed by perhaps 65,000 spectators.

Score end third period: Harvard 12, Princeton 0.

FOURTH PERIOD

On a fake attempt for a goal from the field, Bradlee carried the ball to Princeton's three yard line for a first down. Franke gained a scant yard. On the third down Franke carried the ball to within a foot of Princeton's goal line. Hardwick went in for Mahan. On the first rush in the fourth period Hardwick carried the ball over. Hardwick kicked the goal. Score: Harvard 20, Princeton 0. At this point both teams were greatly altered by subs.

Law kicked off for Princeton. The ball was run back 15 yards. On the first rush King, who had replaced Franke, made eight yards. Harvard was offside and lost five yards on Harvard's first penalty of the game. Harvard punted to Princeton's 20 yard line, where Ames fell on the ball. Law immediately kicked and there was no runback.

King made four yards on the first rush but lost two on the second. Hardwick kicked over Princeton's goal line. It was Princeton's ball on their 20 yard line. Driggs replaced Law. Harvard smothered Ames' quarterback kick.

Driggs kicked to Watson, who had replaced Logan. There was a Harvard fumble but it was recovered. Whitney took Harvard's place. King went through to Princeton's 45 yard line for a first down. Whitney equaled through for five yards but the ball was carried back, as Whitney was crawling.

King made five yards. King added four more. There were many changes in both lineups that the spectators could not distinguish the Harvard players. Whitney took the ball to the 25 yard line. Here Harvard gained a first down. King made four yards through tackle. King immediately added three more.

In an effort for a long and run Smith was thrown by Ballin for a loss of nine yards. Whitney tried a goal from the field but it was short. Ames caught the ball on the five yard line and rushed it back 20 yards. On the first rush Driggs made four yards. Tibbot then made Harvard's first down on the 35 yard line. It was Princeton's first effort at rushing. Tibbot then ran into his own interference and lost a yard. He then swung a pretty forward pass to Ames and Princeton scored another first down in midfield. Tibbot threw a long forward pass which King intercepted on Harvard's 25 yard line.

King made a couple of yards through center and then gathered in three more through the same place. A yard more through center was followed by a punt to Princeton's 30 yard line.

There was a mixup and the ball was carried back to the 26 yard line. Whitney immediately kicked to Ames on Princeton's 40 yard line. The ball was run back four yards.

On a fake formation Ames made eight yards. Ames threw a forward pass which Tibbot muffed. It was claimed the pass was interfered with and it was Princeton's ball in midfield. Ames tried Harvard's end for no gain.

Princeton tried an on-side kick which King caught on Harvard's 34 yard line. Whitney gained four yards inside of tackle and then added four more.

Whitney then kicked short to the center of the field, where it was Princeton's ball. Ames hurled the ball far down the field on an attempted forward pass.

The ball was brought back but time was called before it was put into play again. Final score: Harvard 20, Princeton 0.

Final scores: Holy Cross 0, Carlisle 0. Yale 14, Brown 6. West Point, 21; Fordham 0.

NATIONAL TRIBUNE LAUDS HIM AS THE HERO OF FORT FISHER

The National Tribune of Washington, D. C., in a recent issue, published sketches with pictures of the heroes of Fort Fisher, giving the greatest praise to General Ames of this city. Following is its tribute:

Major Gen. Adelbert Ames. The men who, after Gen. Terry were to win the greatest glory from the capture of Fort Fisher were Major General Adelbert Ames, commanding the division which made the assault, and the three brigade commanders, N. M. Canby, Galusha Penypacker and Louis Bell.

General Adelbert Ames was born at Rockland, Me., and graduated from West Point in 1861, when he was commissioned a second lieutenant in the 24th U. S. Art. He went into the first Bull Run as a first lieutenant and was wounded, receiving the brevet of major for gallant conduct. Ames commanded a battery on the Peninsula campaign, and added so much to his soldierly credit that the governor of Maine selected him for colonel of a new regiment, the 20th Me., which was mustered into service Aug. 23, 1862. With it he took part in the battle of Antietam. At Fredericksburg and Chancellorsville, Col. Ames was on the staff of Gen. Meade, and was promoted to brigadier general of volunteers May 20, 1863. He commanded a brigade of the Eleventh corps at Gettysburg with such distinction that he was brevetted a colonel in the regular army. In August, 1863, Ames was transferred to the department of the south and commanded a division which was brought to Petersburg for the operations of 1864. Later his division became part of the Twenty-fourth corps, and was part of the force sent for the first attack on Fort Fisher. He reluctantly obeyed Butler's order to retire after having advanced close to the fort. Therefore, Ames, with his command, was sent back under Terry to renew the attempt to take the fort. For his part in the victory Gen. Ames was brevetted a brigadier general in the regular army and a major general of volunteers. He held this office for three years amid constantly thickening troubles, for the southerners were gathering their forces to overthrow "Carpenter's Rule." Ames resigned his governorship in 1876 and returned to his home in Lowell, Mass., where he has since resided.

Ames has since resided in retirement, only coming to the front at the outbreak of the Spanish-American war, when he offered his services and was assigned to duty as a brigadier general of volunteers. Gen. Ames married Blanche, the idealized daughter of Gen. Butler, who was noted for her beauty.

Gen. Terry's report was full of praise for Admiral Porter, his officers and men, for Gen. Ames, who was constantly at the front under the direction of his troops with coolness and good judgment. Gen. Curtis and Col. Penypacker, Bell and Abbott, brigade commanders, had led their men with the utmost gallantry. Curtis and Penypacker were given medals of honor.

Brig. Gen. Bell was highly praised for his work on the defensive line. Gen. Blackman was commended for his vigorous pursuit, and Gen. C. B. Comstock of the Engineers had placed Gen. Terry "under the deepest obligations."

Gen. Ames praised all his brigade and regimental commanders very highly, giving special praise to Col. J. W. Moore of the 20th Pa., who was killed in assaulting the second traverse. Privates Alric Chapin, James Spring, 142d N. Y.; O. G. Hochstetler and O. B. Klusland, 112th N. Y., were commended for gallant work in pushing out toward the rebel line and securing valuable information. Privates James Cadman, William Cane, George Hoyt, S. B. Porteous, D. H. Morgan, Edward Petre, E. J. Cooper, Silas Barker, George Merrell, William J. McDuff, Z. C. Neahr and Bruce Anderson, all of the 142d N. Y., were commended for volunteering to go on ahead and cut down the palisading.

A Sure Way To End Dandruff

There is one sure way that has never failed to remove dandruff at once, and that is to dissolve it, then you destroy it entirely. To do this, just get about four ounces of plan, common liquid arvon from any drug store (this is all you will need), apply it at night when retiring; use enough to moisten the scalp and rub it in gently with the finger tips.

By morning, most if not all, of your dandruff will be gone, and three or four more applications will completely dissolve and entirely destroy every single dandruff and trace of it, no matter how much dandruff you may have. You will find all itching and itching of the scalp will stop instantly and your hair will be shiny, lustrous, glossy, silky and soft and look and feel a hundred times better.

An enthusiastic meeting of the executive committee of the British-American Social club was held Saturday evening, with every member of the committee in attendance. Reports of the various sub-committees showed that great success is being met with in soliciting aid for the soldiers and it is planned to hold a concert on Dec. 18. The proceeds will be forwarded to the widows and orphans of British fighters who fell in the present war. Two large cases of clothing were shipped to England Saturday by the Ladies' auxiliary, to be distributed to the committee in attendance. UNDERScoreD MAP SHOWING PLAINLY WHERE BATTLES RAGE IN FLANDERS

The places underscored in this map are mentioned in the Belgian official statement as points where the Belgians have made advances or where Germans have made attacks in their new drive with heavy re-enforcements for the French channel ports. The Germans are apparently endeavoring to break through the allies' lines both to the north and south of Ypres. To the north they made attacks in the direction of the Bixchoote bridge. They failed in this attempt and were forced to evacuate the village of Bixchoote. To the south they continued the attack with great violence between Hellebeke and Messines. The allies managed to hold their positions at these points and progressed toward Hellebeke and Wytschaete. The Belgians advanced detachments, which progressed as far as Laubartzyde toward the Yser, between St. George Capelle and Tervaele. They could advance only with difficulty, owing to the poor roads in the inundated country. The Germans still occupy St. George Capelle and farms located on the left bank of the Yser in that neighborhood. Stuyckenskerke has been recaptured by marines.

50 FLED TO STREET IN THEIR NIGHT CLOTHES

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Awakened by smoke from a fire which started in the basement and soon spread to the floor above, more than 50 lodgers in the historic Warren House, 5 Alston street, West End, fled to the street in their night clothes early yesterday morning. Many of the occupants of surrounding dwellings and of the Hotel Commonwealth were also awakened by the fire and went to the street lightly clad.

There are some 65 rooms in the historic mansion, and practically every one of them sheltered a lodger. Mr. A. M. Maynard, proprietor of the lodging house, was notified about the fire, which was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, occupying a room on the first floor.

Mrs. Maynard started arousing the lodgers, who crowded at every door on the first landing of the four-story brick structure, and as ascending the second flight of stairs when she was overcome by smoke and collapsed, she narrowly escaped rolling downstairs, lodgers on the second floor reaching her just in time. They carried her downstairs to the street, where she was speedily revived.

Thick black smoke had filled the entire building. This and the shouting of the excited lodgers on the lower floors, who were feeling down the staircases and out over the fire escapes in the rear and on the sides, awakened the occupants of the upper floors and there was no time in getting out of the building.

Both wings of the building, as well as the rear, are equipped with iron fire escapes and over these the occupants of the two upper floors rushed to the street.

One of the lodgers on the top floor, a man named Tighe, was just back from a hospital, where he had undergone a serious operation. When awakened by the cry of "Fire," he bolted headfirst through a glass panel between his room and the general hall and landed in the hall in a heap. He was carried down one of the fire escapes and sent back to the hospital.

Two of the women lodgers, overcome partly by smoke and partly by excitement, fainted on the way down the front staircase and were carried out of the building.

When the fire was discovered a still alarm was sent in by telephone, bringing Chemical 1 to the scene. As the driver of the chemical drew up the hill and saw the extent of the fire he hurriedly sent in a call for more apparatus.

The fire started in the basement in a pile of rubbish and rapidly spread upward to the first floor. When the firemen arrived they found a stiff blaze in progress and it took some rapid work on their part to confine the fire to the first floor and basement.

Several lines of hose were run into the building through a laundry situated in the front of the basement, and after some fine work the firemen got the blaze under control, finally extinguishing it with a damage estimated by the police at $3000.

SUSPECT INCENDIARISM

Fire Which Destroyed Shed Owned by J. H. White Construction Company, Watertown, Causes $100 Loss

WATERTOWN, Nov. 8.—A shed on the Watertown street owned by the J. H. White Construction Company was destroyed by fire last night. The building was used as a boiler room. The damage amounted to $100. As this is the second fire within 24 hours in this section of the town and but a short distance from last night, where two fires occurred, last week, the authorities are of the belief that it is the work of an incendiary.

SCARE AT BOSTON.

Fire at 115 N. M. Causes Occupants of Dwelling in Upper Part of Columbus Avenue to Prepare for Flight

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—A scare was caused yesterday morning by a fire in the basement and first floor of the five-story brick building at 115 Columbus avenue, South End.

A policeman sent in an alarm from box 81 at 115 N. M. The Mitchell owns the building and occupies the upper floors as a dwelling. The first floor and basement are occupied by the boot and shoe repair shop of Anthony Slager.

The fire started in the basement of the shoe shop and spread up through the walls and the ceiling to the first floor, filling the entire building with smoke.

The occupants of the upper floors were awakened by the cries of "Fire!" They dressed and prepared to leave the house.

Firemen made short work of the flames, but worked for a half hour tearing out the walls and ceiling and extinguishing the last embers within these spaces. The damage was estimated at about $200.

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

The Locomotive union will meet tonight and all members are requested to attend.

Another one of these treats will be in store for the ladies at the Matinee Temperance Institute next Friday evening.

It is said that the Mears Adams building team isn't going along as smoothly since Edmund Preston resigned.

The officers of the City Bowling League will hold a conference tonight at the Crescent alleys and a new secretary will be elected.

The bowling teams at the J. L. Clark store are coming along at a rapid rate, and enthusiasm runs high, so much so that a girls' league will in all probability be started.

After a spirited contest at a local club yesterday, it was voted to continue ladies' nights by a vote of 6 to 3. Jack Joyce of the Massachusetts militia led the fight for the ladies.

Patrick Gallagher of the Hamilton Manufacturing Co. will be a likely candidate for one of the basketball teams to be formed at the Y. M. C. I. soon. He's got all the necessary qualifications.

Charles Anderson, secretary of the Trades and Labor council, gave a very interesting talk yesterday afternoon at a meeting held by Joseph Mullin, candidate for commissioner. He spoke for the labor element.

Patrick Flannery of the Hartford-Bigelow Carpet Co. is hard at work making arrangements for the coming dance to be held under the auspices of the Falcon club. Pat says gliding dancing will be featured.

Fred Smith of the Spaulding Shoe Co. gave his new Trumbull a thorough tryout over the road to Nashua and back again yesterday. Fred did not expect even one blowout to mar the afternoon's pleasure.

Agent Wadleigh of the Merrimack Manufacturing Co. would be pleased to meet one of the much talked of agents who are said to be around town. None of the local mills have benefited by a visit from one of the distinguished gentlemen as yet.

Fred Finnegan of the special delivery department at the local postoffice has been called by Frank O'Day to look after the latter's interests. Finnegan is in the pink of condition and ought to make some of the good boys travel to keep pace with him in the roped arena this coming winter.

The A. G. Pollard Employees Savings & Loan association met recently and elected the following officers: Harry Dunlap, president; Charles A. Deland, treasurer; Lawrence W. Jordan, secretary for one year; W. W. Buzell, and Arthur T. Lavell, directors for three years; John O'Reilly, auditor. The association has deposited in a local bank at the present time some $18,000, and in the six years of existence the association has had as high as $27,000 safely invested. For the first four years 7 per cent was paid on the money invested, and at the present time 6 per cent is being paid. The association has many depositors already but more are wanted, and if plans are successfully carried out by the efficient officers many more of the employees will have taken out accounts before the winter is over. Everybody's doing it.

FIERCE BAYONET CHARGE

TWO BRITISH REGIMENTS STOP GERMAN ADVANCE AT YPRES—REPAIR BREACH IN OWN LINE

LONDON, Nov. 8.—A despatch to the Times from Dunkirk, France, filed Saturday night, says:

"After a desperate attack lasting the whole week the German attempt to break the allied line at Ypres has failed."

It may be admitted that the position at Ypres two or three days ago was serious. The town itself was bombarded by the Germans with extraordinary violence, and under the fierce cannonading the allies had to withdraw from the town, which became a "No Man's Land" across which the shells from both sides burst.

"The Germans made a superhuman and final effort under cover of a heavy bombardment of the British position. They had prepared a determined onslaught. Masses of men were hurled in succession at chosen points on our front."

"The attack was met in a supreme way. Two regiments, one British and one of the Guards, went with bayonets to stem the advance. It was the most terrible bayonet charge of the whole war. It succeeded, the break in the line was repaired and the German attack was once more driven back."

"That was their last effort. Today the Germans are in a position of tactical retreat. They are now attacking the allies line at Arras, 10 miles further to the south, but not with the same fury as they exhibited in the onslaught of the past week."

"It has been the fighting around Ypres that the qualities of the Germans are believed to have reached the enormous figure of 100,000, though these figures may prove to have been exaggerated."

DESTROY FORTS

Allies' Bombardment of Dardanelles Effective—Turks Fortify Aivali

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The correspondent of Reuters' Telegram company at Athens says: "Two British destroyers bombarded the telegraph stations at Samsoussa and Ayasmat. The Turks sank a Greek steamer that was dying the British flag at Aivali."

"The Greek inhabitants of Smyrna are feeling panic-stricken. A British destroyer went to Aivali to embark the British consul, but the Turks refused to permit this."

"It is stated that Forts Sedibah and Kunkaleh, in the Dardanelles, have been completely destroyed by the bombardment. The Turks are under the direction of German officers, are hastily fortifying Aivali."

"The Frankfurter Zeitung learns from Constantinople that the Russian Black sea fleet yesterday left Sebastopol, proceeding in an easterly direction. Two Turkish submarines cruised in the Aegean sea, ranging from Constantinople without having sighted any hostile warships."

A. F. OF L. CONVENTION

34TH ANNUAL SESSION OPENED AT PHILADELPHIA TODAY—TO CONTINUE TWO WEEKS

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—The 34th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor was opened here today to continue for two weeks. Prior to the assemblage of the delegates there was a short street parade in which nearly all the delegates participated. The city of Philadelphia appropriated $25,000 to assist in defraying the expenses of the convention and entertaining the delegates.

Jurisdictional fights which have featured some of the past conventions of the federation are likely to take up some of the time of the present gathering. The status of American employees in the Panama canal zone will also be discussed. The most important contest over the sending of delegates is that in the United States. Workers of America. One set of delegates applying to be seated is headed by the old general officers of the union and the other by a new set of officers elected at a convention held in Nashville last month.

ESCAPED BRITISH SEARCH

Three German Officers, With Passports from Swiss Consulate in New York, Reach Copenhagen

LONDON, Nov. 8.—A despatch from Copenhagen quotes the Politika as saying that three German officers, wearing civilian dress, arrived safely at Copenhagen on the Danish steamer Ederon, which sailed from Baltimore on Oct. 4. According to the paper, the officers were provided with what purported to be passports issued by the Swiss consulate general in New York. British warships in the Atlantic searched the Ederon without discovering the disguised Germans.

BANGOR WANTS TEAM

MAINE CITY HOPES TO BE IN NEW ENGLAND LEAGUE NEXT YEAR—SAYS HAVENHILL IS A LEADER

"I heard directly from a Bangor newspaperman the other day that in his opinion Bangor would not be ready for New England baseball this year, although he thought that it might a year later."

Whenever the newspaper man may be—and it was nobody on the News—he may be credited with an absurd statement. If ever there was a city just about crazy for some real baseball and ready to support it to the very limit, that city is Bangor, Maine. We probably won't get it this year, because the managers of the New England league have a sublime faculty for picking lemons. Apparently they would rather have the league starve in its infancy than grow fat and prosper in Bangor, or St. John.

Mr. Owen then comments upon the fact that St. John was admitted containing very sensibly.

"It seems to me that if St. John is taken in, Bangor surely ought to be for the regular run the distance in two. But a champion jump from Portland to Bangor is pretty nearly big game."

Travelling, if Bangor is not available as yet, is the most available city it seems to be. Wagonage is scarce, and it is a pretty good proposition.

Mr. Owen, his "informant" to the contrary may set his mind to rest about Bangor being "available." It could and would support a team in splendid style—no question whatever about that.—Bangor News.

SULLIVAN GIRL'S BODY FOUND IN MAINE WOODS

PRESQUE ISLE, Me., Nov. 9.—The face downward, with one arm folded across her breast and her long brown hair tumbled about her head and clad only in her nightdress, the body of little Mildred Sullivan, the Houlton, Me. school girl, was exhumed today from the crude wooden grave in which it was hastily buried a few hours after her death here late in the night of Sept. 4, subsequent to an alleged illegal operation.

The grave was opened under the direction of Coroner Floyd Smith of Carleton and in the presence of a jury which he had gathered to conduct an inquest. After an inspection by the jury, consisting of George P. Lavoie, Harry B. Holmes, Harry R. Pige, Wilfred Thompson, C. J. Hanson and M. B. Hayford, all of Presque Isle, the body was removed to the undertaking rooms of R. J. Smith, where the autopsy was held.

The post-mortem examination was conducted by Medical Examiner Boone, who has had much experience in this line and Dr. F. H. Jackson of Houlton, assisted by Doctors F. Kilburn and H. L. Putnam of this place. The body was badly decomposed. Their report was expected to be ready in season to begin the inquest this afternoon. The body probably will be taken to Houlton on the night train for burial, by her father, George Sullivan.

Miss Alice Pelletier and her young brother, Perley Pelletier, who were arrested yesterday on the charge of being accessories before the fact of murder, it being alleged the girl died in their home, were taken to Houlton jail today by Sheriff Elmer G. Bryson and Deputy Lawless, where they will be held with Dr. Lionel Dudley, the alleged principal, pending a hearing or an indictment by a grand jury next week.

FATHER OF GIRL COLLAPSED
PRESQUE ISLE, Me., Nov. 9.—The body of Mildred Sullivan has been found.

Alice Pelletier and Perley Pelletier, a brother, are locked up here, charged with being accessories before the fact in her murder.

Kate O. Michaud, the nurse, will be arrested at her home in Wallagrass on the same charge.

These were the developments yesterday in the sensational mystery which has stirred Aroostook county since the disappearance, early in September, of the pretty 16-year-old Houlton schoolgirl.

For weeks the authorities have been working more or less in the dark because of their inability to prove that the Sullivan girl was dead. Then came a full confession by Kate Michaud, according to the officers, and events moved rapidly.

Dr. Lionel E. Dudley, already out on bail awaiting action by the grand jury on a charge of having performed an illegal operation on the missing girl, was arrested Saturday in Houlton for alleged murder, which, according to the warrant, occurred Sept. 4. He is now in Houlton jail, awaiting a preliminary hearing, and probably will be arraigned Tuesday or Wednesday.

On Saturday also, guided by information furnished by the Michaud woman, a posse searched a strip of woods in this town for the body.

Darkness caused a postponement of the work until yesterday, when nearly 100 men and boys began to comb the woodland in question, as the authorities felt sure that the body was just where Miss Michaud had located it in her confession.

Not Even Dux to Cover Body
Late yesterday morning success rewarded the searchers, when a grave, hardly two feet deep and evidently hollowed out with a stick, was found in the woods, which are on the River road, and a mile and one-half outside of the village.

The body was clothed in a night robe and buried without even a box to protect it. The officers proceeded, though to make sure that they had succeeded in their hunt and a guard was placed over the grave. Today the remains will be removed from the ground and the medical examiner, Dr. S. W. Boone of Presque Isle, and Dr. Jackson of Houlton will perform an autopsy, to be followed at once by an inquest.

Father Collapses at Sight
The posse which found the body was led by Fred Melville, an uncle of the dead girl, and her father, George Sullivan, was with the party when the body was found. He collapsed when he recognized a ring on the left hand of his daughter.

It was the discovery of this ring that convinced the officers that they had succeeded and they ordered the men to cease to remove the earth and mounted the deputies as a guard over the grave.

The confession of Kate Michaud came into the possession of County Atty. Bernard Archibald last Friday and he at once summoned Sheriff Elmer E. Bryson, with whom he outlined a campaign of action.

Body Hurried to Lonely Grave
According to the officers, Miss Michaud declared Mildred Sullivan died in the Pelletier home about 11 o'clock on the night of Sept. 4, and that an hour later the body was buried by Dr. Dudley, Alice Pelletier and herself, having been removed to the woods in the doctor's runabout.

It is assumed here that Perley Pelletier, who is but 17, is charged with aiding in the removal of the body from the Pelletier home, and he may also have helped when the dying girl was taken to his parents' home.

According to Miss Michaud the girl's clothing was buried in the range at the Pelletier house on the night that she died.

The stomach will be removed from the body and sent to Bowdoin college, where chemists will examine its contents for poison.

Alice Pelletier and her brother, when seen at the village lockup last night, where they await removal to the jail at Houlton, refused to make any comment on the finding of the body or the alleged confession made by the Michaud woman.

The turkey at the jail in Houlton yesterday informed Dr. Dudley that Miss Sullivan's body had been found, but the physician replied:

"Well, they have nothing on me; I can easily prove my innocence." Sheriff Bryson regards the finding of the body at this time as most fortunate.

"Had Kate Michaud not confessed until after snow had come, which is likely to happen any day now, we would never have been able to locate the grave," he said last night.

ing will be provided in some adjacent structure.

The plans for holding the regular meetings afternoon and evening of Sunday, November 29; Monday, the 30th, and Tuesday, December 1, in Associate hall were approved. The number of speakers has been increased from nine to 12. Statesmen, lecturers, authors, clergymen, educators and, with the nine musicians each day, will present a new group of four speakers, with soloist, pianist and musical director.

A GAMING RAID
Police Arrest Twenty-three Young Men for Sunday Gambling

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—Twenty-three young men were arrested in a raid on the top floor of the building, 17 Mott street, South End, last night on a charge of gambling on the Lord's day.

Sergeant William Carey, with Patrolmen Daniel Crowley and Mux Thorner in plain clothes, swooped down on the place at 8 o'clock and rounded up the crowd as they were shooting craps, according to the police.

Entrance into the place was made by one of the patrolmen, and he was followed by the sergeant and his companions, who smashed down doors and broke through barricades on their way upstairs. When the police rushed into the gaming room, which was part of a tenement occupied by Jacob Miller and his wife, a jump was made for the rear windows, but the height above the New Haven railroad tracks was five stories and further flight out of the question.

KILLED BY OWN GUN
FLOYD COREY, 15 YEARS OLD, FELL FROM STUMP WHILE LOOKING FOR DOG

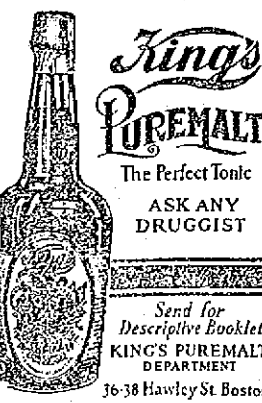

PITTSFIELD, Nov. 8.—The second killing in two days occurred yesterday afternoon when Floyd Corey, 15 years old, of this city, was accidentally shot while hunting at Hinsdale and died two hours later.

Last night in this city Amelia Casals was shot while looking over a stump to see where his dog was, and the latter being held on a manslaughter charge as a result of the accident.

Carey was out with his brother-in-law, Andrew J. Corey, and Herman Jenks of Washington. He stepped upon a stump to see where his dog was, and slipped and fell, his shotgun was fired and charges from both barrels entered his groin. Corey lived until after he had arrived at Hillcrest hospital, 10 miles from the scene of the affair.

BY FEDERAL RAIDING PARTY NEAR CHIHUAHUA

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

The Cogger residence in Moody street was the scene of a most enjoyable evening when the musical friends of Miss Mary Burns, a popular young lady of Pawtucketville, who is soon to become a happy bride, tendered her a miscellaneous shower. The bride-to-be received many beautiful gifts of cut glass, silver and linen which evidenced the esteem in which she is held by the Jolly party.

The varied program consisted of a solo, "Misericordia" from El Trovatore, by Miss Mary Burns, who possesses a sweet soprano voice, and selections were also rendered by the Misses Hattie Keefe, Helen McCann, Alice Dowling and Alice Traversy. A humorous dialogue entitled "Rita in Life," by Miss Katherine Dolan and Miss Maude Kelley was loudly applauded and a speech on Woman Suffrage by Miss Mary O'Hearn was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Misses Louise Cogger, Loretta Keefe, Mae Cogger and Mrs. William McKendzie who were the musical artists for the evening gave many selections on the piano, and contributed generously toward making the program an enjoyable one.

A sumptuous repast was served by Misses Laura and Katherine Cogger in the dining room which was artistically decorated for the occasion with pink roses and hearts and festoons of pink and white.

The party broke up at midnight wishing Miss Burns much happiness and prosperity in her new life. Those responsible for the success of the affair were Miss Jennie Cogger and Miss Lillie Landry.

NORTH CHELMSFORD

The celebrant at both masses at St. John's church, North Chelmsford, yesterday was Rev. E. C. Mitchell, who also delivered the sermons, taking for his text, "True Contrition." In the course of his remarks he explained that it was absolutely necessary to cast pride to the winds in order to become true penitents.

The Immaculate Conception sodality held a meeting yesterday afternoon after the Sunday school session and all who were recently confirmed were admitted into the society. Fr. Mitchell delivered an address, which proved to be very instructive. The officers of the society are: Miss Louise Cogger, president; Miss Mary Garvey, first assistant; Miss Gertrude Quigley, second assistant; Miss Mary Daley, secretary.

Rev. Franklin Reeves preached the sermon at the Congregational church before an exceptionally large congregation. The music at the services included the singing of the hymn, "My Strong Salvation," by the choir, and the response, "Therefore With I Call."

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED

The engagement of Miss Margaret A. Teague, daughter of the late Patrick and Mary Teague and teacher of calisthenics at the Lowell high school, to Dr. Edward A. Cahill, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Cahill, 389 High street, was announced last evening at a family dinner given at the Teague residence, 180 Main street, Pawtucketville. The date of the wedding ceremony will be announced later.

Miss Teague, since taking up her work at the high school has become extremely popular with the students and her withdrawal from the teaching staff will be regretted. Her ability as a callisthenic teacher was reflected in the excellent showing of her pupils and her winning personality gave her a power which she exercised to the advantage of the students. Under her management, drill has been established among the freshmen classes, and their exhibitions at the annual field days have aroused special interest among the public. Miss Teague prepared for her high school work at Dr. Sargent's school of physical culture in Cambridge, which she attended after graduating from the high school.

THEIR HUSBANDS SAFE

GERMAN CASUALTIES

PEKIN, Nov. 9.—The German legation makes known that it has received a telegram from Tsingtau, the transmission of which was made possible by the courtesy of the Japanese, stating that the husbands at Tsingtau of all the German women who found refuge in Peking are unharmed.

As there are about 100 women and children here, the legation accepts the message as indicating that the German casualties were few.

Great relief that the struggle is over is expressed, though one of the most prominent women of the German colony upon hearing the news patriotically declared her regret that her husband had not been able to fulfill the command of the German emperor.

AT NORTH CHELMSFORD

CATTLE QUARANTINE BEING EN-FORCED

Andrew Shubanny, living on what is known as the O'Day place in Ellersfield, was shot in the left leg and arm Saturday afternoon by two hunters who were leveling his property. The reason for the shooting is alleged to be the failure of Mr. Shubanny to return to one of the sportsmen his hunting license, which was shown by the hunter to prove his right to be out in search of game. Both men, it is said, are known and will be brought before the court to answer for assault. Mr. Shubanny's wounds while painful are not serious.

As has been the custom for many years, a Thanksgiving ball will be held in the town hall under the auspices of the Unitarian church. The band's orchestra will play for the music.

Cattle Inspector Emille E. Paine, Jr., calls the attention of the farmers to the cattle quarantine now existing in Massachusetts, and expresses the hope that any suspicion of the presence of the foot and mouth disease, indicated by lameness and frothing at the mouth be brought to his attention as soon as possible.

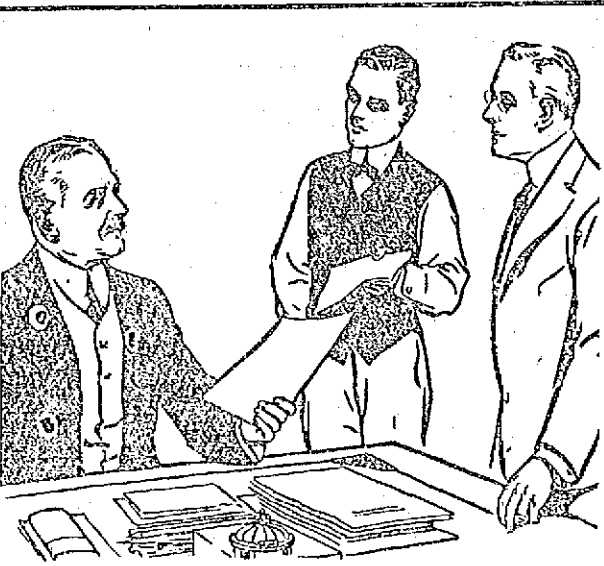

LADIES OF CHARITY

The Ladies of Charity of St. John's hospital held a meeting yesterday afternoon at 4 o'clock and elected officers for the ensuing year with the following results: Miss Rose Dowd, president; Mrs. John J. Hogan, first vice president; Mrs. P. F. Devine, second vice president; Miss M. Alice Cox, recording secretary; Sister Collier, corresponding secretary; Sister Mary Claire, treasurer.

Preceding the meeting a special church service was held, during which a special collection of nurses of the hospital rendered several appropriate hymns. Plans for increasing the membership were discussed and other important business transacted. It was announced that meetings will be held every month as formerly.

REV. DR. BARTLETT PREACHED

Yesterday was rally Sunday at the Baptist church in North Tonckebury and the speaker was Rev. William A. Bartlett, D.D., who took for his subject, "The Bible, Sheet Anchor of Liberty." The attendance at the church was very large and the Rev. Dr. Bartlett's sermon proved both interesting and instructive.

WHY SMITH SUCCEEDED

He was on the job—alert and energetic. Mental ability and physical activity made him shine in his old job and brought promotion.

Smith took care of himself.

Right there is the keynote of success—one must be mentally and physically fit.

A good start is to avoid the heavy, greasy foods that cause indigestion and kindred ills, and use a wholesome, building food such as

Grape-Nuts

This healthful, appetizing food is made of selected wheat and malted barley. It contains those vital mineral salts, so necessary to health, that are often lacking in the every-day diet.

The partial malting of the barley, with the long baking (about 20 hours), makes Grape-Nuts a food that digests easily and quickly.

"THERE'S A REASON"

GERMANY MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR A WINTER CAM-PAIGN

RAISER HOLDS COUNCIL OF WAR—
CAZAR'S TROOPS INVADE SILESIA

Kaiser holds council of war over threatening situation in east. Russian cavalry enters Silesia. Dutch correspondents report Germans are preparing to retreat in Belgium.

German cruiser Geier interned at Honolulu. Two forts in the Bardenelles reported destroyed by bombardment. Turks sink Greek steamer flying British flag.

RUSSIANS HONORED SEAPORTS OF ASIA MINOR—FLEET LEAVES FOR EAST

10,000 MORE GERMANS AT BRUGES

BOMBS

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Amsterdam correspondent of the Star says: The Telegrams correspondent at Sluis, Netherlands, says that on Sunday before daybreak a British or French aviator dropped a bomb on Bruges apparently destined for the railroad station. During the night 10,000 Germans arrived at Bruges. Between Ostend and Newport all is quiet.

EXPECT DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO
DIXMUEDE AND YPRES

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The toll in the fighting in the environs of Dixmude and Ypres is only the prelude of a further effort into which all the forces the Germans can raise will be concentrated. The last attack made with blue army corps failed. The next, it is expected, will be made by even larger forces. All advances from the front indicate this clearly. The reports that the Germans are gathering an important army at Ingelmunster, the affirmation that the battle against France must be decided at an early date, the orders given to the German generals to break through before the end of the month and the various movements of troops observed by aviators in Belgium, all tend to show the purpose of the Germans.

All of the military writers agree that the effort will be of the first importance to the Germans. If unsuccessful, it is contended here it will be the last the Germans will be able to make. They will recognize the necessity of falling back on a line, which as is their custom will have been fortified in advance with the greatest possible care. They will, therefore, strain every nerve and sinew in this battle of Ypres and the fighting is likely to be a character even more intense than anything that has gone before.

SLIGHT CUT FATAL

Paul Wells, 17, School Athlete, is Victim of Blood Poisoning

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—Boston English school students and school football players will learn with regret of the death of Paul Wells of the senior class, aged 17, son of Frank L. Wells of 504 Park street, Dorchester. Young Wells died at 6 o'clock last night from an infection of a cut received in the recent English high-Salem football game.

A week ago Saturday Wells was full-back for English high against Salem high at Salem and played the best game of his career. After the game the cut in his elbow was discovered, but appeared to be of no great consequence.

Blood poisoning developed and last Tuesday it was announced that he could not play for English high in the game with Mechanics Arts High, but that time it was not expected that the case was so serious.

Young Wells was very popular. He was a senior at English High and expected to enter Andover or Exeter after he completed his work next June. Not only was Wells an excellent football player, but he was a clever track athlete. He was at one time a member of the B. A. A. midwest relay team which made such a good showing four years ago both at the state's building and at Providence meets. For the last two years he had been a member of the Boston English high football and track teams. In the Boston high school meets he captured many prizes because of his ability as a hurdler.

There is a possibility that the football game between Boston English high and Milton high, scheduled for next Wednesday afternoon at Milton, will be called off, as Wells will be buried that day.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Wells, and a brother, George, who was prominent in athletics at Dorchester High a few years ago.

CALLS TEDDY DEAD ONE

REV. H. S. JOHNSON DOUBTS THAT ROOSEVELT COULD BE ELECTED
MAYOR OF OYSTER BAY

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—"Col. Roosevelt is dead, politically, and I doubt very much if he could be elected mayor of Oyster Bay," said the Rev. Herbert S. Johnson of the Warren Avenue Baptist church in his sermon last night. His subject was: "The Exit of Col. Roosevelt."

Mr. Johnson doubted whether the former president ever would run for office again. "He probably will continue to have a moral influence on the country," he said, "but politically he is no more."

In speaking of the reasons why Col. Roosevelt "appeared to have lost his grip," Mr. Johnson said that he believed the voters think the colonel was too much of a traitor to the party which made him, and labored more for personal interest.

"I always believed in Col. Roosevelt until I had occasion to go to him personally as a member of the Congo Reform association," continued Mr. Johnson. "He did not appear to take any interest in the atrocities in the Congo, and from that interview until now I have always felt that he was heartless, but, of course, I may be mistaken."

NOTED ART TREASURES

FAMOUS EUROPEAN PAINTINGS
MAY BE BROUGHT TO PITTS-BURGH FOR SAFE KEEPING

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 9.—Some of the noted art treasures of Europe may be brought to Pittsburgh for safe keeping until the close of the war. Dr. W. J. Holland, curator of the Carnegie museum here said today that within the last two months he had been requested by several collectors whose priceless objects include some of the most important works of master painters and sculptors in the world to come to the custody of them until the war is over. The curator replied to one request that if the works can be brought here they will be guarded until they can be returned. The collection, it was said, was in one of the European capitals.

LLOYD T. BOYD, CHARLES S. FOR-SYTHE AND MRS. ALICE MURRAY

MILWAUKEE, Nov. 9.—By the overturning of an automobile near here early yesterday, Lloyd T. Boyd, part owner of the Milwaukee Journal, and Charles Forsythe, head of a leather company, were instantly killed, and Mrs. Alice Murray died yesterday afternoon. Miss Elizabeth A. Thomas, superintendent of an East Side hospital, was seriously injured.

Boyd was a prominent golfer, having taken part in National and Western tournaments. Both men left families. Two of Mr. Forsythe's children are at school in New England; his daughter Margaret in Boston and his son, William in St. Paul's, Concord, N. H.

RAID IN NEW BEDFORD

MEMBER OF CITY COUNCIL THERE FALLS WHEN POLICE RAID HIS PLACE—WILL BE ARRESTED

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 9.—Frederick Levalley, a member of the New Bedford city council, collapsed when a squad of deputy sheriffs and constables raided an alleged gambling establishment at 127 Linden street last night and arrested four men on the charge of gambling on the Lord's day.

Levalley was taken to St. Luke's hospital on the advice of physicians called by the raiders, but the police state that he will be arrested on the charge of keeping a gambling establishment as soon as he has recovered sufficiently.

It is said that several young men from the neighboring town of Taunton have made complaints of losing money at the place which was raided last night, and which the raiders claim has been conducted by Levalley.

Deputy Sheriffs Walter Spooner and Edward Whalley and Constables John Vincent, Edward Macomber and Chas. A. Gifford obtained a search warrant and descended on the building last night. Levalley fainted, and on the advice of doctors, the officers postponed arresting him.

Levalley represents ward 2 in the city council.

BIG CUT IN CREW'S WAGES CAUSES STRIKE THREAT—HOBOKEN PO-LICE ARE CALLED OUT

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Chief of Police Patrick Hayes of Hoboken, with a dozen of uniformed men and a larger number of detectives, spent two hours last night at the Hamburg-American line piers at Hoboken, expecting to be called upon to quell a strike riot on the Vaterland. No riot took place and Chief Hayes withdrew his men.

Chief Hayes expected trouble yesterday morning when the men were ordered to go to work.

The difficulty is because of the efforts of the Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd lines to keep their ships idle at the piers because of the war, in good condition and the crews ready for service.

Saturday a wholesale cut in wages of the employees of both lines went into effect. That of the Hamburg line was reduced 55 per cent and that of the married men 42 per cent. The men held indignation meetings, and officers of the Vaterland notified the police they fear that not only will 200 of the ship's crew of about 900 go on strike, but that they will try to prevent others from working or to damage the ship in some way.

BARGE SINKS; CREW SAVED

CAPT. PHILBROOK AND SEAMAN
TONNETTE TAKEN OFF AT ROCK-LAND, ME.

ROCKLAND, Me., Nov. 9.—Barge 63, owned by the Coast and Lake Cooperative company, sank near Rockland Breakwater at 2:30 yesterday morning. Her captain, Ansel A. Philbrook, of Waltham, and Henry Tonnette, a seaman, narrowly escaped being engulfed with the stone-laden craft.

Their frantic signals were not heard abroad the tug until the barge had been cast off and the tug had started for the inner harbor. The barge carried 1200 tons of granite and was bound from Hurricane Island for Rockport, Mass. in tow of the Boston tugboat Pallas. Within a few miles of Monhegan yesterday afternoon a heavy sea was encountered and the tug put back to Rockland. The waves frequently swept over the barge, and as she rounded Ows Head yesterday morning seven of her 10 compartments filled.

Capt. Philbrook sounded the whistle repeatedly and both men shouted at the top of their lungs, but the sound of the storm and noise of the tugboat deadened their distress signals. One side of the barge was awash when the anchorage was reached and Capt. Philbrook was unable to reach his personal effects, which included a considerable sum of money. When the barge had been cast off and the tugboat was headed toward the dock, two men on the sinking barge saw themselves up as lost. There was a brief lull in the storm and the barge while it reached the ears of those on the tugboat and that craft came alongside none too soon.

The barge is valued at $10,000 and is not insured. It forms a dangerous obstruction to navigation and has been buoyed until it can be raised or destroyed.

HOW TO SLEEP

Are you getting the full benefit of your night's sleep, or are you restless and disturbed by bad dreams?

Do you awake refreshed for the day's mental activities, or are you tired and soggy feeling all the morning?

There is no such thing as that tired morning feeling to the woman who sleeps properly. She should awake completely rested, and mentally refreshed.

The proper position in sleeping is understood by the majority of people. The only correct and beneficial sleeping position is secured by lying flat on the back, the hands down at the sides, the limbs extended at full length, and the whole body relaxed.

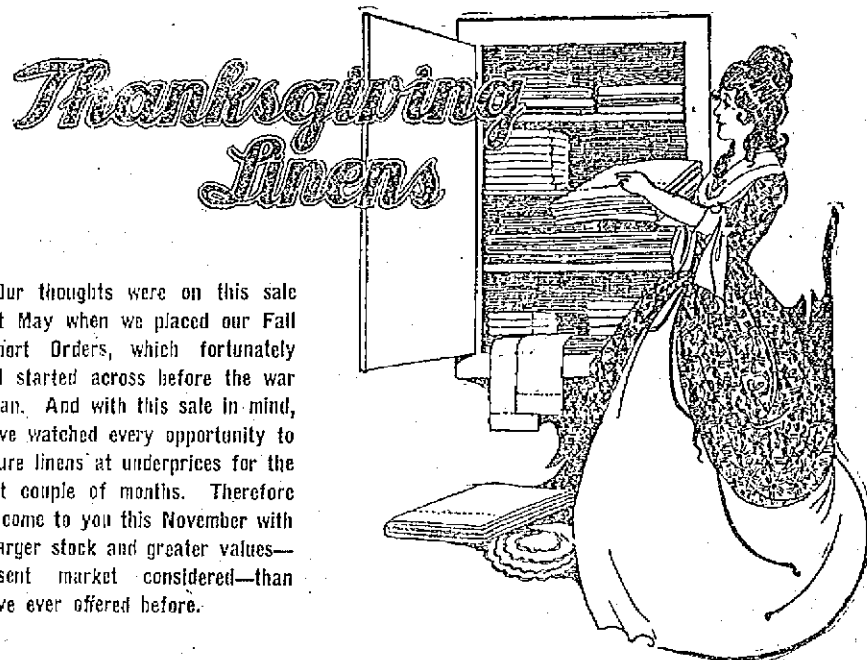

To sleep on the left side is harmful to the heart, habitual sleeping on the right side spoils the contour of the face, and sleeping on the stomach courts indigestion. The arms should never be thrust above the head.

Four hours of sleep in the correct posture is more beneficial than eight hours in a cramped or harmful position. At first you may find it difficult to change your mode of sleeping, but a few nights of practice will obliterate all earlier acquired bad habits.

You sleep one-third of your life, so sleep it properly as you would live it.

LADY LOOKABOUT

I have just heard this true story from a young lady who owns an automobile and is her own chauffeur. She was returning from a call in a suburban town just at dusk, when "Bang" and the machine swerved to one side of the road. No, she was not mistaken for a deer and shot—worse than that—it was a blowout in the right front tire. She called to the nearest farmhouse and the farmer's wife came to see up the tire so she could get home. It was the first time she had ever gone out without a fifth tire. It was a cold evening and the farmer's wife asked her to sit by the blazing fireplace until the job was finished. The repair man came in his machine. The young lady explained her trouble to him and he was ready to leave, went back to the house. She sat where she could see the worker. After a long time, when darkness had fallen, she saw the other automobile turn about and go back to the garage, leaving her machine hitched for the trip home. She bade adieu to her hospitable hostess and went out to her machine. She cranked it, jumped in, and throwing the gears into "low," started. The machine gave a violent lurch and jump, but in a second was going all right. Three autos, going in the opposite direction, passed it just then, and it was not until the last one had passed, and the young lady could give her undivided attention to the running of her own machine, that she observed a grinding and pulling to one side. Immediately she decided that the same tire had gone bad again, and she began to look around for some place to leave the machine for the night, for she knew the folly of running on a flat tire. She had already gone about a quarter of a mile, when she stopped the machine to have a look at the tire. There was no time to "Well," said she, "that it sounded like 'well.'" She reached in her coat for her hands, and at the speed rushed back to the spot from which she had started. In the full moonlight she could plainly see that the tire was not in the road. She recalled the lurch and jump with which the car had started. The tire had wrenched off and somebody had picked it up. Her rapid mathematical calculation ran through her head: rim, $10; shoe, $25; inner tube, $5; $41 out. She forgot her speed and reached the starting point: no tire. Just ahead of her in the road were a woman and a girl. The woman turned into the adjoining field. In front of her she carried an object which plainly she was trying to conceal. It looked like the tire "give me that tire," it is mine! I have just lost it!" breathlessly cried the young woman. In the moonlight, she caught the expression of frightened guilt on the woman's face. "Please, ma'am, there are so many here and nobody seems to care for them. I thought I could take a few," she said, as she held out an empty bag and proceeded to fill it from the apples on the ground under a tree. She was helping herself, protected by the darkness. The young woman turned in despair. When her foot struck something lying in the road, it was an auto-jack in two parts. There it lay, on her, the repair man had taken the tire back to the garage and would soon return. She recalled the lurch with which the machine had started; it was the fall from the jack. She returned to the machine, jacked up the wheel, and set it down in the street, humming dismally to herself. "It's a long, long way to Tipperary." Some she was assailed with the pangs of hunger. She returned to the distant tree and ate three apples, hardly stopping to breathe. The town clock struck six. She had stopped humming; she had stopped eating; she was very cold and it was dark. The town clock struck seven. All this time she had not taken her eyes from the road leading from the garage. An auto came down the road. She knew it was the one from the garage, and she sounded her horn again. Then the auto came flying down the road, breaking all speed laws. It came to an abrupt stop beside her. "Have you seen an auto with a missing wheel?" he asked with a wonderful, how did you get here on three tires? "Oh, I carried the auto in my handbag," she answered crossly. "I'm cold, and I'm tired and I'm hungry, and I'm sick from eating apples. Don't ever leave anyone on the street, apparently ready for a trip, when you're gone off with a tire." "I had to take it back to fix it," he returned. "You don't mean to say you didn't miss the tire until you got down here?" he shouted with laughter. In her haste to get home and away from this person, who already was playing her for being a woman, she got out and helped adjust the rim, and was soon on the road, the story, as she thought, buried deep in her heart.

Two More States For Suffrage

The national election places two more states on the list of those enjoying full suffrage for women. The eleven states which have granted the privilege of the ballot to their women are Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, Oregon, Colorado, Arizona, California, Washington, Kansas, Montana, and Nevada. To be sure, partial suffrage is granted to women in twenty-two states, one of which is Massachusetts. In these states women are permitted to vote on questions of minor importance—questions presumably fitted to their enlightenment. Here in Massachusetts, however, his deficient intelligence to ballot for school committee. Evidently they are of the opinion that it does not require much discernment to vote on this question. I regret that the question of a public market did not call for an expression of opinion from the women of the city. It was at the time of the marketing for their families, and as the women, poor things, do not know anything about politics. Personally, I know of at least one exception to this condition.

Now follow me closely. I am about to make a deduction worthy of Cato the Elder—alms: With the exception of the one instance, above quoted, ours is an ignorant vote—a very ignorant vote. By the suffrage of men, the ignorant vote is given an outlet, a means of expressing itself, by balloting for school committee. Therefore, the natural deduction is that the members of the school board are elected largely by an ignorant electorate. (I hear some were remarking that that explains much. I scorn the inference.)

Gentlemen of the school board, are you going to stand for this? Now here is the remedy: like me, five strong, and refuse to be the only issue on which women may vote, or else insist that they have the right to pass on whether introducing their names should be sold, or whether we shall have a public market and other like weighty questions, apparently of such moment that beside them the personnel of the school board pales into insignificance.

Football. Baseball may be the national game, but football certainly has its followers. (No joke intended.)

One dark evening a short time ago, while passing the old fair grounds, I saw prevailing on all sides a sharp sudden cry of "Ow! Ow!" I smiled the air, a Barry and a rush of feet, then cries of "Ow!" "Ouch!" "Get off my face!" "Get off yourself!" "Larger, will you?" and a heap of humanity hurled itself into the street. "Times we called. Painfully and furiously the members of the fair grounds, the members of the fair grounds, and began a search for the ball. I passed on, but I didn't come far when again I heard those mystic words, "Ow! Ow!" and the earth shook as the players in the darkness disappeared in the direction of the railroad tracks.

Father Works All Day. It was during the morning talk in a first primary grade. The subject was "Father," and the idea being developed was that he works each day that he may provide a home, and food, and clothing for his family. The children began to tell where their fathers were employed. Harold said: "My father works on the railroad." William said: "My father works on the railroad, too, and I know Harold's papa. He's an awful funny man. He makes wool materials are being extensively used in combination with silk and with velvet. Contrasting sleeves make an important feature of prevailing fashions and there will be worn throughout the winter a great many costumes made in what is known as the Moven Age style, which means loose fit over the waist and a cash or girle arranged at the hip line, but there will also be worn garments of snugger fit and deep girdles suggestive of the Empire style, so that in style as well as in material, it is pre-eminently a season of variety.

Soutache braid, both silk and

Undoubtedly the tendency is toward

WHAT THE COOK SAYS

Three Little Kitchen Hints which thought very good were given me by cook today. He says to sharpen setsors take a bottle and cut with the scissors as if you had to cut the neck off the bottle. This is effective.

To sharpen a meat grinder that has become dull, grind a piece of scouring brick through the chopper; this also polishes it.

To remove labels from bottles, wet the label with water and hold it over a flame for a second or two. The steam quickly penetrates the label and softens the gum or paste.

Cook has consented to my giving you her favorite recipe for whole wheat bread which is always delicious.
Select whole wheat flour, she says, free from outside bran. Pour one pint of lukewarm water into pint of rich milk.
When luke-warm add one compressed yeast cake dissolved in two table-spoonsful of tepid water and one teaspoonful of salt. Mix and stir in enough whole wheat flour to form a batter that will drop from the spoon.
Beat the batter well, cover and stand in a warm place (75 Fahr.) for three hours. Then stir in more flour, enough to make a soft dough. Knead lightly until the greater part of the stickiness is lost. This variety of bread cannot be made dry like the ordinary white bread, so much be handled quickly and lightly on the board.

Mold into loaves, place in well-greased pans, cover and set aside again in a warm place for one hour.
Bake in a moderately hot oven 35 or 40 minutes.

Cook has tried grinding her tea-leaves like coffee and declares that the result is excellent, only about half the usual quantity being used. Of course, the tea strainer must be as fine as can be bought.

If a lump of sugar is put into the teapot when making tea, it will prevent its spoiling the table cover if spilled. To keep the teapot sweet and clean, wipe it out dry after using and put a lump of loaf sugar inside, leaving the lid open.

If tea should boil by being put too near the fire while infusing, the bottom layer can be removed if a small quantity of cold water be put into the pot.

Cook says when using dripping for making a cake add a few drops of essence of lemon or the juice of a lemon and it will be found that this will not only remove the fatty layer which cakes so often have when made with dripping, especially mutton, but will very greatly improve the flavor.

To clarify and sweeten drippings which have become rancid, melt them in the frying pan, adding a half-cup of milk. When carefully poured off the fat will be clear and clean, the milk causing all the impurities to fall to the bottom of the pan.

When using dripping instead of butter for making cakes it should beclarified. All the ingredients, such as raisins or currants, should be mixed with a little dry flour (taken from the quantity allotted to the cake) before being added to the eggs, flour, etc.Cook says carelessness in putting the butter in the baking pan is responsible many times for poor cake.

Care must be taken that the corners are filled and that the batter does not lie thicker in the middle of the pan. A list or bulge in the center of a baked cake is often the result of such precaution. Smooth the batter lightly with a spoon.

It is very necessary to have special baking pans for different varieties of cakes, such as the angel food pans shown by dealers. The moment the batter has been spread the cake should be put into the oven, as it will lose its lightness if allowed to stand.

Some of the most delicious cakes are ruined while turning them from the pan. If the pan containing the cake is set on a cloth wrung out of warm water and left for a few minutes the cakes will turn out without any trouble.

Cook is a crank on good eggs.
When boiled and unboiled eggs get mixed, she says, spin them, and the boiled ones will spin around quite fast, while those which have not been cooked will hardly spin round once.

In cooking a fresh egg give it at least half a minute longer to boil than one which has been laid for several days. To boil an egg for an invalid let it stand in a quart of steaming water in a covered dish away from the fire for eight minutes.

A larger number of eggs require more water and should stand in the water a minute or two longer. Drain off the water and put the eggs in a bowl.

Hard boiled eggs should be plunged into cold water as soon as they are ready, while those which have not been

FASHION NOTES

SOCIAL GOSSIP
GLEANED FROM THE LATEST MODELS

Extremes are passe. It is no longer smart to wear exaggeratedly narrow skirts, to tilt the skirt or to do any of those things that were brought into vogue a season or two ago. This autumn and winter are to see really beautiful costumes taking graceful, becoming lines and made of fabrics that are a delight in texture as well as in color.

Undoubtedly the basque makes the most important departure in indoor garments while the redingote and the cape are the distinctly new offerings for street wear but, as a matter of course, there will be variations without number and the practical suit with its coat of convenient length will take an important place.

It has been said that every fashionable skirt shows plaits or tunic or flounces and, to some extent, the statement is true. Almost every variation of the long tunic is seen and with the basques, flounced and plaited skirts seem the real requirements for the comfort of womanhood. It is said that thus far there is no indication of the basque's being fitted to the waistline. The garment retains the semi-fitted line and the straight lines that have become so generally well liked, but of necessity there are close-fitting plain sleeves.

We have had open necks to the point of exaggeration. As might have been foretold, there has been reaction in that direction as well as in others and, while thus far there is no indication of the "choker" effect, variations of this line, of the high collar at the back with the more or less open front mark a great many of the newest and most interesting models designed for street wear. Within doors, we are likely to retain the comfort of the V-shaped openings to which we have grown so attached. Almost every fashion of the season may, in a sense, be a variation of this line. Color is rich and handsome without being blare blue, browns and conservative colors being favorites. Gabardine and serge are to retain all their favor for useful suits but there are new ones. There are stripes in wool velours, some in the same, some in contrasting colors that have all the qualities of real velours and that are extremely beautiful when used with discretion. They combine perfectly with plain materials and some of the color effects are rich and handsome beyond dispute. Wool velours and davyne have been made in lighter weights, too, and there are wonderful mixtures of colors that give quite the effect of brocade. Velvet is to be a pronounced favorite. It will be used for entire costumes and it will be used in combination with wool and with silk. Silk is to be much used for street costumes and for indoor gowns. For suits, there are wonderful, beautiful moires, bengalines and poplins with some entirely new effects that seem to combine them all, such as crepe moire bengaline, which is just what its name suggests. Tatters is expected to hold its own for gowns but there will be a great deal of soft satin used and, in addition to charmeuse, there is a new fabric that has all the soft, beautiful quality and, at the same time, a somewhat brighter surface.

Never has lace had greater vogue. We are to wear lace doilies, lace tunics, lace bodices and lace put to every known use. Chantilly, which is always especially beautiful in doilies, is in the height of style both in black and in white but we shall see a great many mattes, a great deal of Alencon and a revival of the Breton laces that are always so pretty and attractive. Flounced skirts with basque bodices make exceedingly smart and exceedingly attractive costumes and one of the notable fancies of the season is found in a skirt of lace flouncing over a satin foundation with a basque of velvet and such of velvet ribbon covering its lower edge.

It is even rumored that cashmere will be worn again for indoor gowns and every lover of the beautiful will be glad if the rumor is to be verified. Cashmere is a beautiful fabric that takes graceful lines and folds and seems especially adapted to prevailing fashions. If the powers that be utilize it to the extent that seems promised, it will add another to the already long list of desirable materials.

The Polonaise model and the Mogen Age effect both are to be met. A very beautiful gown of charmeuse satin and broadcloth is made with a nipped basque that reaches just below the hip line and is closed at the back. To the lower edge is attached a full tunic, open at the front, and both the basque and the tunic are of the charmeuse while the narrow skirt beneath is of the cloth, but all suggestion of severity is overcome by the introduction of the little chemise of tucked white tulle and the clever arrangement of the sash. This latter is of wide velvet ribbon of the most supple sort and is inserted in the seams of the darts at the front of the basque just below the bust line.

The long tunic is extremely smart but it must flare. Whether it is circular, whether it is gathered may be a matter of choice, but one way or another, it must be made to stand away from the figure at the lower edge. Most of the skirts worn beneath are straight and narrow but there is a tendency toward increasing width even there and some of the new models are showing skirts with an inverted plait at each side seam while now and again one sees a circular flounce, somewhat scantily cut, beneath a flaring tunic. But always there must be the contrast between the tunic and the under skirt to get the smart effect. It is in the one-piece gowns and the skirts without tunics that the flare about the feet is found and they unquestionably are gaining in favor but, even while making that statement, one is confronted with a number of new models designed for evening occasions, afternoon wear and even for the street that show the fancy skirt with closer effect; consequently, it seems safe only to state that we are undergoing a transition stage and a great many styles will be worn.

An interesting, and perhaps somewhat extreme, example of the circular skirt is found in a Drexel model of navy blue serge trimmed with black silk braid and bands of astrachan fur. The skirt is a plain circular one falling in ripples about the feet. It is edged with a wide band of astrachan and there are five rows of braid arranged over it but these bands are so arranged as to leave wide spaces between the lowest and the astrachan edge and a plain space above. The braid is wide and the five bands are spread out over the center. The coat is short, terminating a few inches below the waist line. It ripples very generously over the hips and is finished with a band of the fur. There are long close-fitting sleeves trimmed with fur bands and three rows of braid and there is an astrachan collar. Just a few months ago, we should have thought the costume extremely old-fashioned but today it represents the very latest cry.

Some of the so-called one-piece dresses are of them made in the very long tunic style, only a inch or two of the under skirt showing but, in the newest forms, they are quite simple gowns, of the princess order but loosely cut, falling in straight lines over the waist and hips, with skirts that flare freely about the feet and with sashes arranged at the hip line with a suggestion of the Mogen Age style.

We are drawing from many sources. We see all sorts of combinations. Dressmakers do not hesitate to put the styles of different periods together in a way to make something distinctly their own and, not infrequently, we hear the various periods woefully misallied. A very wonderful costume, for example, that is made of blue and gold brocade and is richly and elaborately trimmed with jet is exploited under the name of medieval, whereas it is very distinctly Empire in cut and style, and one not infrequently comes in contact with an error of a similar sort which, while not important, are in themselves misleading. For evening wear, the tunic over destined is more beautiful than the Empire and the costume referred to is especially beautiful in fact that it is indeed a pity that it should be misallied. The real medieval costume is cut on the simplest possible lines and girded over the hip line. For occasions of elaborate dress, it is often superior in material and richly embroidered while for every day needs, it may be made of the simplest serge but essentially the lines are the same.

A beautiful costume exploited at an opening of today consists of a gown of soft creamy Lierre lace, the skirt of which is finished with a deep flounce and which is made with long, close-fitting sleeves. Over this gown is a medieval tunic of rose-colored velvet, sleeveless and somewhat richly cut but embroidered on all its edges with gold thread and held by a gold cord over the hips. The Mogen Age gown as related to every day occasions is often a very simple garment, made in the one-piece style referred to above. One of the prettiest costumes showing a suggestion of the idea combines the characteristics of the crinoline-like bodice with a very full gathered skirt and clever dressmakers are doing many things of a similar sort. This particular costume is made with a bodice of crystal beaded net while the skirt is of soft shell-pink satin and is banded with velvet ribbon. Historically the skirt and bodice are ages apart but considered as a costume without regard to its suggestion, it is very charming and attractive both in color and design.

THREE MODELS OF SMART FROCKS

costumes at Piping Rock has been an extremely interesting one, replete with suggestions for cold weather needs. October is almost universally a mild month and it can hardly be said that fur is needed but fur is fashionable and fur-trimmed costumes have been many. Long coats have been much in evidence and there has been a genuine interest displayed although, not infrequently, outer wraps were removed in order really to enjoy the sport. Long coats and short coats are equally favored but whatever else the costume lacks, seamwork and something there is found a generous flare and ripple effect. Whether or not the designers have combined with the manufacturers to bring about a greater use of materials the fact remains and full skirts, plaited skirts, circular skirts and gathered skirts all are to be worn. Circular flounces are worn and we are rapidly growing away from the straight slender silhouette that has become so familiar.

We have always known that the military influence was sure to make itself felt in many ways. Just now for the early season at least, it is more evident in the way of trimming and embroidery than in any other way. An exceedingly handsome costume of blue gabardine combined with black taffeta is made with close-fitting bodice that is embroidered with gold braid in a manner suggestive of Brandenburgs. A very beautiful plain colored chiffon velvet shows gold embroidery on the bodice and again on the sash ends and the gold that is suggestive of the military costumes is constantly appearing in new and interesting ways.

Present fashions seem especially designed for the younger contingent. They are especially becoming to girl-like figures and they are essentially youthful in effect. Here are three frocks essentially different and each one charming. In two instances, tunics are used, but they are tunics of distinctly different sorts, and the third dress with accordion plaited skirt and full basque is entirely unlike the other two. Any season that provides such variety is an interesting one.

Materials too are wonderfully beautiful. While we are wearing a great deal of silk, we are also wearing a great deal of wool and wool fabrics are light and thin and pliable. Velvets and satins are extensively used as trimmings. While enough vivid color is used to give picturesque effect to the season, quiet tones such as brown, beige, dark blue, putty color and the like are much in vogue. Some of the new silks are really fascinating in texture. All the poplin weaves are smart, crepes are shown both in dull and in satin finish, and such materials as fine serge, gabardine and broadcloth are liked for simple frocks as well as for street costumes.

Coats of the autumn are always a subject of interest, this year perhaps especially so since they are radically new in line and eminently attractive. The costume to the left shows one of the new tunic effects over a plain two-piece skirt. The coat gives the low waist line, suggesting the Mogen Age idea, and can be made just as illustrated or shorter as indicated in the back view. The girls' coat with the flaring ruffle is a particularly graceful and pretty one and also an eminently simple one since it is made in the Japanese style with sleeves and body in one. The fur cape and fur muff make exceedingly interesting as well as comfortable accessories while each one is easy of construction.

WHAT HORTENSE TOLD ME

Many girls find it rather difficult to make their own egg shampoo but if they will follow directions given below by Hortense they will find it very simple:
Take the yolk of one egg, hot rain water, one pint; and one ounce of rosemary spirits. Beat the mixture thoroughly and rub it well into the roots of the hair. Rinse in several waters or use bath soap which greatly simplifies the work.
It is well to moisten the hair with warm water, before the shampoo is applied; this makes the work easier and the egg will not stick to the hair.

When I returned from the mountains I was horribly sun burned and Hortense made a wonderful paste which has removed every trace of it.
Ground barley, three ounces; honey, one ounce, and white of an egg. Apply in mask fashion to cheeks or cotton, or simply spread it on thickly and cover with a piece of old linen.
You will find that this paste will also act as a general beautifier, softening, whitening and freshening the complexion. A few drops of tincture of myrrh makes a pleasant mouth wash. Hortense also tells me.

A great many girls complain that their finger nails have no crescents. Hortense says that if fingers have been properly cared for, this falling is beyond understanding.
Very often the practice of biting the nails does away with the crescent. That is to say, the crescent stubbornly refuses to make its appearance. Try pushing down the cuticle with an orange stick after rubbing the nails with cold cream.
You will find that rubbing cold cream into the nails every night will greatly benefit them. Use a flesh brush to scrub them every morning. Avoid pumice polishes.

Hortense declares that the new fashions are responsible for the necks being neglected and for the carelessly brown neck one must use regularly the following lotion: Boracic acid, one dram; distilled white vinegar, two ounces; rose water, two ounces.
Brush the throat at night and every day. The throat must be kept moist with perspiration, rub with a soft cloth dipped in warm water and apply the lotion with antiseptic gauze. After a week of this treatment you will see a marked improvement in the color of your neck.
Hortense gave me two lotion recipes for an oily skin. They are both good and will cure the affliction in three months.
Purified borax, one ounce; pure glycerine, two ounces; camphor water (not spirits of camphor) two quarts. The skin should be bathed with this lotion twice a day for three days.
Rose water, six ounces; elder-flower, two ounces; simple tincture of belladonna, half ounce; tannic acid, ten grains. Apply nightly after washing the face in hot water.

BABY SAVING SUNDAY
BOSTON, Nov. 9.—Many physicians occupied pulpits in churches here yesterday taking infant mortality and its prevention as their subject.
The day was designated as "Baby-saving Sunday" in connection with the arrangements for the fifth annual meeting of the American Association for the Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality, which will be held here this week. COATS FOR THE AUTUMN WITH
TUNIC EFFECTS ARE IN STYLE

Coats of the autumn are always a subject of interest, this year perhaps especially so since they are radically new in line and eminently attractive. The costume to the left shows one of the new tunic effects over a plain two-piece skirt. The coat gives the low waist line, suggesting the Mogen Age idea, and can be made just as illustrated or shorter as indicated in the back view. The girls' coat with the flaring ruffle is a particularly graceful and pretty one and also an eminently simple one since it is made in the Japanese style with sleeves and body in one. The fur cape and fur muff make exceedingly interesting as well as comfortable accessories while each one is easy of construction.

WHAT HORTENSE TOLD ME

Many girls find it rather difficult to make their own egg shampoo but if they will follow directions given below by Hortense they will find it very simple:
Take the yolk of one egg, hot rain water, one pint; and one ounce of rosemary spirits. Beat the mixture thoroughly and rub it well into the roots of the hair. Rinse in several waters or use bath soap which greatly simplifies the work.
It is well to moisten the hair with warm water, before the shampoo is applied; this makes the work easier and the egg will not stick to the hair.

When I returned from the mountains I was horribly sun burned and Hortense made a wonderful paste which has removed every trace of it.
Ground barley, three ounces; honey, one ounce, and white of an egg. Apply in mask fashion to cheeks or cotton, or simply spread it on thickly and cover with a piece of old linen.
You will find that this paste will also act as a general beautifier, softening, whitening and freshening the complexion. A few drops of tincture of myrrh makes a pleasant mouth wash. Hortense also tells me.

A great many girls complain that their finger nails have no crescents. Hortense says that if fingers have been properly cared for, this falling is beyond understanding.
Very often the practice of biting the nails does away with the crescent. That is to say, the crescent stubbornly refuses to make its appearance. Try pushing down the cuticle with an orange stick after rubbing the nails with cold cream.
You will find that rubbing cold cream into the nails every night will greatly benefit them. Use a flesh brush to scrub them every morning. Avoid pumice polishes.

Hortense declares that the new fashions are responsible for the necks being neglected and for the carelessly brown neck one must use regularly the following lotion: Boracic acid, one dram; distilled white vinegar, two ounces; rose water, two ounces.
Brush the throat at night and every day. The throat must be kept moist with perspiration, rub with a soft cloth dipped in warm water and apply the lotion with antiseptic gauze. After a week of this treatment you will see a marked improvement in the color of your neck.
Hortense gave me two lotion recipes for an oily skin. They are both good and will cure the affliction in three months.
Purified borax, one ounce; pure glycerine, two ounces; camphor water (not spirits of camphor) two quarts. The skin should be bathed with this lotion twice a day for three days.
Rose water, six ounces; elder-flower, two ounces; simple tincture of belladonna, half ounce; tannic acid, ten grains. Apply nightly after washing the face in hot water.

Dr. Henry L. Lovett, Mr. Dr. Henry L. Lovett, and Dr. James S. Huntington were among the speakers. Dr. Morse said that 58 per cent of all infantile deaths occur among the bottle-fed babies.

Rev. John J. Shaw was the celebrant at the parish mass at St. Michael's church yesterday and Rev. Fr. Murphy delivered the sermon, taking for his text: "The Need of Practiced Religion," and as a sequel he spoke on the "Holy Name." The congregation was exceptionally large and a special choir augmented for the occasion rendered the music for the mass.

At the 5 o'clock mass the Holy Name society attended holy communion in a body, and it was a most inspiring sight to see such a large attendance of members marching to the church and to the altar railing. Rev. Fr. Mullin was the speaker of the occasion, and he took for his theme, "Purgatory." In conclusion he spoke on the good work accomplished by Holy Name societies all over the world and urged the members to go out and spread the good word. A choir, composed wholly of members of the society, under the direction of Mr. Martin Curdick, sang the hymns at the mass, the hymn to the Holy Name being particularly impressive. Mr. Joseph Johnson presided at the organ.

Holy Name Society

Last evening the Holy Name society held its regular monthly meeting and as usual it was largely attended. President Charles H. McCarthy presided, and addressed the members, telling them of the work done by the society the past year and congratulating them on the large list of new members recently brought in. The entertainment committee reported that

Immaculate Conception Church

At the 10 o'clock mass Rev. Fr. O'Brien preached a very forcible and convincing sermon on death, taking as his text from the gospel of the day.

Rev. D. A. Sullivan, O. M. I., preached the sermon at the 11 o'clock mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday and Rev. Owen McQuade was the celebrant.

Sacred Heart Church

The monthly communion Sunday of the Holy Name society at the Sacred Heart church brought out a very large gathering of members, all of whom received Holy Communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass. Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., sung the mass and he was assisted in distributing communion by Rev. Fr. Fletcher, O. M. I.

St. Margaret's Church

High mass at St. Margaret's church yesterday was sung by Rev. Fr. Riordan, who also gave a thoughtful and impressive discourse on the prevalent sin of "detraction," the speaker characterizing it as a three fold sin, against God, against society and against the individual. He explained in a most comprehensive manner the difference between detraction and calumny, the former having the element of truth and the latter of falsehood and he emphasized the fact that even if faults exposed exist the truth does not exonerate the person guilty of the derogatory statements.

St. Elizabeth's Church

A meeting of St. Elizabeth's Guild was held at the Orphanage yesterday afternoon at which the ladies of the guild discussed plans for the coming winter months. The fact that the orphanage has removed from its downtown location to a suburban location should not cause the charity to be inclined to forget its existence and its public work. Donations of money, food or clothing, however modest, will be gratefully received at all times and will be put to good use. The orphanage depends entirely upon charity and is caring for a large number of children.

A Systematic Plan

For the Delivery of Merchandise

To establish a more efficient delivery service, we have adopted a new schedule for deliveries of orders to all sections of the city. In order to bring this method of delivery to a successful conclusion, we shall necessarily require the cooperation of our customers. All orders received between the hours 7:30 a. m. and 3 p. m., will be delivered according to the schedule. The last load of goods for the day's delivery will leave our store at 3 p. m.—all orders received after that hour will be delivered the following morning. All orders taken before noon will be sure of delivery the same day received, providing trips are short, and the destinations are included in the schedule for early afternoon delivery. Under the new schedule, we cannot positively guarantee the delivery of (long trip) orders which are given us after the noon hour, nor orders which are not en route for our trucks.

This plan will enable us to make our trip each day to every part of the city, and allow two trips to some sections.

TRIP No. 1

Lawrence, Gorham and neighboring streets. Orders must be in by 8 o'clock.

TRIP No. 2

Merrimack street, Broadway, Highlands, via Walker street, Chelmsford street and intermediate streets to City Hospital. Orders must be in by 9 o'clock.

TRIP No. 3

Entire Centralville section. Orders must be in before 12 o'clock.

TRIP No. 4

Body Found With Bullet Hole in Back—Search For Murderers

BUCKFIELD, Me., Nov. 9.—The body of a man, supposedly identified by papers in his clothing as Thomas E. Pines of Easton, Me., was found beside the road between West Somer and Paris Hill a mile and a half from West Somer yesterday, under circumstances indicating murder.

A round bullet, presumably from a rifle held so close that the clothing was burned through to the body, entered his back and was found in the clothing. The body was stretched on the ground in a wooded section about 12 feet from the road where it apparently had been carried, as the leaves and newly fallen snow had been disturbed and there were no signs of a struggle. Death had taken place only a few hours before it was found.

The carriage in which the man was believed to have been driving to Paris Hill, where he had engaged burial, when he was killed, was left at a stable at South Paris early yesterday morning by an unknown man who took the train for Portland.

Life shells containing bullets similar to that which caused his death were found in the carriage and in the pockets of the dead man.

A coroner's jury was formed and after viewing the body, adjourned until a week from next Saturday.

The county officials, convinced that the man was murdered, began a search for three men, one of whom was believed to have been with the victim, who called twice Saturday night at a house within half a mile of the place where the body was found and asked to be directed to Paris Hill. It was snowing and dark at the time and they had difficulty in finding their way.

TEXTILE SCORED FIRST BUT FAILED TO SHOW LASTING QUALITIES AND WAS BEATEN BY TILTON, 25 TO 3

For the fourth time in as many games played this year, the Lowell Textile school football team was defeated Saturday, this time by the Tilton Seminary team of Tilton, N. H. The score was 25 to 3.

After the first period, when Goodell of the Lowell eleven booted the ball for a field goal from the 20-yard line, Textile never had a chance, the ball being in danger practically all of the time. Textile's defense was handicapped by the absence of some star players, and O'Brien, who only recently returned to the game, was injured out with an injury. Lawson, the classiest performer for the visitors with Goodell and Libbee playing well for Textile.

MAN MURDERED LOWELL HIGHLOST THREE PRIZES AWARDED

The local high school eleven went down to defeat before the state championship contender, Waltham High Saturday afternoon by a score of 40 to 0.

Waltham is sure some football city and more than 2000 followers of the Watch City turned out to see their favorites plunge and tear through the comparatively lighter Lowell aggression, but even this attendance is considered small, in view of the fact that Waltham has played the leading high school eleven of the state, and the game with the local boys was regarded as of little importance.

After 28 minutes of hard playing, Lynch, Lowell's hard working fullback, was taken out as a result of injuries received to his legs, and this served to weaken the team.

Capt. Richardson was the shining star for the Waltham team, and three of his team's touchdowns came from long forward passes thrown by him with accurate accuracy. All of his throws were long and the block in variously found its way into the arms of a teammate. Waltham's gains were mostly made through the center as Hane and Potter proved to be a thorn in the side of the Waltham backfield when they tried to encircle the ends.

Alvin Liston, the unassuming left halfback of the Lowell aggregation was by far the star for Lowell. He's longest runs were made with him carrying the ball, and he also intercepted two forward passes, carrying the ball on each occasion back 30 yards. His tackling was also a decided feature and there was seldom a play that he was not at the bottom of the pile.

Tomorrow afternoon a team composed of Harvard students will journey to Lowell to meet the local boys and a good game is expected. The game will be played at Spaulding park and the local boys predict that they will break the "jinx" which has been chasing the squad all season.

TO CONDUCT AN INQUEST

CHIEF SAUNDERS ANNOUNCES THAT JUDGE FISH WILL HOLD INQUEST ON DEATH OF LESURER

Chief Saunders of the fire department informed The Sun this morning that an inquest over the death of the late Clarence E. Lesurer, a former teacher at the vocational school, who lost his life in an explosion at the school recently, will be held tomorrow morning at the police court, second session. Judge Frederick A. Fisher will be the presiding judge and several witnesses will be heard.

Paving Blocks

Nearly half the order of paving blocks recently given the Hildreth granite co. has been delivered to the city. About 100,000 blocks have already been received and about 20,000 more are in cars at the Western avenue freight yard. As soon as a car arrives in Lowell Mr. Fenton hurries to the freight yard and as fast as the blocks are removed from the freight cars he counts them. This morning he was notified there were five more on the tracks with an average of about 4,000 blocks each.

High School Annex

The steam heating system at the high school annex in Kirk street is not yet finished for the employees of Carroll Bros., who were given the contract, are today putting in the fans. According to the contract the steam fitters will be about ten days late with the finishing of the job, which will mean a pay for the city of about $150, for the contractors are under contract to pay $15 a day over the time limit mentioned in the contract.

Municipal Meeting

The municipal council will meet at 8 o'clock tomorrow afternoon instead of 11 o'clock tomorrow forenoon as was at first announced, the change having been made for the purpose of holding a hearing at the close of the meeting on the new traffic rules.

Mayor Murphy

Mayor Murphy went to Worcester today to attend the Holy Cross night at the Holy Cross college this evening. The mayor will deliver an address before the students this evening.

Accounting Councilor Vote

The registrars of voters and the city clerk were busy all day yesterday at the state election in this city for the office of councilor and after counting up four wards it was found that John J. Hogan, democratic candidate, at whose request the recount is being done, had lost one vote, which his opponent, Henry C. Mulligan, republican, of Watlet, had made a gain of seven votes.

Henry J. Naphen of Natick is looking after the interests of Mr. Mulligan while Robert E. Crowley and Simon Dean represent Mr. Hogan.

MINOR LEAGUE STAND-ING

A very close race is expected in this league this winter as each manager is continually strengthening his team.

Monday, Bunting and Glenside; Tuesday, Triple Otis and Glenside; Wednesday, Braves and Methuen; Thursday, Fall Mills and Bay States; Friday, J. P. S. and Viola.

Minor League Notes

Capt. Began of the Braves was badly hampered Friday night by his new bowling shoes.

Dick Corbett says his Viola will make them go some.

The pin boys refuse to set up for Bill Quinn if he doesn't let up on his speed.

Capt. Allen was wide awake when he signed up that lively trio—Riley, Silcox and Smith. They are certainly three live wires. It is said they like the Ball Mill quarters better than their other quarters.

Jack McQuade is certainly mowing them down for the Bunting.

Cliffy Ellis is still wishing on every ball he throws down the alleys.

Paul Keefe has not struck his stride yet—just wait until he does.

Jimmy Hayden is strengthening his Triple Otis—under cover.

The Mathews and J. P. S. will be heard from very soon.

It takes "Tommy" Holmes and Chris Allen to be on the lookout for live wires. They sure do get them.

BETTER TEAM, SAYS BALLIN

YOUNG INDIANS AGAIN

The Young Indian A. C. upheld its record of being the fastest 100 pound team of the city Saturday by defeating the St. James club by a score of 12-6. The tackling of O'Neil and McAnney and the work of McHugh, Murphy and Mitchell were features. Next Saturday they will play the Tigers of North Billerica on the Fair grounds. As the Young Indians have a few open dates they will step out of their limit and play any 110 or 120 pound team of this city. Communicate with W. Mitchell, 1232 Gorham street.

LENOX, Nov. 9.—Capt. Ballin and 25 members of the Princeton football squad arrived here last night and are spending two days at Curtis Hotel. "Harvard had the better team," is the comment of Capt. Ballin and his men. The team left Lenox this afternoon for Princeton.

YOUNG INDIANS AGAIN

The Young Indian A. C. upheld its record of being the fastest 100 pound team of the city Saturday by defeating the St. James club by a score of 12-6. The tackling of O'Neil and McAnney and the work of McHugh, Murphy and Mitchell were features. Next Saturday they will play the Tigers of North Billerica on the Fair grounds. As the Young Indians have a few open dates they will step out of their limit and play any 110 or 120 pound team of this city. Communicate with W. Mitchell, 1232 Gorham street.

FOR THE LITTLE READERS OF THE SUN

NED'S HAT

Once upon a time Ned had an older brother whose name was John. Ned thought that everything that John did was just right and he followed him in everything.

One day the boys went to visit their grandfather when they had to ride for some time on the train. At first the time passed very quickly but at last Ned grew tired and cross. John, to amuse him, reached over and took hold of Ned's cap and made believe to throw it out of the window. Ned thought he had and began to cry.

John said: "Why don't you whistle and perhaps it will come back." Ned gave a long loud whistle and John very quickly put it back on his head without Ned's seeing him do so. Of course Ned thought that was wonderful and wanted him to do it again.

At last the wind really did blow Ned's cap off and out of the window and although he whistled again and again his cap, of course, didn't come back and John had to tell him that he had been fooling him all of the time, and that his hat had never really gone out of the window.

Ned didn't think that was very funny and wanted to know what he should do without a hat. John told him not to worry that he would buy him another as soon as they came to their stop.

When they got there they went into a store but the man only had a few hats or caps and Ned had to take one that was ever so much too large for him and came away down over his head and ears.

When the boys arrived at their grandfather's they all laughed at Ned and when he told how his hat was lost they laughed harder than ever, but Ned didn't think it was as funny as the rest.

Ned's grandfather bought him a new hat that fitted him but Ned never forgot how he lost his hat.

BOUNDTREE HOME RAIDED

Newburyport Police Report Finding Evidence on Which to Bring a Liquor Charge

NEWBURYPORT, Nov. 9.—Saturday evening the police raided the home of William Roundtree on Pike street and say they secured evidence on which to bring a liquor charge. Roundtree himself is in Salem jail, serving three months for illegal liquor selling. The police will summon Mrs. Roundtree into court on this charge.

The police also found a trap supposed to be used for storing liquor. Hereafter they have been unable to find any hiding place although they felt sure one existed. The hiding place was near a fireplace and large enough to hold a supply that would last for a long time.

KILLED UNDER AUTO ON THE BOULEVARD

James O'Neil, aged 24, of Peterboro, N. H., was killed in an automobile accident which occurred on the Boulevard early this morning. While his companion, James Sweeney, 23 years of age and also from Peterboro, escaped with a few bruises and a general shaking up.

The accident occurred at a point where the carriage road and the boulevard meet, opposite the pumping station and it was there that the two men were found pinned beneath the car which had turned turtle. According to Sweeney the two men left this city at about 11:30 o'clock last night and were traveling at a fair rate of speed toward Nashua, N. H. The men were comparative strangers to the road and they turned down the old road which leads to Carleton avenue. Suddenly, however, the car skidded in the slippery roadway and turned turtle, the two men being pinned beneath the heavy machine.

Some time later an automobile party bound for Nashua, N. H., found the car with the men under it and quickly lifted the damaged auto. The two men were sent to the Lowell General Hospital, but when they arrived there it was found that O'Neil had passed away.

Auto Smashed Wagon

Nelson Lefebvre of Common street, Lawrence and a young woman companion, narrowly escaped serious injury when the carriage in which they were riding was struck by an automobile owned and driven by Frank Dimondina in Central street near Hurd street at 9 o'clock last night. Although the couple were thrown out of the carriage, they were not seriously hurt.

Lefebvre's outfit, a Concord buggy, was being driven up Central street, when Dimondina's automobile struck it in the rear, demolishing the carriage and throwing both occupants to the ground. The rig was the property of a Lawrence man and Lefebvre, thinking that the horse might be wanted this morning, rode the animal back to the down river city. Officer Riley who happened to be on the scene of the accident reported the names of the participants to headquarters.

Two Autos in Collision

Another automobile accident occurred at the corner of Moody and Allen streets yesterday afternoon when a touring car owned by George S. Motley of the Lowell Gas Light Co. and a Rambler car owned by Henry Achin of 384 Fletcher street, collided. The touring car, which was driven by Motley, had badly damaged while the heavy touring car received only a few scratches.

One of the machines was being driven down Moody street while the other was speeding along Allen street, toward the bridge. Fortunately no one was injured. Several accidents have occurred at this spot recently.

RUSSIA DOMINATES MILITARY SITUATION

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Russia dominates the military situation today. The speed with which she has cleared the invaders from Russian Poland was totally unexpected and must necessarily have a great effect on the campaigns in the other war theatres.

Already the terror-stricken inhabitants of prosperous Silesia are reported fleeing from their homes, despite the fact that General Von Hindenburg's strong army is between them and the advancing Russians. But something besides the presence of German arms may enable them to remain, for some time in security for a significant escape from Petrograd announces that Russia may defer the invasion of Germany until her historic mission toward the Bosphorus is accomplished.

This mission includes the complete subjugation of Austria-Hungary as well as the invasion of Turkey and if this city, five grandchildren and two daughters, Maria A. and Miss Annette J. Choate.

DINWIDDIE—Michael Dinwiddie, aged 25, died suddenly on Lawrence street, near the corner of 8th street, late Saturday afternoon, from heart failure. Mr. Dinwiddie had been confined to the Chelmsford Street hospital for some time and had been given a short leave of absence to visit friends. It was while calling in Lawrence street that the man became ill. He died about 11 o'clock and was buried at 1 o'clock in the afternoon at the funeral home of Mr. J. J. Sullivan.

GOVERNOR—Nikolai G. Gouzenko, aged 25 years, died Saturday at his home, 14 Winthrop street. The funeral took place yesterday from the home of Undertaker Peter H. Savage at 11:30 o'clock. Services were held at Holy Trinity Greek Orthodox church at 1 o'clock. Rev. Hanton Panagiotis officiating. Interment was in the Edison cemetery. Undertaker Peter H. Savage in charge of funeral arrangements.

DEANS—William G. Deans died last evening at the home of Mrs. Margaret Greene, 14 Winthrop street, aged 48 years. He leaves two sisters, Mrs. Elizabeth Bond and Mrs. Mary Bates; also three brothers, Horace, David and Ford, all of England.

German position in Russia but that this is regarded as untenable.

The latest Paris official communication states that the invaders are concentrating their activity about Ypres without as yet achieving any result. The allies are reported as holding their own everywhere on the Aisne, while to the northwest of Soissons they have reached a new position on the Vesgny plateau.

An official announcement given out in Berlin declares that advances have been made in the Argonne but that there is nothing new along the remainder of the battlefield.

Holland determined to preserve the neutrality of the river Scheldt, has announced that the Dutch forts will fire on any vessel not recognized as a merchant or other regular harbor craft.

Private reports reaching Bern, Switzerland, from Constantinople, indicate that Turkey has entered the war with an empty treasury. She already has exhausted the German loan and used up the money derived from the tax on imports.

FORMER U. S. MARSHAL CHARGED WITH BIGAMY

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—A United States deputy marshal, who, after having put a "white slave" in jail for 12 years, abandoned his own wife and 10 children to marry the wife of the "slave," who was a "white slave victim," was star witness against her former husband. This was only a part of the extraordinary situation laid bare yesterday when a Boston police officer arrested Donald Cameron in Lawrence on a charge of bigamy.

Cameron, the former marshal, had charge of the livery at the Boston Opera House last year and was a general favorite. He is at the present moment a regular trooper of King George, who but for his unfortunate experience yesterday would at the present moment have been on his way to the Yacht Club, the headquarters of the Boudreau woman in Lawrence. But Cameron with a reputation as a fighter, acquired in the Boer war, had gone to Canada to enlist.

Accompanied by Officers McDonald and Dwyer, these two tried to enter the Cambridge Hotel in Boston, after a time were admitted. A search finally revealed Cameron under a bed so low that it had to be lifted off its hinges and weighed 210 pounds—before he could be got out.

men when booked gave their names as follows:

James F. Moran, Harry P. Doherty, Thomas Gray, Joseph Murphy, Alfred McShay, Joseph Gray, Roy Henry Whitaker, John Gilman, Darby Maloney, Joseph Leigh, William Potter, John B. Vardon, Edward Farley, George Galley, Richard Burke, Arthur McDonald, Edward H. Hill, John Dwyer and William Thompson.

All were bailed by Andrew F. Boach and the bail commissioners did a hard office business for a few minutes.

The state police officers in the raid were Fred Flynn, E. J. Sherlock, Michael J. Barrett and Edward Horigan. The Watch and Ward society representatives were Jefferson H. Martin, assistant superintendent, Agent Joseph E. Johnson and Agent William C. Smith. State Officer Sills Smith who is assigned to this county was not in the arresting party and presumably was not requested to assist. The raid, it is said, was made without the knowledge of Charles E. Holland of the District board of selectmen, who has charge of the police work of the town.

Shipments of Livestock From Canada to United States Barred—Delaware Added to List

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—All shipments of livestock from Canada to the United States will be barred by a quarantine order prepared today at the department of agriculture. There is no evidence of foot and mouth disease in the Dominion but infected cars have been sent over the border and the order is to prevent their return.

Delaware was added to the list of quarantined states today because of discovery of the disease at Wilmington. This brings the number of quarantined states up to 12.

The quarantine of the yards 49 years ago, not a living cow, steer, hog or sheep was in the enclosure today. The last infected animal was shot to death and buried in quicklime yesterday. In all 120 animals valued at $40,000 have been slain since the quarantine was ordered.

Scrubbing of the miles of pens, alleys, streets and runways with disinfectants continued today. The work of fumigation, it was expected, would be completed tomorrow.

are carried home drunk from these places. "I know what I am talking about," said the speaker, "because they see respectable appearing gentlemen there. They are lured on and soon get an appetite for all kinds of strong drink. I tell you we need an awakening here in Lowell."

The barrooms are not making all the drunkards today, the social clubs and the speakeasies are turning out more than their share.

Mr. Bowers spoke earnestly of the "Flying Squadron of America" that is soon to visit Lowell, and recommended that the cordial invitation extended to the Lowell reform club be accepted and that a committee be appointed to co-operate with a general committee or act as a part of it in receiving the "squadron" and in assisting in the public meetings. It was so ordered unanimously, and President Bowers, Treasurer R. J. Fullerton, Clerk J. J. Dunkley and Directors Frank Burns and John J. Preston were appointed a committee.

Spectators to police court and there was much speculation when the list was called and the offenders lined up before the court.

One Fined $100, Others $5 Each

The 20 defendants marched into the court room headed by Lawyer George Toye and when their names were called by Assistant Clerk Trull, Mr. Toye entered a plea of guilty for each one. James F. Moran being charged with maintaining a gaming nuisance and the others with being present where gaming instruments were found.

After a discussion between Lawyer Toye and State Officer Frederick F. Flynn, Judge Knight ordered Moran to pay a fine of $100 and the 19 other young men whose names were called, a fine of five dollars each. Moran appealed while his 19 companions paid their fines.

State Officer Flynn, who signed the complaint, said that he led the squad of officers which raided the house on the old County road, Willow Dale, shortly before 12 o'clock Saturday night. In describing the house, Mr. Flynn said that there was only one large room on the first floor with two sleeping rooms upstairs.

The state officer suggested to the court that the extreme penalty be imposed upon the defendant charged with conducting a gaming nuisance. He said that the house raided was fully equipped for a gaming establishment and that the defendant had learned to play cards and dice and had been conducting a gaming establishment for some time. Mr. Flynn stated that the department which he represented felt that a severe penalty was all that would stop the operations of such a place.

Lawyer Toye, speaking in behalf of the defendant, claimed that he could not afford to pay the fine and that he was more gambling at the house and asked for minimum fines. He said that the house had been conducted quietly and orderly and that it had been the custom of the court not to consider a minor gambling case so seriously as cases where the gambling had been conducted in a noisy and disorderly manner. He asked for a fine of $50. The defense argued that Town Counsel Fox, neither recommended nor requested that the court consider the case in such a manner. Judge Knight sprang a surprise when he said that he went out to Willow Dale one Sunday afternoon last summer as a result of complaints which had been made to him. He interviewed the parties interested, who promised that the gambling would be stopped. The court said that he understood it was a different house that was raided but the same parties were interested. The judge stated that in order to stop the game, heavy fines would have to be imposed.

THE SIEGEL TRIAL

Bankrupt Banker Appeared in Supreme Court Today

GENESEE, N. Y., Nov. 3.—Henry Siegel, bankrupt banker and head of a New York department store that bore his name, appeared in the supreme court here today ready to stand trial on an indictment charging him with grand larceny. The alleged offense was committed in New York but Siegel succeeded in securing a change of venue so that he might be away from the host of New York creditors.

Because of minor court business the local officials wished to get out of the way before starting on the case of Siegel. It was considered probable that the first of the extra panel of 100 takers might not be examined until this afternoon and the prosecution was on hand before Justice William V. Clark ascended the bench.

Arthur C. Train, assistant district attorney for New York county, and a corps of assistants brought into court a great quantity of documents and books taken from the office of the Siegel store and the private bank conducted in connection with it. Siegel is to be tried on an indictment charging him with the theft of less than $100.

The attorneys of the defense, headed by John B. Stanchfield of New York and Senator-elect Charles D. Newton of Genesee arrived in court shortly before Siegel, who came here from New York at midnight. He made the trip alone.

It was expected that two weeks would be required to complete the trial.

Frank E. Vogel, Siegel's associate in business who was to have been tried with him, died suddenly in New York a few weeks ago.

THE MEXICAN SITUATION

STATE DEPT. ADVICES DISCREDIT REPORTS THAT GUTIERREZ HAS RESIGNED

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—State department advice today discredited reports that General Gutierrez had resigned as provisional president of Mexico, or that he had been imprisoned for refusing to obey the Villa faction.

Official dispatches to the department from Aguas Calientes, dated late yesterday said the convention and Gutierrez were working in harmony and that Gutierrez might decide whether or not to resign. The dispatches sent last week to notify him of the action of the assembly in deposing him.

Five days which will expire at six o'clock tomorrow night were set for the reply. Carranza has, therefore, until tomorrow night to decide whether or not he will recognize the sovereignty of the convention or be ejected by the army under the convention's order. The state department had no report of the reported execution of two American cowboys, Bishop and Eccles, near Chihuahua.

Russians Push Forward With Surprising Speed—Japanese Army to Join British, French and

Next Week May Mark Definite Turn in Course of Events—German Attacks at Dixmude and Ypres Repulsed, Says French Report—Berlin Admits Russian Advance—Russian Fleet Renews Bombardment of Towns Along Coast of Asia Minor

HAVRE, France, Nov. 9.—The Belgian government issues the following:
"The situation at Nieuport is stationary, with slight advantage to us. On the remainder of the front almost complete quiet prevails. The enemy still occupies on the right bank of the Yser several points of support which have been cannonaded by our artillery. Dix-mude has been bombarded by the enemy."

CHIEF FEATURES OF TODAY'S EUROPEAN WAR NEWS IN BRIEF FORM

Three points stand out in the news of the great war. In Flanders the Germans, undaunted by past failures to break through the straits of Dover, have launched their expected new attack regarded by the allies as their supreme effort. In Russian Poland the immense armies of the Russian emperor are pushing forward with surprising speed, threatening the Germans on home soil. From Tokio comes the report that a Japanese army may be sent to the west to take its part with the British, French and Belgians in the struggles on the battlefields of Europe. Military observers agree that the war has entered upon a crucial stage and that the next week may mark a definite turn in the course of events. In French opinion the Germans must either win their way to the English channel or fall back. For that reason particular interest attached to today's official French statement which indicated the beginning of the onslaught for which the Germans have been preparing during the lull of the last few days. Fresh troops and new equipment from the Krupp works have been rushed to the line of battle from Dix-mude southward across the French border to Arras. The Germans have struck their first blows at Dixmude and in the region of Ypres and the French war office announces that their attacks have been repulsed. Slow progress for the allies along the greater part of the line from Dixmude to the Ys is claimed by the French. Over the remainder of the disputed territory across France the situation has not changed materially although the French report that new German attacks in Alsace have been checked.

The rapid clearing of Germans from Russian Poland has lent to the eastern campaign a degree of interest no less than that which attaches to the fighting in the west. Unofficial reports from Petrograd indicate that the vast Russian military organization is at last under way in full force and that the German and Austrian armies are being opposed by enormous Russian forces.
Berlin admits that the Russians are now well beyond the river Warthe, which roughly marks the eastern boundary of Germany. Unless it is checked, the Russian advance may have an important bearing upon the fighting in the west, possibly compelling Germany to withdraw troops from France and Belgium.

It is suggested, however, that Russia may delay her forward movement to accomplish her long cherished purpose of swinging down to the Bosphorus.

No developments of first importance are reported in the near east. The Russian general staff in Caucasasia announces that a Turkish attack on the Russian position at Koyukela was repulsed with heavy losses for the enemy. The Russian Black sea fleet has renewed bombardment of towns along the coast of Asia Minor.

The suggestion that Japan send an army to France has not yet taken tangible form but Tokio reports that the idea is attracting increasing attention and finds support in military circles. The sending of a Japanese army in the west would be a movement without precedence and one which emphasizes the extent of the conflict. Into it already have been drawn Turcos from Africa and Sikhs from India.

The Panama canal may be put to the usages of war for the first time should reports which reached New York today prove true. Seven British dreadnoughts were said to be on their way to the canal, presumably proceeding to the Pacific coast of South America to avenge the defeat of the British fleet of cruisers by Germany warship.

American military observers who thus far have been unable to view the fighting may now have a glimpse of the war. The French war office has relaxed its strict inhibition and will permit observers from neutral countries to go to the front.

LORD MAYOR'S PARADE

CEREMONIAL INAUGURATION OF SIR CHARLES JOHNSON IN LONDON TODAY

LONDON, Nov. 9.—Shorn of its picturesque pageantry, but with its imperial and military features unimpaired, the parade made its way through the streets today in the first part of the ceremonial inauguration of Sir Charles Johnson as Lord Mayor of London. In succession to Sir Thomas R. Bawter.

No English institution is more traditional than Lord Mayor's day, not with the exception of the gaudily decorated state coaches of the Lord Mayor and other city dignitaries. The parade today showed little color. The men were clad soberly in black and there was none of the brilliant display which usually distinguishes the procession.

Enormous crowds gathered early to obtain places from which to see the Lord Mayor's day. The Lord Mayor's day is a day of the most popular organizations in the parade consisted of several battalions of the Canadian troops now awaiting in England their opportunity to go to the front. Many of the London city regiments were represented and when a battalion of the London play which usually distinguishes the procession.

THE LUXURIOUS BOUDOIR

"What troubles you this morning?" asked Marie smilingly as Marjorie came in where Marie was at work.

"Oh nothing much," answered Marjorie. "Only I am having an awful time making up my room for winter. I discovered a lot of old rose brocade in the attic and have been trying to think of some way of utilizing it."

"If you are very luxurious in your taste for your boudoir," responded Marie, "there is nothing better than brocade to work with."

"To begin with, deep rose seems to be your favorite color, if one is to judge by the amount of rose that enters into the making of your lingerie ribbons and toilet accessories."

"There are desk sets of brocade, with much gold lace and tiny chiffon flowers for ornamentation, and these are made in rose, blue and gold."

"There are cushions of all shapes in the same fabric. Some of them are long, round rolls, some are flat things for the floor. Some have velvet or velvet foundations."

"You could make a fascinating little telephone box of silk gathered over a wire frame with three sides and a door across the fourth, and much lace and ribbon to serve as trimming. These boxes simply cover the telephone, and the door opens so that it can be closed when it is wanted. They are purely ornamental, to hide the ugly lines of the telephone. One suspects that certain simplicity-loving women would prefer the straight backings of the telephone to the fancy rosinia of the telephone box. But these women are quite at liberty to choose the unclothed telephone if they desire it."

"Then there are wonderful picture frames, round and oval and square, covered with brocade, a wreath of gold lace at the edge and white gold ribbons tied in a bow to hang the frame to the wall."

"And, of course, there are boxes of all sorts, to hold every toilet necessity. One that is especially attractive is an oblong box with a glass top fitted into a little enameled molding of white. Under the glass is a piece of brocade."

"Then there is a small drawer, the front faced with brocade, in which is a little hairdressing box, and on the glass top the accessories of the coiffure can be placed."

Women Should Take Warning

If the statement made at a New York assembly of women, that healthy American women are so rare that they are almost extinct, is true, it is time for the women of America to take warning and look to their health. It may be headaches, backaches, dragging down pains, nervousness, mental depression, that are tell-tale symptoms of some organic derangement for which Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—a simple remedy made from roots and herbs—is a specific and may be relied upon to restore women to a healthy normal condition.

Scots who recently distinguished themselves in France swung along to the shrill of the pipes the crowd halted them with enthusiasm. None of the soldiers were hailed with greater outbursts, however, than the members of the naval battalions who took part in the defense of Antwerp.

50 FLED TO STREET IN THEIR NIGHT CLOTHES

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Awakened by smoke from a fire which started in the basement and soon spread to the floor above, more than 50 lodgers in the historic Warren House, 8 Alston street, West End, fled to the street in their night clothes early yesterday morning. Many of the occupants of surrounding dwellings and of the Hotel Commonwealth were also awakened by the fire and went to the street lightly clad.

There are some 65 rooms in the historic mansion, and practically every one of them sheltered a lodger. Mrs. A. M. Maynard, proprietor of the lodging house, was notified about the fire, which was discovered by Mr. and Mrs. Edwards, occupying a room on the first floor.

Mrs. Maynard started arousing the lodgers. She knocked at every door on the first landing of the four-story brick structure and was ascending the second flight of stairs when she was overcome by smoke and collapsed. She narrowly escaped rolling downstairs, lodgers on the second floor reaching her just in time. They carried her downstairs to the street, where she was speedily revived.

Maritime thick black smoke had filled the entire building. This and the shouting of the excited lodgers on the lower floors, who were feeling down the staircases and out over the fire escapes in the rear and on the side, awakened the occupants of the upper floors and the last no time in getting out of the building.

Both wings of the building, as well as the rear, are equipped with iron fire escapes and over these the occupants of the two upper floors rushed to the street.

One of the lodgers on the top floor, a man named Tighe, was just back from a hospital, where he had undergone a serious operation. When awakened by the cry of "Fire," he bolted headfirst through a glass panel between his room and the general hall and landed in the hall in a heap. He was carried down one of the fire escapes and sent back to the hospital.

Two of the women lodgers, overcome partly by smoke and partly by excitement, fainted on the way down the front staircase and were carried out of the building.

When the fire was discovered a still alarm was sent in by telephone, bringing Chemical 1 to the scene. As the driver of the chemical drew up the hill and saw the extent of the fire he hurriedly sent in a call for more apparatus. The fire started in the party down the front staircase and was carried out of the building.

Several lines of hose were run into the building through laundry situated in the front of the basement, and after some time the work the firemen got the blaze under control, finally extinguishing it with a damage estimated by the police at $3000.

SUSPECT INCENDIARISM
Fire Which Destroyed Shed Owned by J. H. White Construction Company, Watertown, Causes $100 Loss

WATERTOWN, Nov. 8.—A shed on Alston street, owned by the J. H. White Construction company, was destroyed by fire last night. The damage amounted to $100. As this is the second fire within 24 hours in this section of the town and but a short distance from Brighton, where a twofold occurred last week, the authorities are of the belief that it is the work of an incendiary.

SCARE AT BOSTON
Fire at 415 a. m. Causes Occupants of Dwelling in Upper Part of Columbus Avenue to Prepare for Flight

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—A scare was caused early yesterday morning by a fire in the basement and first floor of the five-story brick building at 355 Columbus avenue, South End.

A policeman sent in an alarm from box 51 at 4:15 a. m. The fire started in the front of the basement and spread to the first floor and the second floor. The firemen made short work of the blaze, but worked for a half hour tearing out the walls and ceiling and extinguishing the last embers within these spaces. The damage was estimated at about $200.

INDUSTRIAL AND STORE NEWS

The Loomfixers union will meet tonight and all members are requested to attend.

Another one of these treats will be in store for the ladies at the Mathew Temperance Institute next Friday evening.

It is said that the Mears Adams building firm isn't going along as smoothly since Edmund Preston resigned.

The officers of the City Bowling league will hold a conference tonight at the Crescent alleys and a new secretary will be elected.

The bowling teams at the J. L. Chaffoy's are coming along in a rapid and enthusiastic run, high enough so that a girls' league will in all probability be started.

After a spirited contest at a local club yesterday, it was voted to make arrangements for a baseball team to be formed by the Y. M. C. A. of the Massachusetts mill in the light for the ladies.

Patrick Gallagher of the Hamilton Manufacturing Co. will be a likely candidate for one of the baseball teams to be formed by the Y. M. C. A. of the Massachusetts mill in the light for the ladies.

Charlie Anderson, secretary of the Trades and Labor council, gave a very interesting talk yesterday afternoon at a meeting held by Joseph Mullin, candidate for commissioner. He spoke for the labor element.

Patrick Flannery of the Hartford-Riglow Carpet Co. is hard at work making arrangements for the coming dance to be held under the auspices of the Falcon club. Pat says glide dancing will be featured.

Fred Smith of the Spaulding Shoe Co. gave his new Trumbull a thorough try-out over the road to Nashua and back again yesterday. Fred did not experience even one blowout to mar the afternoon's pleasure.

Agent Wadleigh of the Merrimack Manufacturing Co. would be pleased to meet one of the much talked of agents who are said to be around town. None of the local mills have benefited by a visit from one of the distinguished gentlemen as yet.

Fred Finnegan of the special delivery department at the local postoffice has been retained by Frank O'Day to look after the latter's interests. Frank is in the pink of condition and ought to make some of the good boys travel to keep pace with him in the roped arena this coming winter.

The A. G. Pollard Employees Savings & Loan association met recently and elected the following officers: Harry Dunlap, president; Charles A. Deland, treasurer; Lawrence W. Jordan, secretary for one year; W. W. Russell and Arthur P. LeVelle, directors for three years; John Orrell, auditor. The association has deposited in a local bank at the present time somewhere in the vicinity of $18,000, and in the six years of existence the association has had as high as $27,000 safely invested. For the first four years 7 percent was paid on the money invested, and at the present time 6 percent is being paid. The association has many depositors already but more are wanted, and it plans are successfully carried out by the efficient officers many more of the employees will have taken accounts before the winter is over. Get the habit and bank your savings. Everybody's doing it.

Time to Make Cotton Bags
Now, if ever, is the opportunity for ingeniously to be applied to the cotton manufacturing industry. In the production of fabrics made from cotton, the use of cotton bags is essential for all kinds of articles. For a long time there has been much complaint from the cotton manufacturers because the fabric of jute, of which the wrapper is composed, break with and with the cotton fibers in such a way as to cause a defect in the fabric which requires time to remedy. The same occurs in the woolen goods manufacture, and yet the cause is permitted to exist, when by the manufacture of a heavy and coarse fabric a cotton bag is produced which is not contaminated.

Cotton is and will be, a staple crop in certain parts of the world. By the application of horticultural principles in developing the plant, it is not impossible to vary the grain of the fiber, accordingly as the culture is for fine or coarse goods. Constant experiments should be afforded and conducted by the national government, and by the allied cotton industries, until the development of peculiar fibers is an exact science. The plant needs to be tamed and trained until it shall produce what its master desires. The gold for use of cotton fiber in various fabrics increases, and will increase, and will depend on the development of the fiber.

So far the crop of cotton has been a variable quantity. The demands of humanity of the world require that it should not be variable from year to year, other than a steady increase to keep step with the increase of humanity and the demands. Accordingly the planting of cotton should be encouraged, and directed, that certain lands peculiar to certain strains of the plant, should continue to be devoted to the culture of the cotton plant. The variation of the staple crops of a locality is right and proper, but it should not be based on spite, and the attempt to bail the cotton market the next year. The production of cotton fiber is a science, and the attempt to bail the cotton market the next year. The production of cotton fiber is a science, and the attempt to bail the cotton market the next year.

Now is the time to begin the campaign for merchantable cotton of various kinds for various purposes, and the chatter about restricting the acreage next year be stopped in the beginning. Instead, a plan should be promulgated to make use in some way or other of every pound of cotton that can be produced in this country, and the remainder be sold abroad.

One manufacturing concern in this city is making cotton bags aside from its other lines, and according to reports is meeting with much success. This concern now has a large order on hand for cotton bags which will keep many hands busily employed throughout the winter months.

FIERCE BAYONET CHARGE
TWO BRITISH REGIMENTS STOP GERMAN ADVANCE AT YPRES—REPAIR BREAK IN OWN LINE

LONDON, Nov. 8.—A despatch to the Times from Dunkirk, France, filed Saturday night, says:

"After a desperate attack lasting the whole week the German attempt to break the allied line at Ypres has failed."

"It may be admitted that the position at Ypres two days ago was serious. The town itself was bombarded by the Germans with extraordinary violence, and under the three cannonading the allies had to withdraw from the town, which became 'No Man's Land,' across which the shells from both sides burst."

"The Germans made a superhuman and final effort under cover of a fierce bombardment of the British position. They had prepared a determined onslaught. Waves of men were launched in succession at chosen points on our front."

"The assault was met in a supreme way. Two regiments, one Scottish and one of the Guards, went with bayonets to stem the advance. It was the most terrible bayonet charge of the whole war. It succeeded, the break in the line was repaired and the German attack was once more driven back."

"That was their last effort. Today the Germans are dropping an occasional shell into Ypres, but their attacks have ceased. They are now assaulting the allies' line at Arras, 40 miles to the south, but not with the same fury as their exhibition in the onslaught of the past week."

"So fierce has been the fighting around Ypres that the casualties of the Germans are believed to have reached the enormous figure of 100,000, though these figures may prove to have been exaggerated."

ESCAPED BRITISH SEARCH
Three German Officers, With Passports from Swiss Consulate in New York, Reach Copenhagen

LONDON, Nov. 8.—A despatch from Copenhagen quotes the Politiken as saying that three German officers, wearing civilian dress, arrived safely at Copenhagen on the Danish steamer, Esrom, which sailed from Baltimore on Oct. 4. According to the paper, the officers were provided with what purported to be passports issued by the Swiss consulate general in New York. British warships in the Atlantic searched the Esrom without discovering the disguised Germans.

BANGOR WANTS TEAM
MAINE CITY HOPES TO BE IN NEW ENGLAND LEAGUE NEXT YEAR—SAYS HAYBRILL IS A LEMON

"I heard directly from a Bangor newspaper man the other day that in his opinion Bangor would not be ready for New England baseball this year, although he thought that it might a year later."

Whoever the newspaper man may be—and it was nobody on the News—he may be credited with an absurd statement. If ever there was a city just about ready for some real baseball and ready to support it to the very limit, that city is Bangor, Maine. We probably won't get it, to be sure, because the magnates of the New England league have a sublime faculty for picking lemons. Apparently they would rather have the league starve in Havre de Grace or Pittsford than grow fat and prosper in Bangor and St. John.

Mr. Owen then comments upon the fact that St. John may be admitted to the league very sensibly.

"It seems to me that if St. John is taken in, Bangor surely ought to be. For that would cut the distance in two. But a clean jump from Portland to New Brunswick is pretty nearly big league traveling. If Bangor is not available as my informant feels that city has stated, the most available city it seems to be is Worcester which with its Sunday baseball and nearness to Worcester ought to be a pretty good proposition."

Mr. Owen's "informant" to the contrary may set his mind to rest about Bangor being "available." It could and would support a team in epicurean style—no question whatever about that.—Bangor News.

DESTROY FORTS

Allies' Bombardment of Dardanelles Effective

—Turks Fortify Aivali

LONDON, Nov. 8.—The correspondent of Reuters' Telegram company at Athens says: "Two British destroyers bombarded the telegraph stations at Samsoussak and Ayasmat. The Turks sank a Greek steamer that was flying the British flag at Aivali."

"The Greek inhabitants of Smyrna are feeling panic-stricken. A British destroyer went to Aivali to embark the British consul, but the Turks refused to permit this."

"It is stated that Forts Sedibahr and Kunkaleh, in the Dardanelles, have been completely destroyed by the bombardments. The Turks, under the direction of German officers, are hastily evacuating Aivali."

The Frankfurter Zeitung learns from Constantinople that the Russian Black sea fleet yesterday left Sebastopol, proceeding in an easterly direction. Two Turkish submarines cruised in the Aegean sea, later returning to Constantinople without having sighted any hostile warships.

A. F. OF L. CONVENTION
34TH ANNUAL SESSION OPENED AT PHILADELPHIA TODAY—TO CONTINUE TWO WEEKS

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 9.—The 34th annual convention of the American Federation of Labor was opened here today to continue for two weeks. Prior to the assembling of the delegates there was a short street parade in which nearly all the delegates participated. The city of Philadelphia appropriated $25,000 to assist in defraying the expenses of the convention and entertaining the delegates.

Jurisdictional fights which have featured some of the past conventions of the federation are likely to take up some of the time of the present gathering. The status of American employees in the Panama canal zone will also be discussed. The most important contest over the seating of delegates in that in the United Garment Workers of America. One set of delegates applying to be seated is headed by the old general officers of the union and the other by a new set of officers elected at a convention held in Nashville last month.

RIVERS AND HARBORS CONGRESS
WASHINGTON, Nov. 8.—Senator Randall today named Dec. 9, 10 and 11 as dates for the annual meeting of the national rivers and harbors congress in Washington. President Wilson has been invited to make the opening address.

CUTTON FEATURES ACT
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 8.—The secretary of the treasury and secretary of agriculture announced that beginning at 11 a. m. Thursday, Nov. 12, 1914, public hearings will be held in room 43 of the New National Museum building in the city of Washington on the rules and regulations to be promulgated by their respective departments in accordance with the terms of the United States cotton futures act. Tentative drafts of the regulations of both secretaries have been printed and will be widely distributed prior to the hearings. As these regulations become a part of the law, the departments desire to give every opportunity to all interested parties to discuss them fully before they are promulgated, that no unnecessary machinery may be created or needless limitations imposed upon the trade. The secretaries also wish to learn the opinion of the trade as to the best methods of enforcing the act.

While the act does not come into force until Feb. 15th and the cotton exchanges may make any form of contract they choose in the interim, the secretaries desire to set at rest as promptly as possible all questions as to the method of procedure after that date.

The official cotton standards to be promulgated by the secretary of agriculture will hereafter form the basis of future trading, and a set of the proposed standards will be exhibited at the hearings.

Cotton producers and representatives of their organizations, cotton merchants and factors, the officers and members of cotton exchanges and representatives of spot markets, bankers, spinners, and all others interested in the cotton industry are invited to be present and participate in these hearings. Opportunity to speak will be afforded to as many as possible, and written suggestions, criticisms or questions from those who are unable to attend will be welcomed and carefully considered.

The correspondence received by the secretary of agriculture indicates that there is widespread misapprehension as to the exact extent of his powers and duties under this act, and it is especially desired that these points be cleared up as many of these points as possible so that there may be a minimum of misunderstanding or friction when the act and regulations actually go into effect.

THREE COUSINS ARRESTED
NEWTON, Nov. 8.—Three men became involved in a dispute with a crowd of their fellow countrymen in Newton last night, and before it ended fists, knives and clubs were used by several hundred excited persons. A hurry call for the police brought the patrol wagon and the officers arrested the three men, Antonio, Bigio and Leardo, Antonio, who are cousins and live together at 100 Gardner street.

Antonio Antonillo, according to the police, pulled a knife when approached by Officer Goode. The latter produced a revolver and his man surrendered. He was charged with assault with a dangerous weapon and was released in $200 bail. The other two, charged with assault and battery, were bailed in $50 each.

All three bore marks of the fracas. Antonio Antonillo was slashed across the nose, Loretto had a cut on the back of his head and Bigio was badly lacerated by a kick in the side. The three men were walking along Adams street and met the other group at the corner of Middle street.

MATRIMONIAL

SULLIVAN GIRL'S BODY FOUND IN MAINE WOODS

PRESQUE ISLE, Me., Nov. 8.—Lying face downward, with one arm folded across her breast and her long brown hair tumbled about her head and clad only in her nightgown, the body of little Mildred Sullivan, the Houlton, Me., school girl, was exhumed today from the crude wooden grave in which it was hastily buried a few hours after her death here in the night of Sept. 4, subsequent to an alleged illegal operation.

The grave was opened under the direction of Coroner Floyd Smith of Carleton and in the presence of a jury which he had gathered to conduct an inquest. After an inspection by the jury, consisting of George R. Pipes, Harry B. Holmes, Harry R. Pipes, Wilfred Thompson, C. J. Hanson and M. E. Hayford, all of Presque Isle, the body was removed to the undertaking rooms of J. L. Smith, where the autopsy was held.

The post-mortem examination was conducted by Medical Examiner Boone, who has had much experience in this line and Dr. F. H. Jackson of Houlton, assisted by Doctors P. K. Kilburn and T. L. Putnam of this place. The body was badly decomposed. Their report was expected to be ready in season to begin the inquest this afternoon. The body probably will be taken to Houlton on the night train for burial, by her father, George Sullivan.

FATHER OF GIRL COLLAPSED
PRESQUE ISLE, Me., Nov. 8.—The body of Mildred Sullivan has been found.

Alice Pelletier and Perley Pelletier, a brother, are locked up here, charged with being accessories before the fact in her murder.

Kate O. Michaud, the nurse, will be arrested at her home in Wallagrass on the same charge.

Briefly, these were the developments yesterday in the sensational mystery which has stirred Aroostook county since the disappearance, early in September, of the pretty 16-year-old Houlton school girl.

For weeks the authorities have been working more or less in the dark because of their inability to prove that the Sullivan girl was dead. Then came a full confession by Kate Michaud, according to the officers, and events moved rapidly.

Dr. Lionel E. Dudley, already out on bail awaiting action by the grand jury on a charge of having performed an illegal operation on the missing girl, was arrested Saturday in Houlton for alleged murder, which, according to the warrant, occurred Sept. 4. He is now in Houlton jail, awaiting a preliminary hearing, and probably will be arraigned Tuesday or Wednesday.

On Saturday also, guided by information furnished by the Michaud woman, a posse searched a strip of woods in this town for the body.

Darkness caused a postponement of the work until yesterday, when nearly 100 men and boys began to comb the woodlot in question, as the authorities felt sure that the body was just where Miss Michaud had located it in her confession.

Not Bred Box to Cover Body
Late yesterday morning success rewarded the searchers, when a grave hardly two feet deep and evidently hollowed out with a stick, was found in the woods, which are on the river road, and a nude and one-half outside of the village.

The body was clothed in a night robe and buried without even a box to protect it. The officers proceeded far enough to make sure that they had succeeded in their hunt and a guard was placed over the grave. Today the remains will be removed from the ground and the medical examining Dr. S. W. Boone of Presque Isle, and Dr. Jackson of Houlton will perform an autopsy, to be followed at once by an inquest.

Father Collapses at Sight
The posse which found the body was led by Fred Melville, an uncle of the dead girl, and her father, George Sullivan, was with the party when the body was found. He collapsed when he recognized a ring on the left hand of his daughter.

It was the discovery of this ring that convinced the officers that they had succeeded and they ordered the men to cease to remove the earth and mounted the deputies as a guard over the grave.

The confession of Kate Michaud came into the possession of County Atty. Bernard Archibald last Friday and he at once summoned Sheriff Elmer E. Bryson, with whom he outlined a campaign of action.

Body Hurled to Lonely Grave
According to the officers, Miss Michaud declared Mildred Sullivan died in the Pelletier home about 11 o'clock on the night of Sept. 4, and that an hour later the body was buried by Dr. Dudley, Alice Pelletier and herself, having been removed to the woods in the doctor's runabout.

It is assumed here that Perley Pelletier, who is but 17, is charged with aiding in the removal of the body from the Pelletier home, and he may also have helped when the dying girl was taken to his parents' home.

According to Miss Michaud the girl's clothing was burned in the range at the Pelletier house on the night that she died.

The stomach will be removed from the body and sent to Bowdoin college, where chemists will examine its contents for poison.

Alice Pelletier and her brother, when seen at the village lockup last night, where they await removal to the jail at Houlton, refused to make any comment on the finding of the body or the alleged confession made by the Michaud woman.

The turnkey at the jail in Houlton yesterday informed Dr. Dudley that Miss Sullivan's body had been found, but the physician replied:

"Well, they have nothing on me; I can easily prove my innocence."

Sheriff Bryson regards the finding of the body at this time as most fortunate.

"Had Kate Michaud not confessed until after snow had come, which is likely to happen any day now, we would never have been able to locate the grave," he said last night.

Ing will be provided in some adjacent structure.

The plans for holding the regular meetings after noon and evening of Sunday, November 22; Monday, the 30th, and Tuesday, December 1, in Associate hall were approved.

The number of speakers has been increased from nine to 12. Statesmen, lecturers, authors, clergymen, educators and, with the nine musicians each day, will present a new group of four speakers, with soloist, pianist and musical director.

A GAMING RAID
Police Arrest Twenty-three Young Men for Sunday Gambling

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Twenty-three young men were arrested in a raid on the top floor of the building, 10 Mt. Vernon street, South End, last night on a charge of gambling on the Lord's day.

Sergeant William Carey, with Patrolmen Daniel Crowley and Max Therman in plain clothes, swooped down on the place at 8 o'clock and rounded up the crowd and the shooting craps, according to the police.

Entrance into the place was made by one of the patrolmen, and he was followed by the sergeant and his companions, who smashed down doors and broke through barricades on their way upstairs. When the police reached the gaming room, which was part of a tenement occupied by Jacob Miller and his wife, a jump was made for the rear windows, but the height above the New Haven railroad tracks was too great and further flight out of the question.

KILLED BY OWN GUN
FLOYD COLBY, 15 YEARS OLD, FELL FROM STUMP WHILE LOOKING FOR DOG

PITTSFIELD, Nov. 8.—The second fatality in two days as the result of the hunting season being on, occurred yesterday afternoon when Floyd Colby, 15 years old, of this city, was accidentally shot while hunting at Hinsdale and died two hours later.

Last night in this city Amelia Caspella was shot while looking over a shotgun with Clifford Rhodes of Dalton, the latter being held on a manslaughter charge as a result of the accident.

Was out with his brother-in-law, Andrew J. Culver, and Herman Jenks of Washington. He stepped onto a stump to see where his dog was, slipped and fell, his shotgun was fired and charges from both barrels entered his groin. Colby lived until after he had arrived at Hillcrest hospital, 10 miles from the scene of the affair.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER
The Cogger residence in Moody street was the scene of a most enjoyable event, when the many friends of Miss Mary Burns, popular young lady of Pawtucketville, who is soon to become a happy bride, tendered her a miscellaneous shower. The bride-to-be received many beautiful gifts of cut glass, silver and linen which evidenced the esteem in which she is held by the jolly party.

The varied program consisted of a solo "Blossoms from a Traveller," by Miss Mary Burns, who possesses a sweet soprano voice, and selections were also rendered by the Misses Hattie Keefe, Helen McCann, Allen Dowling and Alice Traversy. A humorous dialogue entitled "A Rise in Life," by Miss Katherine Dolan, Miss Maude Kelley was loudly applauded and a speech on Woman Suffrage by Miss Mary O'Hara was greatly enjoyed by all present.

Misses Louise Cogger, Loretta Keefe, Mae Cogger and Mrs. William McKenna, who presided at the affair, the evening gave many selections on the piano, and contributed generously toward making the program an enjoyable one.

A sumptuous repast was served by Misses Laura and Katherine Cogger in the dining room which was artistically decorated for the occasion with pink roses and hearts and festoons of pink and white.

The party broke up at midnight wishing Mary much happiness and prosperity in her new life.

Those responsible for the success of the affair were Miss Jennie Cogger and Miss Little Landry.

NORTH CHELMSFORD
The celebrant at both mazes at St. John's church, North Chelmsford, yesterday was Rev. E. C. Mitchell, who also delivered the sermon, taking for his text, "True Contrition." In the course of his remarks he explained that it was absolutely necessary to cast pride to the winds in order to become a true Christian.

The immaculate conception sodality held a meeting yesterday afternoon after the Sunday school session and all who were recently confirmed were admitted into the society. Fr. Mitchell delivered an address, which proved to be very instructive. The officers of the society are: Miss Loretta Wahl, president; Miss Mary Garvey, first assistant; Miss Gertrude Quigley, second assistant; Miss Mary Daley, secretary.

ENGAGEMENT ANNOUNCED
The engagement of Miss Margaret A. Teague, daughter of the late Patrick and Mary Teague and teacher of catholicism at the Lowell high school, to Dr. Edward A. Cahill, son of Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Cahill, 359 High street, was announced last evening at a family dinner, 150 Main street, Pawtucketville. The date of the wedding ceremony will be announced later.

Miss Teague, since taking up her work at the high school has become extremely popular with the students and her withdrawal from the teaching staff would be regretted. Her ability as a teacher was reflected in the excellent showing of her pupils and her winning personality gave her a power which she exercised to the advantage of the students. Under her management, drill has been established among the freshmen classes, and her exhibitions at the annual field days have aroused special interest among the public. Miss Teague prepared for her high school work at Dr. Sargent's school of physical culture in Cambridge, which she attended after graduating from the high school.

STATE ELECTION RETURNS
SHOW THAT PROHIBITION, SOCIALIST-LABOR AND SOCIALIST FALL SHORT

BOSTON, Nov. 8.—Unofficial state election returns from more than four-fifths of the cities and towns of Massachusetts, tabulated last night, showed that the three minor parties—prohibition, socialist-labor and socialist—fall short of polling votes enough to give them standing as political parties.

The prohibition party made the best comparative showing, increasing the vote for its gubernatorial candidate, Alfred H. Evans, by more than 2,000 over last year, when the vote for governor was 2015.

The socialist candidate for governor, Samuel C. Roberts, has received 7470 votes from cities and towns already reported, as against a total of 9025 votes for the socialist candidates for governor last year.

The socialist-labor candidate, Arthur E. Reimer, received 1387 votes this year, according to present returns, as against a total of 1932 last year.

THINK BEFORE YOU VOTE

Any voter who is not positively vicious in his motives will readily admit that the Lowell municipal council calls for men of business acumen, capacity and character. So, also, will any reasonable man admit that the present body is not conspicuous for these qualities. We may have in our governing body, but several members of the municipal council are not the stamp of men that an important private business would put in charge of its affairs. Yet, no business interests in the city places more real responsibility in the hands of an individual than the voters of Lowell place in the hands of its municipal council, individually and collectively.

A pretty good test, and an altogether fair one, in deciding your choice for commissioner is the degree of success each aspirant has had in his personal affairs. Surely there is good logic in the reflection that the individual who has not made a success of his own business cannot be expected to give competent service in the most difficult tasks of a large community. Lowell, like every other city of its size and importance, should not elect to office professional politicians, men who live by politics, men who are parasites on the body politic and who are notorious failures in the business world. All such aspirants to municipal positions should be repudiated without delay.

The calibre of men selected to run the affairs of a city is quite as important as the form of the city charter. Lowell made a change in its system of government that was expected to usher in great reforms, but general disappointment has resulted. Why? Because the men selected under the new charter have been, in many cases, no better than those elected under the old. When the administrators are incompetent, inefficient, self-seeking or inactive or perfunctorily active, the city is the sufferer.

We have not been electing a sufficient number of honest, competent, consistent men to conduct the affairs of the city as they should be conducted, and we shall not do so until voters think well before voting and then vote with a clear conception of their duty. It is high time that we should have a council composed of active, able and thoroughly honest administrators—men who would give the people an adequate return for the public expenditure and safeguard the good name of the city. If we go on as we have been going the time is not far distant when men of character and ability will refuse absolutely to enter municipal politics. It is hard enough to get representative men as it is, and it is for the best interests of the voter as well as for the lasting good of the city that we should select the most honest and capable from our list of candidates. It is not a difficult matter to separate the political mountebanks, the vote-buyers from the men of real honesty and ability. Lowell is a comparatively small place and the record of most of them, or all of them, is open to analysis and study. It is the duty of all voters to look the field over thoroughly and to vote for the best candidates, putting personal merit and the public weal before any undesirable motives in making their selection. Lowell calls for the very best; let us give her the best we can, and await the result with confidence.

THE RAILROAD PLEA

There can be no doubt that the railroads put up an excellent argument in pleading for permission to advance their freight rates and, with a proper understanding of their needs, public opinion would in all probability support them. Still, the opposition is strong and the arguments used by the opponents are by no means slight.

Summed up, the latest argument against the railroads, as seen by a prominent railroad journal is: "That all of the business interests of the country are suffering from the effects of the war in Europe, and that to allow the railroads to increase their rates would be to permit them to shift their share of the burden to the shoulders of other classes of concerns."

The plea set up by the roads to combat this is worthy of study and an impartial analysis will show its fairness in the main. There are many important circumstances which differentiate the roads from all other classes of business concerns, and their needs are in many ways unique.

In the first place, all other business regulates its charges or prices to suit fluctuations of trade, but, during long times or had times the railroad charges are fixed. Since the war began, practically all branches of business have made a higher scale of prices but the railroads have been obliged to keep to their former rates, even though their profits were decreasing steadily. Thus, in many ways the roads have already paid their share of the war sacrifice and it is hardly fair to request that they should be compelled to bear more.

Furthermore, though some rates in a general adjustment should be lowered, instead of being raised, the average is lower than at any time during the past twenty years.

It brands that practically all public utilities are in the same class as the railroads, being obliged to keep their rates stationary by regulation. But, as railroad apologists point out, most public utilities are monopolies and not subject to competition while railroads have to compete constantly for business. Another important fact is that while their charges have been kept stationary, their traffic has fluctuated considerably.

An indisputable fact, and one for which the public is largely responsible, is that railroads have been obliged to pay wage increases periodically irrespective of their financial standing. Owing to the nature of their business and the public attitude they cannot permit labor disputes to result in strikes, and they are consequently obliged to meet the demands of groups of employees, amounting to a great deal in the aggregate. All of these increases have decreased their income and, besides, they are constantly obliged by legislation to provide for better equipment, some innovation in equipment, changes in working conditions or other change entailing loss of revenue or increased expenses.

Possibly the most telling charge against the railroads is that, while asking for rate increases, many of them have paid high dividends. This is one of the least defensible phases of the entire matter, though there are also two sides to the argument. It is very possible that a sudden reduction in dividends or their elimination for a period would so impair public confidence that the stability of the property would be endangered. The subject in its entirety is a delicate one, but there is more justice in the plea of the roads than the unthinking individual is ready to admit.

NEW TULIP BEDS

Superintendent Kernan of the park department has tried an interesting experiment and one that ought to be watched with interest in setting out tulip beds on the commons, intending to base his activities along the same direction on the result. If the beds be unmoistened and not abused, a systematic scheme of decorative gardening will be adopted in future; if the flowers be interred with, the scheme will be abandoned. There is much in the plan to recommend it, and it is most desirable that all who use the commons should understand the significance of the new flower beds. It is a strange fact and one to be regretted that hoodlums in parks and other public places will set out to destroy or impair what has been provided for them and for their parents as well as for everybody else. Their action is due to criminal thoughtlessness or utter depravity, but it is by no means uncommon. It is to be hoped that the experiment of our park department will reveal that those who use the Lowell commons have a well-defined respect for public rights and for public property.

LAWS LOOSELY FRAMED

The announcement that Harvard had abandoned its intended red flag parade, owing to a possible conflict with a recent legislative act, was generally commended, though the public would not be very severe on the college boys had they put the law to the test. The prohibition of the red flag was a matter that everybody thoroughly understood when it was introduced into the legislature—as well as the necessity for it—and still the law was framed in a manner that now attracts ridicule. Everybody knows that the regulation was not passed to prohibit college parades whether flying flags of all the colors of the rainbow or not, but that it was precisely what the statute has done with regard to Harvard. Even with its technical faults, however, it is well that the law should be respected while in force; the next session should either amend it or repeal it. Incidentally the incident should be a warning to our legislators to so word their bills that legislative statutes will not do or undo things that were never intended.

SHORT OF FARMERS

A result of the European war which will bring great hardship to Canada is the restriction of English emigration towards the farm lands of the north-west. The Dominion had made plans previous to the conflict to open up over five million acres of virgin soil, but it is likely that the scheme will have to be abandoned, owing to the shortage of farm help. The shifting population of Canada has in a great measure enlisted for the war, especially in the larger cities, and farmers cannot supply their labor needs, even at vastly increased wages. Canada cannot hope to draw from this country as there is a constant shortage of farm help here and as the government has done everything possible to make farm possibilities in our western

A sensible man is a fellow who always agrees with you when you make a statement.

A woman will sit down to have a good cry over something and then every body who she has forgotten what it was that she was going to worry about.

A man always hollers murder if his wife buys herself anything new to wear and he hollers twice as loudly if she looks shabby when she goes out with him.

A plain ordinary man finds it hard to laugh at the way the women primp when he recalls that some of his own sex sleep with their mustaches put up in his curlers.

Someone who has taken the pains to look up all the ways we suffer from the war announces that the war has wrought havoc in the canary bird market. Contrary to general belief, Dickey birds run from the Canary Islands, but from the Hart's mountains of Germany. They are bred in the cottages of the peasantry, and the export trade is considerable. One New York firm ordinarily imports a hundred thousand canary birds in a year. The war stopped the supply so that genuine canaries are almost out of the market. It is whispered that English sparrows popularly known as being substituted but that is a scandal that does not touch the respectable dealers. In times of peace the birds sell at from $15 to $30 a dozen. This is wholesale, and the individual birds are retailed at prices governed by the particular merits of the particular bird. Male birds being the better singers, and worth twice as much as females, and also have a great deal to do with the market price. Canary birds are shipped from Germany, in lots of 100 to 500. Each bird has an individual wooden cage. An attendant makes the voyage across the Atlantic with the birds, and a few days before the bird seed and bird-holed eggs, and they are given plenty of fresh water.

There's an errand that's a callin' and a-tuggin' at my feet, To climb up where the hill top and the top of the heaven meet, And I want to be a-tuggin' down the road and up the hill, Where the colors of the autumn seem to blaze across the world, I want to stop to hear the fieldlark call, And I want to mock the squirrels as they make the trees are straight as tall, I just want to go a-dawlin', that's the way I want to go, I am wild to see an errand, but I want to do it slow.

I'll go wadin' up the hillside, till I get wadin' up as high As I can get and I'm standin' out against the summer sky, And I want the sun to shine down on me, And I want the wind to blow, And I want the fieldlark callin' in a sort of autumn gloom, Then I'll go on up the hill, face up, right beneath the autumn sky, And with all the autumn glory of the heaven in my eyes, Thank you, I want to live in a world that is so fair, As this world is when the autumn spreads its tints across the air.

of wanderlust, but the fact that they are far from home, that they have no employment, that they are without funds, and finally that they are banded together suggests many varieties of future crime. Were the authorities in all cities vigilant in the vicinity of freight yards and railroad properties generally many crimes would be prevented and many criminal careers would be checked before it becomes too late.

PEKIN, Nov. 9.—The German legation makes known that it has received a telegram from Tsingtau, the transmission of which was made possible by the courtesy of the Japanese, stating that the husbands at Tsingtau of all the German women who found refuge in Peking are unharmed.

As there are about 100 women and children here, the legation accepts the message as indicating that the German casualties were few.

Great relief that the struggle is over is expressed, though one of the most prominent women of the German colony upon hearing the news patriotically declared her regret that her husband had not been able to fulfill the command of the German emperor.

MAN SHOT IN LEG BY HUNTERS—CATTLE QUARANTINE BEING ENFORCED

Andrew Shubanny, living on what is known as the O'Day place in Ellipton, was shot in the left leg and arm Saturday afternoon by two hunters who were invading his property. The reason for the shooting is alleged to be the failure of Mr. Shubanny to return to one of the sportsmen his hunting license, which was shown by the hunter to prove his right to be out in search of game. Both men it is said are known and will be brought before the court to answer for assault. Mr. Shubanny's wounds while painful are not serious.

Grape-Nuts

This healthful, appetizing food is made of selected wheat and malted barley. It contains those vital mineral salts, so necessary to health, that are often lacking in the every-day diet.

The partial malting of the barley, with the long baking (about 20 hours), makes Grape-Nuts a food that digests easily and quickly.

LATE WAR NEWS SLIGHT CUT FATAL

GERMANY MAKING PREPARATIONS FOR A WINTER CAMPAIGN

LONDON, Nov. 9.—A Copenhagen despatch to the Central News says: "According to a Berlin telegram, Germany is making enormous preparations for a winter campaign with tents, sleighs and for outfits for an entire army."

KAISER HOLDS COUNCIL OF WAR—CHIEFS TROOPS INVADE SILEZIA

Kaiser holds council of war over threatening situation in east. Russian cavalry enters Silesia. Dutch correspondents report Germans are preparing to retreat in Belgium.

German cruiser Geier interned at Honolulu. Two forts in the Dardanelles reported destroyed by bombardment.

Turkish Greek steamer flying British flag. RUSSIANS BOMBARD SEAPORTS OF ASIA MINOR—FLEET LEAVES FOR EAST

LONDON, Nov. 9.—A despatch from Berlin states that the Russian Black sea fleet has left Sebastopol for the east, says a central news correspondent at Copenhagen. The Russians have bombarded Kholm and Englu on the coast of Asia Minor.

10,000 MORE GERMAN AT BRUGES—ALLIES DROP BOMBS

LONDON, Nov. 9.—The Amsterdam correspondent of the Star says: The Telegrams correspondent at Sluis, Netherlands, says that on Sunday before daybreak a British or French aircraft dropped a bomb on Bruges apparently destined for the railroad station. During the night 10,000 Germans arrived at Bruges. Between Ostend and Nieuport all is quiet.

EXPECT DESPERATE ATTEMPT TO DEFEAT ALLIES BETWEEN DIXMUDA AND YPRES

PARIS, Nov. 9.—The full in the fighting in the environs of Dixmuda and Ypres is only the prelude of a further effort into which all the forces the Germans can raise will be concentrated. The last attack made with nine army corps failed. The next, it is expected, will be made by even larger forces. All advice from the front indicates this clearly. The reports that the Germans are gathering an important army at Impermunster, the affirmation that the battle against France must be decided at an early date, the orders given to the German generals to break through before the end of the month and the various movements of troops observed by aviators in Belgium all tend to show the purpose of the Germans.

All of the military writers agree that the effort will be of the first importance to the Germans. If unsuccessful, it is contended here it will be the last the Germans will be able to make, as they will recognize the necessity of falling back on a line, which as is their custom will have been fortified in advance with the greatest possible care. They will, therefore, strain every nerve and sinew in this battle of Ypres and the fighting is likely to be of a character even more intense than anything that has gone before.

Paul Wells, 17, School Athlete, is Victim of Blood Poisoning

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—Boston English school students and school football players will learn with regret of the death of Paul Wells of the senior class, aged 17, son of Frank L. Wells of 504 Park street, Dorchester. Young Wells died at 6 o'clock last night from an infection of a cut received in the recent English high-Salem football game.

A week ago Saturday Wells was full-back for English high against Salem high at Salem and played the best game of his career. After the game the cut in his elbow was discovered, but appeared to be of no great consequence.

Blood poisoning developed and last Tuesday it was announced that he could not play for English high in the game with Jacobus Arts high, but at that time it was not expected that the case was so serious.

Young Wells was very popular. He was a senior at English high and expected to enter Andover or Exeter after he completed his work next June. Not only was Wells an excellent football player, but he was a clever track athlete. He was at one time a member of the B. A. A. midge relay teams which made such a good showing four years ago both at Mechanic's building and at Providence meets. For the last two years he had been a member of the Boston English high football and track teams. In the Boston high school meets he captured many prizes because of his ability as a hurdler.

There is a possibility that the football game between Boston English high and Milton high, scheduled for next Wednesday afternoon at Milton, will be called off, as Wells will be buried that day.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank L. Wells, and a brother George, who was prominent in athletic work at Dorchester high a few years ago.

CALLS TEDDY DEAD ONE

REV. H. S. JOHNSON DOUBTS THAT ROOSEVELT COULD BE ELECTED MAYOR OF OYSTER BAY

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—"Col. Roosevelt is dead, politically, and I doubt very much if he could be elected mayor of Oyster Bay," said the Rev. Herbert S. Johnson of the Warren Avenue Baptist church in his sermon last night. His subject was: "The End of Col. Roosevelt."

Mr. Johnson doubted whether the former president ever would run for office again. "He probably will continue to have a moral influence on the country," he said, "but politically he is no more."

In speaking of the reasons why Col. Roosevelt "appeared to have lost his grip," Mr. Johnson said that he believed the voters think the colonel was inefficient, and a traitor to the party which made him and labored more for personal interest.

"I always believed in Col. Roosevelt until I had occasion to go to him personally as a member of the Congregational association," continued Mr. Johnson. "He did not appear to take any interest in the atrocities in the Congo, and from that interview until now I have always felt that he was heartless, but, of course, I may be mistaken."

NOTED ART TREASURES

FAMOUS EUROPEAN PAINTINGS MAY BE BROUGHT TO PITTSBURGH FOR SAFE KEEPING

PITTSBURGH, Nov. 9.—Some of the noted art treasures of Europe may be brought to Pittsburgh for safe keeping until the close of the war. Dr. W. J. Holland, curator of the Carnegie museum here said today that within the last two months he had been requested by several collectors whose priceless objects include some of the most important works of master painters and sculptors in the world to become the custodian of them until the war is over. The curator replied to one request that if the works can be brought here they will be guarded until they can be returned. The collection, it was said, was in one of the European capitals.

LOYD T. BOYD, CHARLES S. FORSYTH AND MRS. ALICE MURRAY ARE THE VICTIMS

THE RABBIT'S FOOT

BY GWEN SPARS

HOW TO SLEEP

Are you getting the full benefit of your night's sleep, or are you restless and disturbed by bad dreams? Do you awake refreshed for the day's mental activities, or are you tired and weary feeling all the morning?

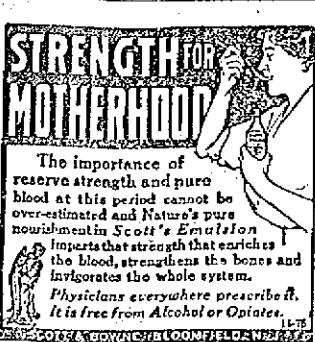

There is no such thing as that tired morning feeling to the woman who sleeps properly. She should awake completely rested, and mentally refreshed.

The proper position in sleeping is misunderstood by the majority of people. The only correct and beneficial sleeping position is secured by lying flat on the back, the hands down at the sides, the limbs extended at full length, and the whole body relaxed.

To sleep on the left side is harmful to the heart, habitual sleeping on the right side spoils the contour of the face, and sleeping on the stomach causes indigestion. The arms should never be thrown above the head.

Four hours of sleep in the correct posture is more beneficial than eight hours in a cramped or harmful position. At first you may find it difficult to change your mode of sleeping, but a few nights of practice will obliterate all earlier acquired bad habits.

You sleep one-third of your life, so the slides, the limbs extended at full length, and the whole body relaxed.

RAID IN NEW BEDFORD

MEMBER OF CITY COUNCIL THERE FAINTS WHEN POLICE RAID HIS PLACE—WILL BE ARRESTED

NEW BEDFORD, Nov. 9.—Frederick Levalley, a member of the New Bedford city council, collapsed when a squad of deputy sheriffs and constables raided an alleged gambling establishment at 127 Linden street last night and arrested four men on the charge of gambling on the Lord's day.

Levalley was taken to St. Luke's hospital on the advice of physicians called by the raiders, but the police state that he will be arrested on the charge of keeping a gambling establishment as soon as he has recovered sufficiently.

It is said that several young men from the neighboring town of Acushnet have made complaints of losing money at the place, which was raided last night, and which the raiders claim has been conducted by Levalley.

Deputy Sheriffs Walter Spooner and Edward Whalley and Constables John Vincent, Edward Macomber and Chas. A. Gifford obtained a search warrant and descended on the building last night. Levalley fainted, and on the advice of doctors, the others postponed arresting him.

Levalley represents ward 2 in the city council.

BIG CUT IN CREW'S WAGES CAUSES STRIKE THREAT—HOBOKEN POLICE ARE CALLED OUT

NEW YORK, Nov. 9.—Chief of Police Patrick Hayes of Hoboken, with a dozen of uniformed men and a larger number of detectives, spent two hours last night on the Hamburg-American line pier at Hoboken, expecting to be called upon to quell a strike riot on the Vaterland. No riot took place and Chief Hayes withdrew his men.

Chief Hayes expected trouble yesterday morning when the men were ordered to go to work.

The difficulty is because of the effort of the Hamburg-American and North German Lloyd lines to keep their ships idle at the piers because of the war, in good condition and the crews ready for service.

Saturday a wholesale cut in wages of the employees of both lines went into effect. Pay of the single men was reduced 60 per cent and that of the married men 43 per cent. The men held indignation meetings, and officers of the Vaterland notified the police they fear that not only will 200 of the ship's crew of about 900 go on strike, but that they will try to prevent others from working or to damage the ship in some way.

BARGE SINKS; CREW SAVED

CAPT. PHILBROOK AND SEAMAN TONNETTE TAKEN OFF AT ROCKLAND, ME.

ROCKLAND, Me., Nov. 9.—Barge 63, owned by the Coast and Lake Cooperative company, sank near Rockland Breakwater at 3.30 yesterday morning. Her captain, Ansel A. Philbrook, of Vinhaven, and Henry Tonnette, a seaman, narrowly escaped being engulfed with the stone-laden craft.

Their frantic signals were not heard abroad the tug until the hawser had been cast off and the tug had started for the inner harbor.

The barge carried 1200 tons of granite and was bound from Herculane Island for Rockport, Mass. In tow of the Boston tugboat Pullax. Within a few miles of Monhegan yesterday afternoon a heavy sea was encountered and the tug put back to Rockland. The waves frequently swept over the barge, and as she rounded Owls Head yesterday morning seven of her 10 compartments filled.

Capt. Philbrook sounded the whistle repeatedly and both men shouted at the top of their lungs, but the sound of the storm and noise of the tugboat drowned their distress signals. One side of the barge was washed when the anchorage was reached, and Capt. Philbrook was unable to reach his personal effects, which included a considerable sum of money. When the barge had been cast off and the tugboat was headed toward her dock the two men on the sinking barge gave themselves up as lost. There was a brief lull in the storm and the barge while reached the ears of those on the tugboat and that craft came alongside none too soon.

The barge is valued at $10,000 and is not insured. It forms a dangerous obstruction to navigation and has been buoyed until it can be raised or destroyed.

LADY LOOKABOUT

I have just heard this true story from a young lady who owns an automobile and is her own chauffeur. She was returning from a call in a suburban town just at dusk when "Bang" and the machine swerved to one side of the road. No, she was not mistaken for a deer and shot—worse than that. It was a blowout in the right front tire. She repaired it in the nearest farmhouse and called the town garage to fix up the tire so she could get home. It was the first time she had ever gone out without a fifth tire. It was a cold evening and the farmer's wife asked her to sit by the blazing fire-place until the job was finished. The repair man came in his machine. The young lady explained her trouble to him and, having asked him to sound his horn when he was ready to leave, went back to the house. She sat where she could see the worker. After a long time, when darkness had fallen, she saw the other automobile turn about and go back to the garage, leaving her machine lighted for the trip home. She had asked to her hospitable hostess and went out to her machine. She cranked it, jumped in and throwing the nearest into "low," started. The machine gave a violent lurch and jolt, but in a second was going all right. Three autos going in the opposite direction, passed it. Just then, she and it was not until the last one had passed, and the young lady could give her undivided attention to the running of her own machine, that she observed a criminal and pulling to one side. Immediately she decided that the same tire had come bad again, and began to look around for some place to leave the machine for the night, for she knew the folly of running on a flat tire. She had already gone about a quarter of a mile, when she stopped the machine to have a look at the tire. There was no tire "well," and she—at least it seemed like "well." She cranked up her skirts in both hands, and at top speed rushed back to the spot from which she had started. In the dull moonlight she could plainly see that the tire was not in the road. She recalled the lurch and jump with which the car had started. The tire had wrenched off and somebody had picked it up. Rapid mathematical calculation ran through her head: rim, $10; shoe, $25; inner tube, $5; fit out. She redoubled her speed and reached the starting point: no tire. Just ahead of her in the road was a woman and a girl. The woman turned into the adjoining field. In front of her she carried an object which plainly she was trying to conceal. It looked like the tire. "Give me that tire! It is mine! I have just lost it!" breathlessly cried the young woman. In the moonlight she caught the expression of frightened guilt on the woman's face. "Please, ma'am, there are no many here and nobody seems to care for them. I thought I could take a few," she said, as she held out an empty bag and proceeded to fill it from the apples on the ground under a tree. She was helping herself, protected by the darkness. The young woman turned in despair, when her foot struck something lying in the road. It was an auto-jack in two parts. Then it dawned on her: the repair man had taken the tire back to the garage and would soon return. She recalled the lurch with which the machine had started; it was the fall from the jack. She returned to the machine, jacked up the wheel, and settled down in the seat, burning distastefully to herself. "It's a long, long way to Tipperary." Soon she was assailed with the pangs of hunger. She returned to the distant tree and ate three apples, hardly stopping to breathe. The town clock struck six. She had stopped running; she had stopped eating; she was very cold and it was dark. The town clock struck seven. All this time she had not taken her eyes from the road leading from the garage. An auto came down the road. She knew it was the one from the garage, and she sounded her horn again. Then the auto came flying down the road, breaking all speed laws. It came to an abrupt stop beside her. "Have you seen an auto with a tire missing, pass here? By all that's wonderful, how did you get here on three tires?" "Oh, I carried the auto in my handbag," she answered crossly. "I'm cold, and I'm tired and I'm hungry, and I'm sick from eating apples. Don't ever leave anyone on the street, apparently ready for a trip, when you've gone off with a tire. I had to take it back to fix it," he returned; "you don't mean to say you didn't miss the tire until you got down here?" he shouted with laughter. In her haste to get home and away from this person, who already was plying her for helping a woman, she got out and helped adjust the rim, and was soon on the road, the story, as she thought, buried deep in her heart.

Two More States For Suffrage

The national election places two more states on the list of those enjoying full suffrage for women. The eleven states which have granted the privilege of the ballot to their women are Utah, Idaho, Wyoming, Oregon, Colorado, Arizona, California, Washington, Kansas, Montana, and Nevada. To be sure, partial suffrage is granted to women in twenty-two states, one of which is Massachusetts. In these states women are permitted to vote on questions of minor importance, such as the location of a school, the location of a public building, the location of a public park, etc. Here in Massachusetts, many have declared that his womanhood has just sufficient intelligence to ballot for school committee. Evidently they are of the opinion that it does not require much discernment to vote on this question. I regret that the question of public market did not call for an expression of opinion from the women of the city. It might be that men do the marketing for their families, and so the women, poor things, do not know anything about it. Personally, I know of at least one exception to this condition. Now follow me closely. I am about to make a deduction worthy of Cato the Elder—almost. With the exception of the one instance, above noted, ours is an ignorant vote—a very ignorant vote. By the entrance of men, this ignorant vote is given an outlet, a means of expressing itself, by balloting for school committee. Therefore, the natural deduction is that the members of the school board are elected largely by an ignorant electorate. (I have come home with a remark that that explains much. I score the inference.)

Gentlemen of the school board, are you going to stand for this? Now here is the remedy: Rise up, five strong, and refuse to be the only issue on which women may vote, or else insist that they be given the right to vote on whether intoxicating liquors shall be sold, or whether we shall have a public market, and other like weighty questions, apparently of such moment that beside them the personnel of the school board pales into insignificance.

Football
Baseball may be the national game, but football certainly has its followers. (No joke intended.)

One dark evening a short time ago, while passing the old fair grounds, situated on the corner of all sides, a sharp sudden cry of "O-o-o-o-o" smote the air; a flurry and a rush of feet, then cries of "O-o-o-o-o" "O-o-o-o-o" "Get off my face!" "Get off yourself!" "Jingo, will you?" and a heap of humanity hurried itself into the street. "Time" was the word. Probably, fortunately, the members of the "Indian" football team, having themselves and began a search for the ball. I passed on, but I hadn't gone far when again I heard those mystic words, S, E, H, I, and the earth shook as the players in the darkness disappeared in the direction of the railroad tracks.

Father Works All Day

It was during the morning talk in a first primary grade. The subject was "Father," and the idea being developed was that he works each day that he may provide a home, and food, and clothing for his family. The children began to tell where their fathers were employed. Harold said: "My father works on the railroad." William said: "My Uncle Frank works on the railroad, too, and I know Harold's papa. He's an awful funny man. He makes

VIEWS OF FASHIONABLE COSTUMES FROM THE LEADING FASHION CENTRES—ONE-PIECE GOWNS AND CIRCULAR SKIRTS—THE FLARING TUNIC

Never has there been a season of more beautiful fabrics or more beautiful trappings. Velvet and all the imitations of velvet, both the cotton velvet and the wool velours, are exceedingly fashionable. Braid is being extensively used and there are new woods with a satin finish. Every known fur is used as trimming. Not alone do we have all the familiar sorts, squirrel is dyed to give many novel effects and fur plushes are so rich and handsome that they are successfully used in place of the real skins. Soutache braid, both silk and smartness. One of the models shown here shows plaited panels at the sides and that feature is both new and graceful. Another shows a tunic with plaited sides and both these models emphasize the tendency. With the tunics, short coats are correct. With plain skirts, long coats that give a tunic effect will be worn. One of the coats shown here includes the new feature of an extra back that gives a cape effect and the same cape idea reappears in the gown at the extreme right. This latter is made with a

Wool materials are being extensively used in combination with silk and with velvet. Contrasting sleeves make an important feature of prevailing fashions and there will be worn throughout the winter a great many costumes made in what is known as the Moven Age style, which means loose fit over the waist and a sash or girde arranged at the hip line, but there will also be worn garments of snugger fit and deep riddles suggestive of the Empire style, so that in style as well as in material, it is pre-eminently a season of variety.

Undoubtedly the tendency is toward

WHAT THE COOK SAYS

Three little kitchen hints which I thought very good were given me by cook today. She says to sharpen scissors take a bottle and cut with the scissors as if you had to cut the neck off the bottle. This is effective. To sharpen a meat grinder that has become dull, grind a piece of scouring brick through the chopper; this also polishes it. To remove labels from bottles, wet the label with water and hold it over a flame for a second or two. The steam quickly penetrates the label and softens the gum or paste.

Cook has consented to my giving you her favorite recipe for whole wheat bread which is always delicious. Select whole wheat flour. She says, free from outside bran. Pour one pint of boiling water into pint of rich milk. When lukewarm add one compressed yeast cake dissolved in two tablespoonfuls of tepid water and one teaspoonful of salt. Mix and stir in enough whole wheat flour to form a batter that will drop from the spoon. Beat the batter well, cover and stand in a warm place (75 Fahr.) for three hours. Then stir in more flour, enough to make a soft dough. Knead lightly until the greater part of the stickiness is lost. This variety of bread cannot be made dry like the ordinary white bread, so much he handled quickly and lightly on the board.

Mold into loaves, place in well-greased pans, cover and set aside again in a warm place for one hour. Bake in a moderately hot oven 35 or 40 minutes.

Cook has tried grinding her tea-leaves like coffee and declares that the result is excellent, only about half the usual quantity being used. Of course, the tea strainer must be as fine as can be bought.

If a lump of sugar is put into the teapot when making tea it will prevent its spilling the table cover if spilled. To keep the teapot sweet and clean, wipe it out dry after using and put a lump of loaf sugar inside, leaving the lid open.

When using dripping instead of butter for making cakes it should be clarified. All the ingredients, such as raisins or currants, should be mixed with a little dry flour (taken from the quantity allotted to the cake) before being added to the eggs, flour, etc.

Cook says carelessness in putting the batter in the baking pan is responsible many times for poor cake. Care must be taken that the corners are filled and that the batter does not lie thicker in the middle of the pan. A list or bulge in the center of a baked cake is often the result of such carelessness. Smooth the batter lightly with a spoon.

It is very necessary to have special baking pans for different varieties of cakes, such as the angel food pans shown by dealers. The moment the batter has been spread the cake should be put into the oven, as it will lose its lightness if allowed to stand.

Some of the most delicious cakes are ruined while turning them from the pan. If the pan containing the cake is set on a cloth wrung out of warm water and left for a few minutes the cakes will turn out without any trouble.

Cook is a crank on good eggs. When boiled and unbaked eggs get mixed, she says, fry them, and the boiled ones will spin around quite fast, while those which have not been cooked will hardly spin round once.

In cooking a fresh egg give it at least half a minute longer to boil than one which has been laid for several days. To boil an egg for an invalid let it stand in a quart of steaming water in a covered dish away from the fire for eight minutes.

A larger number of eggs require more water and should stand in the water a minute or two longer. Drain off the water and put the eggs in a bowl.

FOR WOMAN AND HOME

SOCIAL GOSSIP
GLEANED FROM THE LATEST MODELS

Extremes are passe. It is no longer smart to wear exaggeratedly narrow skirts, to suit the skirt or to do any of those things that were brought into vogue a season or two ago. This autumn and winter are to see really beautiful costumes taking graceful, becoming lines and made of fabrics that are a delight in texture as well as in color.

Undoubtedly the basque makes the most important departure in indoor garments while the redingote and the cape are the distinctly new offerings for street wear but, as a matter of course, there will be variations without number and the practical suit with its coat of convenient length will take an important place.

It has been said that every fashionable skirt shows plaits or tunic or flounces and, to some extent, the statement is true. Almost every variation of the long tunic is seen and, with the basques, flounced and plaited skirts seen the real requirements. For the comfort of womanhood it is said that thus far there is no indication of the basque's being tight-fitted or of compressing the figure at the waistline. The garment retains the semi-fitted idea and the straight lines that have become so generally well liked, but of necessity there are close-fitting plain sleeves.

We have had open necks to the point of exaggeration. As might have been foretold, there has been reaction in that direction as well as in others and, while thus far there is no indication of the "debaker" effect, variations of this idea of the high collar at the back with the more or less open front mark a great many of the newest and most interesting models designed for street wear. Within doors, we are likely to retain the comfort of the V-shaped opening to which we have grown so attached. Almost every fashion of the season may in a sense be said to be a revival, for unquestionably designers are looking backward, but since revivals are never replicas, they are practically new and are undoubtedly replete with interest. The redingote is extremely graceful and becoming and the cape can be worn with consummate charm. The tunic has an unquestioned dignity. Altogether the general tendencies are admirable.

When we come to consider materials, we are met with such an array of beauty that it is a little difficult to know where description should begin. Color is rich and handsome without being glaring, blues, browns and conservative colors being favorites. Gabardine and serge are to retain all their favor for useful suits but there are new ones. There are stripes in wool velours, some in the same, some in contrasting colors that have all the qualities of real velours and that are extremely beautiful when used with discretion. They combine perfectly with plain materials and some of the color effects are rich and handsome beyond dispute. Wool velours and duvelins have been made in lighter weights, too, and there are wonderful mixtures of colors that give quite the effect of brocade. Velvet is to be a pronounced favorite. It will be used for entire costumes and it will be used in combination with wool and with silk. Silk is to be much used for street costumes and for indoor gowns. For suits, there are wonderful, beautiful moires, bengalines and poplins with some entirely new effects that seem to combine them all, such as crepe moire bengaline, which is just what its name suggests. Taffeta is expected to hold its own for gowns but there will be a great deal of soft satin used and, in addition to charmeuse, there is a new fabric that has all the soft, beautiful quality and at the same time, a somewhat brighter surface.

Never has lace had greater vogue. We are to wear lace flounces, lace tunics, lace bodices and lace put to every known use. Chantilly, which is always especially beautiful in flounces, is in the height of style both in black and in white but we shall see a great many milaines, a great deal of Alencon and a revival of the Breton lace that are always so pretty and attractive. Flounced skirts with basque bodices make exceedingly smart and exceedingly attractive costumes and one of the notable fancies of the season is found in a skirt of lace flouncing over a satin foundation with a basque of velvet and sash of velvet ribbon covering its lower edge.

It is even rumored that cashmere will be worn again for indoor gowns and every lover of the beautiful will be glad if the rumor is to be verified. Cashmere is a beautiful fabric that takes graceful lines and folds and seems especially adapted to prevailing fashions. If the powers that be utilize it to the extent that seems promised, it will add another to the already long list of desirable materials.

The Polonaise model and the Moyaen Age effect both are to be met. A very costume at Piping Rock has been an extremely interesting one, replete with suggestions for cold weather needs. October is almost universally a mild month and it can hardly be said that fur is needed but fur in fashionable and fur-trimmed costumes have been many. Long coats have been much in evidence and there has been a genuine interest displayed although, not infrequently, outer wraps were removed in order really to enjoy the sport. Long coats and short coats are equally favored but whatever else the costume lacks, somewhere and somehow there is found a generous flare and ripple effect. Whether or not the designers have combined with the manufacturers to bring about a greater use of materials the fact remains and full skirts, plaited skirts, circular skirts and gathered skirts all are to be worn. Circular flounces are worn and we are rapidly growing away from the straight slender silhouette that has become so familiar.

We have always known that the military influence was sure to make itself felt in many ways. Just now for the early season at least, it is more evident than in any other way. An exceedingly handsome costume of blue gabardine combined with black taffeta is made with close-fitting bodice that is embroidered with gold braid in a manner suggestive of Brandenburg. A very beautiful plain colored chiffon velvet shows gold embroidery on the bodice and again on the sash ends and the gold that is suggestive of the military costumes is constantly appearing in new and interesting ways.

The long tunic is extremely smart but it must flare. Whether it is circular, whether it has plaited panels, or whether it is gathered may be a matter of choice but one way or another, it must be made to stand away from the figure at the lower edge. Most of the skirts worn beneath are straight and narrow but there is a tendency toward increasing width even there and some of the new models are showing skirts with an inverted plait at each side seam while now and again one sees a circular skirt, somewhat scantily cut beneath a flaring tunic. But always there must be the contrast between the tunic and the under skirt to get the smart effect. It is in the one-piece gowns and the skirts without tunics that the flare about the feet is found and they unquestionably are gaining in favor but, even while making that statement, one is confronted with a number of new models designed for evening occasions, afternoon wear and even for the street that show the fancy skirt with closer effect; consequently, it seems safe only to state that we are undergoing a transition stage and a great many styles will be worn.

An interesting, and perhaps somewhat extreme, example of the circular skirt is found in a Drexell model of navy blue serge trimmed with black silk braid and bands of astrachan fur. The skirt is a plain circular one falling in ripples about the feet. It is edged with a wide band of astrachan and there are five rows of braid arranged over it but these bands are so arranged as to leave wide spaces between the lowest and the astrachan edge and a plain space above. The braid is wide and the five bands are spread out over the center. The coat is short, terminating a few inches below the waist line. It ripples very generously over the hips and is finished with a band of the fur. There are long close-fitting sleeves trimmed with fur bands and three rows of braid and there is an astrachan collar. Just a few months ago, we should have thought the costume extremely old-fashioned but today it represents the very latest cry.

Some of the so-called one-piece dresses are some of them made in the very long tunic style, only one inch or two of the under skirt showing but, in the newest forms, they are quite simple gowns of the princess order but loosely cut, falling in straight lines over the waist and hips, with skirts that flare freely about the feet and with sashes arranged at the hip line. Both a suggestion of the Moyaen Age style.

We are drawing from many sources. We see all sorts of combinations. Dressmakers do not hesitate to put the styles of different periods together in a way to make something distinctly their own and, not infrequently, we hear the various periods woefully mis-called. A very wonderful costume, for example, that is made of blue and gold brocade and is rich and elaborately trimmed with jet is exploited under the name of medieval, whereas it is very distinctly Empire in cut and style, and one not infrequently comes in contact with an error of a similar sort which, while not important, are in themselves misleading. For evening wear, no costume ever designed is more beautiful than the Empire and the costume referred to is especially beautiful in fact that it is indeed a pity that it should be mis-called. The real medieval costume is cut on the simplest possible lines and graded over the hip line. For occasions of elaborate dress, it is often entirely in material and is richly embroidered while, for every day needs, it may be made of the simplest serge but essentially the lines are the same.

A beautiful costume exploited at an opening of today consists of a gown of soft creamy Lierre lace, the skirt of which is finished with a deep flounce and which is made with long, close-fitting sleeves. Over this gown is a medieval style rose-colored velvet, sleeveless and absolutely plain in cut but embroidered on its edges with gold thread and held by a gold girdle over the hips. The Moyaen Age gown as related to every day occasions is often a very simple garment, made in the one-piece style referred to above. One of the prettiest costumes showing a suggestion of the idea combines the characteristic cuirass-like bodice with a very full gathered skirt and clever dressmakers are doing many things of a similar sort. This particular costume is made with a bodice of crystal beaded net while the skirt is of soft shell-pink satin and is banded with velvet ribbon. Historically the skirt and bodice are ages apart but considered as a costume without regard to its suggestion, it is very charming and attractive both in color and design.

THREE MODELS OF SMART FROCKS
FOR GIRLS SHOWING TYPICAL STYLES

Present fashions seem especially designed for the younger contingent. They are especially becoming to girlish figures and they are essentially youthful in effect. Here are three frocks essentially different and each one charming. In two instances, tunics are used, but they are tunics of distinctly different sorts, and the third dress with accordion plaited skirt and full basque is entirely unlike the other two. Any season that provides such variety is an interesting one. Materials too are wonderfully beautiful. While we are wearing a great deal of silk, we are also wearing a great deal of wool, and wool fabrics are light and thin and pliable. Velvets and satins are extensively used as trimmings. While enough vivid color is used to give picturesque effect to the season, quiet tones such as brown, beige, dark blue, putty color and the like are much in vogue. Some of the new silks are really fascinating in texture. All the poplin weaves are smart, crepes are shown both in dull and in satin finish, and such materials as fine serge, gabardine and broadcloth are liked for simple frocks as well as for street costumes.

COATS FOR THE AUTUMN WITH
TUNIC EFFECTS ARE IN STYLE

Coats of the autumn are always a subject of interest, this year perhaps especially so since they are radically new in line and eminently attractive. The costume to the left shows one of the new tunic effects over a plain two-piece skirt. The coat gives the low waist-line, suggesting the Moyaen Age idea, and can be made just as illustrated or shorter as indicated in the back view. The girl's coat with the flaring ruffia is a particularly graceful and pretty one since it is made in the Japanese style with sleeves and body in one. The fur cape and fur muff make exceedingly interesting as well as comfortable accessories while each one is easy of construction.

Over 6000 women in New York are employed as tailresses. Canada has an active rifle association composed of women. Only five per cent of the women in India can read and write. French milliners are paid from three to seven cents an hour. Miss Mattie Story has been appointed postmistress at Bokchito, Okla. Four women in Babylon, L. I., have taken out licenses to shoot game. Chicago has over 15,000 women dressmakers and nearly 6,000 milliners. Scientists claim that a woman's brain acts quicker than that of a man. Unemployment is more prevalent

Many girls find it rather difficult to make their own egg shampoo but if they will follow directions given below by Hortense they will find it very simple.

Take the yolk of one egg, hot rain water, one pint; and one ounce of rosemary spirits. Beat the mixture thoroughly and rub it well into the roots of the hair. Rinse in several waters or use a bath spray which greatly simplifies the work.

It is well to moisten the hair with warm water, before the shampoo is applied; this makes the work easier and the egg will not stick to the hair.

When I returned from the mountains I was horribly sun burned and Hortense made a wonderful paste which has removed every trace of it. Ground barley, three ounces; honey, one ounce, and white of an egg. Apply in mask fashion to cheeks or cotton, or simply spread it on thickly and cover with a piece of old linen.

You will find that this paste will also act as a general beautifier, softening, whitening and freshening the complexion. A few drops of tincture of myrrh makes a pleasant mouth wash. Hortense also tells me.

A great many girls complain that their finger nails have no crescents. Hortense says that if fingers have been properly cared for, this failing is beyond understanding.

Very often the practice of biting the nails does away with the crescent. That is to say, the crescent stubbornly refuses to make its appearance. Try pushing down the cuticle with an orange stick after rubbing the nails with cold cream.

You will find that rubbing cold cream into the nails every night will greatly benefit them. Use a flesh brush.

Hortense declares that the new fashions are responsible for the necks being neglected, and for the chamois, brown neck one must use regularly. The following lotion: Boracic acid, one drachm; distilled witch hazel, two ounces; rose water, two ounces.

Exercise the throat night and morning until it becomes moist with perspiration, rub with a moist cloth dipped in warm water and apply the lotion with antiseptic gauze. After a week of this treatment you will see a marked improvement in the color of your neck.

Hortense gave me my eyebrows a few treatments many months ago and they have looked splendid ever since. I am passing it on to those afflicted, for pale, sparse eyebrows and lashes make a face expressionless.

They can be coaxed into a better growth by rubbing the eyebrows nightly with vasoline and applying the roots of both the eyebrows and lashes a tonic made by mixing five grains of sulphate of quinine with one ounce of sweet almond oil.

Apply this with a fine sable brush, which comes for the purpose.

Hortense gave me two lotion recipes for an oily skin. They are both good and will cure the affliction in three months.

Purified borax, one ounce; pure glycerine, two ounces; camphor water (not spirits of camphor) two quarts. The skin should be bathed with this lotion two or three times a day.

Rose water, six ounces; elder-flower, two ounces; simple tincture of benzoin, half ounce; tannic acid, ten grains. Apply nightly after washing the face in hot water.

BABY SAVING SUNDAY

BOSTON, Nov. 9.—Many physicians occupied pulpits in churches here yesterday taking infant mortality and its prevention as their subject.

The day was designated as "Baby-saving Sunday" in connection with the arrangements for the fifth annual meeting of the American Association for the Study and Prevention of Infant Mortality, which will be held here this week.

Dr. John Lovett Morse, Dr. Henry Bowditch and Dr. James S. Huntington were among the speakers. Dr. Morse said that 35 per cent of all infantile deaths occur among the bottle-fed babies.

REV. EDWARD CUMMINGS CATHOLIC CHURCH NEWS MAN MURDERED LOWELL HIGH LOST THREE PRIZES AWARDED

Address at Grace Church in Forum Series—Appeal for Unity—Indian Missionary Here

Rev. Edward Cummings, successor to the famous Dr. Edward Everett Hale, was the speaker at the Grace church last evening, and he proved one of the most interesting in the Forum series. His subject was "The Fundamental Social Relationship," and he touched on many phases of philosophy with an illuminating subtlety. His sermon was a plea for the higher patriotism which is greater than the mere patriotism of individual nations; it is a recognition of the brotherhood of man, in the wider family spirit. A recognition of the basic social relationships would solve all national and international problems.

In trying to solve the great industrial problem, he said, instead of talking about the rank and file of labor, the capitalists of industry and the Napoleons of finance—instead of using the military terms, we must realize that the fundamental law of business is the life of the family—a great industrial family, in which there is co-operation, division of labor, and above all, that rational devotion of the strong for the weak, which is characteristic of the family. The normal type of industrial organization is an industrial family.

In social philosophy and evolution, it is the same story. The old philosophy of social evolution is almost as dead as is the old philosophy of political economy. The doctrine of survival of the fittest is the sacrifice of the weak. It is all wrong. It is responsible for the hell upon earth which Christian nations are suffering human life. Because the nations do not realize that national life is only a step toward organizing the great divine family, nations are making hell where they ought to be making the kingdom of heaven.

Appeal for Unity
Speaking to a large gathering at the First Universalist church last evening, Rev. Caleb E. Fisher declared that it has become necessary for the churches to provide some unusual attractions to offset the many attractions from without, especially the many theatres that are once Sunday night. "That is the reason," he said, "which prompts me in arranging for a series of special programs of sacred music in this church. I believe that such music is an effective feature of church work."

The special music was rendered by the Luc Weber male quartet of Boston, which gave many sacred selections, the most notable being an inspiring arrangement of "Lead Kindly Light." Dr. Fisher spoke on the necessity for church unity, saying that all Protestant churches should strive to eliminate discord and to co-operate for the common end. Following is his sermon, in part:

"The Roman Catholic church teaches a lesson, with respect to unity, for it is a unity. We Protestants of several denominations have been quarreling with each other more or less in recent years, and it is true that we throw aside technical differences and come together in a spirit of oneness. The Protestant church will never come into its own until a harmonious relationship prevails all along the line. I believe that recent years have tended to produce a closer relationship among the different denominations, and it is to be hoped that de-

Rev. John J. Shaw was the celebrant at the parish mass at St. Michael's church yesterday and Rev. Fr. Murphy delivered the sermon, taking for his text: "The Need of Practical Religion," and as a sequel he spoke on the "Itchy Name." The congregation was exceptionally large and a special choir augmented for the occasion rendered the music for the mass.

At the 8 o'clock mass the Holy Name society attended holy communion in a body, and it was a most inspiring sight to see such a large attendance of members marching to the church and to the altar railing. Rev. Fr. Murphy was the speaker of the occasion, and he took for his theme, "Purgatory." In conclusion he spoke on the good work accomplished by the Holy Name societies all over the world and urged the members to go out and spread the good work. A choir, composed wholly of members of the society, under the direction of Mr. Martin Cording, sang the hymns at the mass, the hymn to the Holy Name being particularly impressive. Mr. Joseph Johnson presided at the organ.

Holy Name Society
Last evening the Holy Name society held its regular monthly meeting and as usual it was largely attended. President Charles H. McCarthy presided, and addressed the members, telling them of the work done by the society the past year and congratulating them on the large list of new members recently brought in. The entertainment committee reported that arrangements were completed for the smoke talk to be held at the Guild hall, Thursday evening, November 12. A very enjoyable time is promised all those who will attend, and as a special feature the players are assured of plenty of excitement. Thomas F. Garvey and Timothy J. O'Neill, who claim the championship of West W. McKenna and Joseph Johnson, who also claim to know a little something about the game and under challenge has been accepted. A spirited contest is sure to develop. Mr. Mullin delivered a short address and remarks were heard on the good of the society by several of the members which proved both interesting and instructive.

Immaculate Conception Church
At the 10 o'clock mass Rev. Fr. O'Brien preached a very forcible and convincing sermon on death, taking a text from the gospel of the day.

Rev. D. A. Sullivan, O. M. I., preached the sermon at the 11 o'clock mass at the Immaculate Conception church yesterday and Rev. Owen McQuaid was the celebrant.

Last evening the Holy Name society met in the basement of the church before vespers with President Joseph A. Preston in the chair. Considerable business of importance was transacted and interesting reports of committees were accepted as read. Plans for the entertainment of the members during the winter months were arranged and several of the members spoke on the society.

The Society of Propagation of the Faith held a meeting last night and business of much importance was transacted.

On next Tuesday evening a meeting of the Immaculate Conception society will be held and President Mary Sullivan will have some very interesting news for the members.

Sacred Heart Church
The monthly communion Sunday of the Holy Name society at the Sacred Heart church brought out a very large gathering of members, all of whom received Holy Communion in a body at the 7:30 o'clock mass. Rev. T. Wade Smith, O. M. I., sung the mass and he was assisted in distributing communion by Rev. Fr. Fletcher, O. M. I.

Rev. Robert McCoy, O. M. I., sung high mass at 11 o'clock and Rev. Fr. Fletcher, O. M. I., gave the sermon. The Holy Name society will hold a social and entertainment in the school hall next Thursday evening and indications point to its being a grand success.

An entertainment will be given by the young people of the parish in the school hall Thanksgiving eve, and a large number of tickets are already sold, for the affair which gives promise of being very enjoyable.

St. Margaret's Church
High mass at St. Margaret's church yesterday was sung by Rev. Fr. Hildan, who also gave a thoughtful and impressive discourse on the prevalent sin of "Detraction," the speaker characterizing it as a three fold sin, against God, against society and against the individual. He explained in a most comprehensive manner the difference between detraction and calumny, the former having the element of truth and the latter of falsehood and he emphasized the fact that even if faults exposed exist the truth does not exonerate the person guilty of the derogatory statements.

Elaborate plans are being made for the annual parish reunion which is to be held in Associate hall on the evening of December 2 and the affair promises to eclipse all previous parochial events of a similar nature. It will take the form of a costume party with suitable prizes for the most beautiful and most grotesque costumes. The children's entertainment in connection with the reunion will be omitted this year but later on an entertainment for the children will be held.

A meeting of St. Elizabeth's Guild was held at the Orphanage yesterday afternoon at which the ladies of the guild discussed plans for the coming winter months. The fact that the orphanage has removed from its downtown quarters to a suburban location has caused the ladies to be inclined to forget its existence and the noble work. Donations of money, food or clothing, however modest, will be gratefully received at all times and will be put to good use. The orphanage depends entirely upon charity and is caring for a large number of children.

slipped into Lawrence to pay a farewell to the alleged wife No. 2, at 275 Lowell street, Lawrence, before starting for the front in France or Belgium.

His wife is "Madame Donald Cameron, First-class Dressmaker," according to a sign over her door. She was Mrs. Arthur H. Richards, wife of a Lawrence man and convicted "white slaver," according to her testimony before a United States court in this city, and she is generally known as Amelia or Melina Boudreau.

Cameron disappeared from his home in Boston Oct. 1. On the appeal of his wife and children here, Special Officer Frank V. Sullivan of the Hoxbury Crossing station was assigned to the case, and trailed him to the home of the Boudreau woman in Lawrence. But Cameron with a reputation as a fighter, acquired in the Boer war, had gone to Canada to enlist.

Accompanied by Officers McDonald and Dwyer, these two tried to enter the Cameron, or Boudreau, home, and after a time were admitted. A search finally revealed Cameron under a bed so low that it had to be lifted off his ginsling frame—he is six feet two inches and weighs 210 pounds—before he could be got out.
